Pay-Off Inquiry.

The chief prosecution witness in a morals case in 1952 against Mrs. June Alma Litz, brothel operator later murdered, told the Post-Dispatch today he was asked only one question before former Police Judge James H. Connor dismissed the charge.

Circumstances surrounding the dismissal are under investigation by Circuit Attorney Edward L. Dowd.

Record books kept by Mrs. Litz have been obtained by Dowd as evidence in an intensive inquiry being made by his office and the circuit court grand jury into alleged pay-offs to policemen.

The chief witness in the morals case, a grocer, said he was prepared to testify concerning all details of his visit to June's Massage Parlor, an establishment operated by Mrs. Litz at 308A North Theresa avenue.

Quotes Question.

On taking the stand, he was asked by an assistant city counselor if "anything had gone on" at the establishment.

The witness recalled he said, "No," intending to explain that he had been in the massage parlor only a short time before Police Capt. James E. Chapman, now chief of detectives, made a raid.

To the surprise of the witness, Judge Connor abruptly ordered the case dismissed. The man was not allowed to tell of arrangements made with Mrs. Litz or an employee, Pauline Cloin, on the day of the raid or to describe his previous visits to the establishment.

Chapman's protests against the dismissal were unavailing. He pointed out in court that he had a signed statement from the witness, who expressed willingness to co-operate in the prosecution.

Connor, now a practicing attorney, had represented Mrs. Litz in divorce proceedings less than a month before she appeared in his police court as a defendant.

He said he had no recollection of the morals case and declared he would have transferred it to another court had he recognized the defendant as a former client.

17-Year-Old Girl Subpoenaed.

In another step in the pay-off inquiry, Dowd's office has subpoenaed as a grand jury witness a 17-year-old girl who worked for Samuel H. Schwartz, convicted Mann Act violator, at the Grant Hotel, 4053 Olive street.

Dowd said he also plans to bring Schwartz before the grand jury to determine if any payments were made to police to permit him to operate without interference.

Schwartz pleaded guilty March 31 to three felony charges—two of receiving the earnings of a prostitute and one of permitting a girl under 18 years of age to remain in a bawdy house—but he has not been sentenced. Circuit Judge James F. Nangle today postponed for the third time the sentencing of Schwartz.

The girl told authorities she earned $8000 working for Schwartz in the eight months prior to last June. She said he took all her money.

Judge Nangle first gave Schwartz until April 29 to arrange his affairs. On that date, the defendant's attorney informed the court his client had suffered a heart attack only two days previously. Judge Nangle HAMTRAMCK, Mich., June 10 (AP)—Foul balls from the memorial park sandlot next to his home have bruised his wife, killed his dog, shattered his windows and his nerves, Dennis A. Shaddo told the Hamtramck City Council yesterday.

Appearing with 42 baseballs and softballs in his arms representing a two-week backyard harvest, he told councilmen of the climax. He and his wife were dining when a ball crashed through the window. It landed in a dish and splashed them both with food.

The council ordered the recreation department to build a higher fence or a better backstop.

EISENHOWER SEEKS
$1,000,000 TO PAY
FOR BIG 4 PARLEYS

WASHINGTON, June 10 (UP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to appropriate $1,000,000 to pay the cost of the proposed Big Four conference and further foreign ministers' meetings.

The $1,000,000 would be for travel, hotel, and other expenses of those attending the heads-of-state and foreign ministers meetings.

Mr. Eisenhower also asked for $1,036,000 for the State Department to pay for greatly increased communications and passport activities.

The Big Four meeting has been proposed for Geneva starting July 18.

ARMY TO GIVE RESERVISTS
ASSIGNMENTS FOR M-DAY

WASHINGTON, June 10 (UP)—The Army will send letters to 480,000 reserve officers and men starting July 1, telling them what their assignments would be in the event of war.

The action applies to officers and enlisted men released from active duty but having an obligation to serve eight years of combined active and reserve duty.

Letters will go only to former active duty men who are not participating in reserve units. They will get no peace-time training but would fill up National Guard organized reserve and active Army units on M-day. The assignments are for three-year periods.

2 SCHOOLS PLAN
CITY-COUNTY
MERGER STUDY

St. Louis and Washington Universities May Seek $150,000 for Project.

St. Louis and Washington Universities are considering a joint study of all the problems that would be involved in a merger of St. Louis and St. Louis County or in development of some other form of governmental co-operation, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

An application for a $150,000 grant to finance the study may be made soon to one of the big charitable foundations.

The study would be directed by the political science departments of the two schools, utilizing sociologists and economists as well as government experts.

Taxation, law enforcement, legislation and other problems involved in co-ordinating city-county services would be analyzed, and recommendations in each category would be drafted.

The study would take about two years, and the findings would be available to a board of freeholders if such a group were set up to draft a merger plan for presentation to the voters.

Some advocates of metropolitan integration fear that without such a preliminary study a board of freeholders might work for a year and then come up with a vague plan calling for a survey. They believe that one of the reasons the proposal for establishment of a metropolitan transit district failed to carry last January was that it called for a survey of transportation needs instead of offering a definite transit plan to the voters.

Freeholders setting out to formulate a plan of government co-ordination would find their task greatly simplified if they had at their disposal all the data that would be assembled by the universities.

An outline of the projected study—its aims, methods and costs—is being prepared by Prof. Paul Steinbicker and Henry Schmidt of St. Louis University and Thomas H. Eliot and Carl A. McCandless of Washington University.

This will be turned over to the administrative heads of the schools. The final decision as Funds Lacking to Pay for Comprehensive Survey—State Board Asked to Supply Percentage for Increase.

Supervisor Luman F. Matthews said today the plan for a comprehensive revaluation of all St. Louis county real estate will be abandoned and a blanket increase in tax assessments will have to be put into effect this year.

Reason for the change in plan, he said, was the cost of such a revaluation study. Bids on the job from six appraisal firms have ranged from $498,000 to $1,119,000 and the county has no funds available this year for that purpose, he asserted.

Earlier this year, in its campaign to raise all real estate assessments in the state to 30 per cent of true value, the State Tax Commission advised St. Louis county it would have to raise its assessed valuation by 60 per cent on urban property and 85 per cent on rural land.

Asks Board for Percentage.

Matthews has written a letter to James M. Robertson, chairman of the State Tax Commission, asking to be advised at the earliest opportunity "the exact percentage of increase that is to be applied to the assessments of real estate in St. Louis county so that we may make such a survey and adequate preparation for our course of action at the earliest possible time."

In his letter, Matthews referred to a telephone conversation he held with Robertson yesterday in which Matthews said he had gained the impression the Commission would order a single uniform increase on all types of property. He asked to be advised of the rate, which is usually made known between June 20 and July 11.

Matthews said he had suggested the uniform rate of increase on both urban and rural real estate because the rapid urban development of the county had left very little rural property on the tax rolls. He said Robertson had indicated there was merit in the suggestion and that it would be given consideration.

In deciding on the blanket increase, Matthews said he was aware that such a step would add to the inequities that exist in present assessments but that there was no opportunity to eliminate those inequities before applying the increase.

Some Really Increase.

He emphasized that the tax rate must be reduced proportionately after the increase has been applied, in order that the general revenue will be raised.

However, because real estate forms only a part, although a very large part, of the tax base, there will be some increase in the real estate tax.

Matthews said there was only $20,000 in the county's emergency fund at this time and even with additional funds that may become available after Nov. 1 as the result of transferring unspent balances from one office to another, this would not be enough money to pay for the revaluation that is urgently needed, he said.

"I see no prospect in the immediate future of our having the additional amount of money required," he said. "This action will not cure our ills but it will be a start," he added.

Cost of placing a blanket increase on the assessment rolls was estimated at $5000 by Matthews. Asked what would happen if many protests are received, he said that would have to be left to the Board of Equalization. The basic problem of inequity in the assessments would be handled by the Assessor's office over a period of years, he said.

The special committee of the County Council appointed to deal with the question of reassessment has been consulted on the step taken today, Matthews said.

RED PRESS CHANGE: 'PUPPET' IS NOW 'MR. ADENAUER'

BERLIN, June 10 (UP)—Chancellor Adenauer, who for years has been known to the Communist press only as "Imperialist lackey," "warmonger" or "puppet," abruptly became "Mr. Adenauer" today.

The Soviet organ Taegliche Rundschau, reacting promptly to Russia's attempt to court the German leader, called him "Mr. K. Adenauer, chancellor of the federal republic." Other Red papers dubbed him "Mr. Federal Chancellor."

It Refuses to OK Funds for Power Line to Controversial Plant—Recommends Money for Rival TVA Facility.

By RICHARD DUDMAN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 10—The House Appropriations Committee, in a sharp rebuff to the Eisenhower Administration, approved today a start on a new Tennessee Valley Authority steam plant at Fulton, Tenn.

The committee reported favorably an appropriation of $6,500,000 for the Fulton plant. At the same time, it withheld a like amount which the Administration had asked for transmission lines to connect with the controversial Dixon-Yates power plant.

By a vote of 23 to 19, the committee voted down a motion by Representative John Phillips (Rep., Calif.) to knock out the Fulton plant funds. It was reported by Representative Joe L. Evins (Dem., Tenn.).

Evins called the action today "a splendid victory" for supporters of TVA. He said he was "very optimistic" that the committee's report would be upheld by the House.

The committee's report, which is expected to take up the appropriation bill next week.

Total Appropriation Cut.
The committee approved a total appropriation of $26,214,000 for TVA for the fiscal year starting July 1. Of that amount, the report earmarked $6,500,000 for the new TVA plant.

The recommended appropriation is $1,336,000 less than the $7,836,000 asked for in the 1956 budget, which cut TVA down 77 per cent from the $120,000,000 appropriated for the current fiscal year.

In its report today, the Appropriations Committee upheld action taken Tuesday by its Public Works subcommittee.

Transfer of the $6,500,000 from the Dixon-Yates project to the Fulton plant was suggested last March by two of the three TPA directors, Harry A. Curtis and Raymond R. Paty.

TVA Chairman Herbert D. Vogel, the only Eisenhower appointee on the agency's board, objected vigorously to the proposal, which he called "premature and presumptuous."

President Eisenhower directed negotiation of the Dixon-Yates contract as an alternative to the Fulton plant, which would require $90,000,000 in appropriations over a three-year period. Under the Dixon-Yates scheme, a $107,250,000 plant at West Memphis, Ark., is to be privately financed, with the debt paid off by the Government in its power bills over the 25-year life of the contract.

The Appropriations committee also upheld the subcommittee's move knocking out $100,000 sought by Vogel for a "management staff" which would report to him. Committee Chairman Clarence Cannon (Dem., Missouri), charged in hearings that this was part of an effort by Vogel to set up a dictatorship in the TVA with himself in control.

Curtis and Paty, in their letter proposing the transfer of the $6,500,000 to the Fulton plant, told Budget Director Rowland Hughes that this action would permit cancellation of the Dixon-Yates contract.

Total Appropriations.
By the Associated Press.

Altogether, the committee approved appropriations totaling $1,276,216,262 to finance Government power agencies, reclamation projects, rivers and harbors works and flood control.

The committee gave a new lease of life to controversial contracts between the Southwestern Power Administration and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

REVENUE SERVICE TO DROP COLORED
STRIPE ON RETURN

WASHINGTON, June 10 (UP)—The tell-tale colored stripes which decorated United States income tax return envelopes this year will not be repeated in the future.

The stripes—red, yellow, green and blue—were a device to help the Internal Revenue Service in packaging the $8,000,000 tax forms it mailed to taxpayers in advance of this year's tax payment deadline.

Use the stripes set off a storm of protest, because they gave a clue to a taxpayer's income. No decision has been made on next year's markings, but tax officials say it is a safe bet they will be less obvious than the stripes and possibly invisible to any but the most prying eye.

This year's stripes told only whether a taxpayer's reported income for 1954 was more or less than $10,000—red for blue and yellow for more. The blue and green stripes identified a taxpayer's general profession—blue for business man and green for farmers.

BULGANIN PUTS RUSSIA

FORMOSA SETTLEMENTGERMAN UPPER HOUSE REJECTS BILL ON ARMY

Action Threatens to Wreck Adenauer's Plan for Rapid Recruiting of Volunteers.

BONN, June 10 (AP)—The Bundesrat (upper house) today spurned a bill for recruiting volunteers to serve in the German army. It sent the bill back to the Government with a demand for clarification of policy on rearmament legislation and the legal basis for it.

The action threatened to wreck the Adenauer cabinet's plan for getting German soldiers quickly into uniform. The Bundesrat declined to take a stand on the measure because, members said, it was "unclear on a number of basic questions" connected with putting Germans into uniform.

The action was unanimous, despite the fact the Adenauer government has a two-thirds majority in the Bundesrat.

The 250-word bill provides for giving the first volunteers for the German forces the status of civil servants. The government intended it should eventually be replaced by permanent regulations laying down conditions of service for future soldiers.

The government aim was to push through temporary legislation that would authorize the call-up of the first 10,000 volunteers to begin training this autumn. Permanent legislation consists of some 20 complicated laws and will take months to get through Parliament. The upper house was apparently angered by the government's tactics in trying to short-cut normal legislative processes.

A resolution of the Bundesrat Security Committee, saying the chamber could not take an immediate stand because it had not been possible to clarify a number of questions, was passed unanimously.

This does not kill the bill but will make it difficult for the government in the Bundesrat—or lower house, Adenauer had expressed hope the bill would become law before the Bundestag adjourns for the summer recess in mid-July.

The resolution said the Bundesrat agreed that the Paris rearmament treaties must be put into effect without delay but drew the attention of the government to these points:

1. The bill deals with only part of the problem without clarifying the way rearmament as a whole was to be legalized.

2. The reactivation of German forces must follow the legal and democratic principles of the federal republic.

3. Parliamentary control over the armed forces must be secured.

Members from the Socialist-led State of Hesse cast that state's four votes against the paragraph of the resolution supporting quick implementation of the Paris treaties. Otherwise they supported the criticism of the bill.

The upper house consists of ministers from the nine state governments.

PAYMENT TOO BIG FOR HER TO BEAR

ASHLAND, Ky., June 10 (UP)—Mrs. Carole Thompson had a bear by the tail yesterday but was more than anxious to let it go—the bear that is.

Mrs. Thompson, who with her husband operates Tri-State Mobile Homes, gave a salesman permission to take a bear as part of a down payment on a trailer while her husband was away at a convention.

The animal turned out to be a 318-pound dancing, wrestling and boxing bear. "I thought it was a baby bear," Mrs. Thompson wailed. "My husband told me by phone to get rid of it somehow before he comes home from Michigan Friday."

She tried the Cincinnati zoo, but officials there declined with thanks, as did a butcher friend. The bear now is chained to a shack across the Ohio river at Chesapeake, O., where its former owner lived.

He has driven off in his new trailer.

ARMY BLANK FORMS

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—It takes 106 pages of fine print just to compile the Army's "Index of Blank Forms."

The pamphlet, issued over the signature of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Chief of Staff, was put into distribution today.

Form No. 622 on "Meat Cattle Test."
Form No. 209 on "Delay and Referral Notice" (probably a regular number in the Army).

Form No. 225 on "Master Record of Long-Life items in use."
Or 47 different forms of "Army Shipping Document," plus two forms for envelopes into which the shipping documents may be put.

There also is Form No. 10-27, dealing with "Horse (Mule) Record Card."

BRITON'S VIEW OF U.S.: Easy Credit, Big Spending, Playing the Market

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—Englishmen who frequently wonder what it's really like in the United States received this answer today:

It is a mad world of easy credit, lavish spending and market speculation, where every day is Saturday night with the fleet in and pockets loaded.

That was the word picture brought back by Bill McGowan, columnist for the Evening News.

He has made frequent trips to the United States for the paper and recently attended the Marciano-Cockell heavyweight championship bout in San Francisco.

"I am assured that the average citizen is now spending 10 per cent more than he earns each year," McGowan wrote.

"Cars are so easy to buy and almost throw them at you. Credit is easy to obtain."

PRESIDENT SIGNS
BILL INCREASING
POSTAL SALARIES

Calls It 'Greatest Forward Step in More Than Century'—Pay Up 8 Pct.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower signed into law today the bill raising salaries of the 500,000 postal workers an average 8 per cent—an increase of about $164,000,000 a year.

He called it the "greatest forward step for our postal employees in more than a century."

The bill was the third postal pay hike measure sent to the President in 10 months. He vetoed the other two.

The measure which he approved today, however, meets the main requirement which he and Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield laid down. It contains broad authority to reshuffle postal jobs with a view to removing inequities and promoting efficiency.

The bill gives all postal employees a 6 per cent increase retroactive to March 1. This will mean distribution of a $40,000,000 nest egg as soon as the department can arrange the payments.

The additional 2 per cent of increase comes about through the reclassification features of the measure. These will take effect six months from today.

The reclassification will mean much higher increases than 8 per cent for some supervisory employees. The department contends these have been slighted in salary raises since World War II.

The President approved the compromise legislation just before entering a morning cabinet meeting.

Both houses completed action

Nehru Replies at Dinner in His Honor, Says Moscow Has Helped Ease Tension in Recent Months.

By KENNETH BRODNEY
MOSCOW, June 10 (UP)—The Kremlin was committed publicly for the first time today to support of international efforts to mediate the Formosa dispute by peaceful means.

The Soviet decision was disclosed last night by Premier Bulganin in a speech delivered at a dinner in honor of Indian Prime Minister Nehru, who is in Moscow on a state visit.

Bulganin made clear the Soviet desire to create a new Asian alliance of India, Red China and the Soviet Union in his speech. He stressed that efforts of the three governments already had achieved peace in Korea and Indochina. Then he added:

"The Indian government, in concert with the government of China and ours should take the necessary measures to eliminate tension on China's east coast in the area of Formosa."

Praise For Menon.

Bulganin praised the efforts of V. K. Krishna Menon, India's roving envoy who recently visited Peiping, and added: "Let us hope that the common efforts will end the tension in the Chinese east coast area."

(Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai was noted in Jakarta newspapers today as having told Indonesian reporters in an interview June 2 that Peiping is not willing to negotiate a cease-fire agreement on Formosa with the United States as a prerequisite to solving the Formosa dispute since a state of war does not exist between the two countries.)

In reply to Bulganin's remarks, Nehru praised the Soviet government for what it had done in the past year to ease world tension.

"The world demands peace," he said. "We speak in a soft voice and I hope in a gentle voice for that is the tradition of India. We want to be friendly, to the peace-makers of the world to assist themselves."

Salutes Peace Efforts.

Nehru then saluted the Russian's peace efforts as "the great step made during the past few months by your great country."

After praising the Soviet desire for peace and remarking that other people shared this desire, Nehru said:

"But there are too many who speak of peace, but neither their accent nor their pronunciation are exact."

After this not-so-veiled reference to the military powers, Nehru made it more specific by stating that "We are not a military power."

By the Associated Press.

In New Delhi, the British-owned newspaper Statesman said Russia has hinted it is "prepared to offer economic aid to India without strings."

The paper's correspondent accompanying Nehru's party wrote: "Mr. Nehru is believed to have left no doubt that, while new ideas, experiments and assistance were appreciated, these could be accepted only in the context of India's position and background."

Other Indian papers hinted that Nehru and Bulganin might issue a joint statement at the end of their talks echoing Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's five principles of peaceful co-existence, which Nehru already has endorsed.

A paper gave prominence to Nehru's visit to let aircraft factory but the correspondence of the Times of India added pointedly: "Not even Mr. Nehru was given production figures despite searching questions."

CHOU AGAIN RULES
OUT CEASE-FIRE

TOKYO, June 10 (AP)—Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai declared a cease-fire cannot be used as a prerequisite for negotiations to ease tension in the Formosa area.

The Peiping radio today also quoted him as warning "if there should be participation and intervention by foreign armed forces (in the Formosa area) international conflict would result, and that is precisely what we have always opposed."

The broadcast, heard here, quoted extensively from an interview June 2 between Chou and five Indonesian correspondents.

The Kyodo news agency reported in Peiping correspondents

More to Be Told on Polio Vaccine Situation, O'Connor Says in Reply to Report by U.S.

'When Public Has Heard Salk's Version, It Will Be Able to Form Intelligent Conclusion as to What Actually Has Been Transpiring,' He Asserts.

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, indicated today there is still more to be told of "what actually has been transpiring" in the polio vaccine situation.

O'Connor issued a statement commenting on the report submitted by Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, surgeon general, to Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary.

"News accounts do not indicate that the report throws any light on the Cutter situation, which was the cause of any difficulties that have arisen in connection with the Salk vaccine," O'Connor said.

"The report obviously gives only the Public Health Service version of the vaccine situation to date."

"When the public has heard Dr. Jonas E. Salk's version, it will be able to form an intelligent conclusion as to what actually has been transpiring."

O'Connor said nobody in the Foundation "has seen the report nor have we been acquainted with its content, despite the fact that on May 22, 1955, I wired the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare requesting this courtesy."

O'Connor complained in his May 22 telegram to Mrs. Hobby that since April 12 the Foundation has "not been informed by Public Health Service of problems involved in this situation and have had to rely on press for information."

U.S. HAD TO MAKE SAFER STANDARDS

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The Public Health Service said today it was required to develop new and safer standards for Salk polio vaccine after unexpected problems in mass vaccination had threatened to wipe out a "built-in factor of safety."

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele expressed belief, however, "that this vaccine will fulfill its bright promise as a major advance in the prevention and control of a disease that has shadowed the lives of children and young adults for many generations."

The lessons that have been learned, he said, "offer promise of solutions to a hitherto baffling group of disease problems."

The Chicago Board of Health canceled at least until fall the inoculation of first- and second-grade children. Most of the city's first- and second-grade children have received one shot of vaccine. The suspension was based on a suggestion by Dr. Roland R. Cross, Illinois Public Health director, that injections be discontinued in areas where polio is prevalent. Chicago has had 24 cases since Jan. 1, the highest number for the date in 35 years. Two have been fatal.

3 Types of Viruses

A special Health Service report, in discussing the "built-in" safety factor, said the vaccine is composed of three types of polio viruses mixed together after they had been inactivated, or killed. In some cases, the report said, live viruses were found in the final mixture after tests of the three component parts had shown none.

These things showed up, the report added when the Health Service made an intensive study of the manufacturers' records. They had not been reported to the Health Service, it said, because the manufacturers had not asked for clearance of the faulty lots.

Noting that antibiotics and sulfa compounds, the "wonder drugs" of recent years, "have made little impression on the problems of virus infection," Dr. Scheele added: "We can expect that potent new biologics will be developed which will have unprecedented application, particularly to control of virus diseases."

However, Dr. W. McD. Hammon, of the University of Pittsburgh and a member of the national polio vaccine advisory committee, said he is still not satisfied that vaccine should be released until further developments and studies have been made of production and laboratory methods.

Technical Review. The statements were contained in a comprehensive and technical review of the entire polio vaccine program. Long promised but released unexpectedly today. Publication of the document, running 163 typewritten and printed pages, was ordered after the New York Times printed a part of it.

In a letter transmitting the report to Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby, Dr. Scheele said that "events which in the traditional course of scientific development would have covered years were telescoped into months and, as a result, both successes and failures have been magnified."

"In the long run, however, the nation and the world will surely have gained from efforts to speed the availability of an effective immunizing agent against this disease."

Much of the material in the report is history—the story of last year's extensive field tests, the general approval of the polio vaccine on April 12 this year, the development of polio in some vaccinated children, the go-slow warnings and subsequent stoppage of immunizations, and the development of new standards which Scheele said at the time were designed to "make a safe vaccine safer."

Much of the new material reviews the technical data and studies made by scientists behind closed doors, which led to the increased safety standards.

These studies, the report said, "demonstrated unanticipated difficulties in production and testing."

For one thing, it was found that the fewer live viruses there were in a solution, the slower they died. That led to increasing the time allowed to inactivate the virus.

The investigators also found "other physical and chemical variations in different portions of the total suspension" from which the vaccine was prepared.

These factors, the report said, "can operate to remove the so-called built-in factor of safety."

The report said no decision has yet been reached on what caused development of polio in children inoculated with some vaccine produced by the Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif. Cutter immediately withdrew its unused supplies on April 26 as the Health Service started its intensive study.

The report said "this occurrence may have been due to vaccine which, by deficiency in the tests themselves or by error in the performance of the tests, passed the established safety procedures and yet contained sufficiently large amounts of live virus to infect a small number of recipients. It may also have been due to some break in the manufacturing process leading to contamination after testing had been completed."

All of the five pharmaceutical firms which have prepared the vaccine for use have had their troubles, the report said.

Although some cases of polio have developed in children vaccinated with the product of each of the makers, the report said no significance was seen except after use of the Cutter vaccine and perhaps of one lot made by Wyeth, Inc. of Marietta, Pa.

The Figure on Wyeth Cases

Wyeth said to be too small to be all conclusive, but they caused the service to delay certification of Wyeth vaccine and that made by Pitman-Moore, Inc. of Zionsville, Ind., pending the advance in the prevention and control of a disease that has shadowed the lives of children and young adults for many generations."

The idea that a built-in safety factor failed to work as expected is mentioned several times in the report. A summary put it this way:

"The original concept of vaccine preparation was that the process itself assured a wide margin of safety. Safety tests for the vaccine were conceived to detect both mass contamination resulting from accidents in the manufacture, and rest by live virus which the process was intended to eliminate."

"The total experience of the manufacturers now reveals that the process of inactivation did not always follow the predicted course, since positive tissue culture tests not infrequently occurred after the expected completion of the inactivation process."

"Greater dependence, therefore, must be placed on sensitive tests for very small quantities of residual live virus as part of process control than would otherwise be the case."

To meet both current and long-range problems, the service said has raised the minimum requirements for the vaccine and made them mandatory, and has created a technical committee to work with it on the problem.

It also is expanding its laboratory of biologicals control, which has handled the vaccine, into a new and separate division with a bigger staff and more facilities for research, testing, and actual checking of plants. In announcing yesterday this reorganization, the health service said the changes would improve the setup for all such products—not just the Salk vaccine which triggered the revision.

Scheele announced that a new division of biologicals standards had been created in the National Institute of Health. It replaces the present laboratory, a part of the National Microbiological Institute at the National Institutes of Health.

The Times says "the final copy, as delivered to the White House last night, contained language changes. These revisions appeared to soften the fault-finding with Dr. Salk's original conception, but the changes did not affect the substance of the report."

For example, the Times says, the Public Health Service said originally that the manufacturing process of "inactivation does not always follow the original concept." The revised language, the newspaper stated, made this read that the "process of inactivation did not always follow the predicted course."

U.S. RESTRICTS MILITARY PHOTOS BY ROMANIANS

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The United States yesterday barred officials of Communist Romania in this country from taking photographs of military installations, airports and industrial enterprises.

They also were denied the right to make photographs or sketches from airplanes flying over United States territory.

A note setting forth these and other restrictions was sent to Romanian Minister Anton Moiseu by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. The action was taken in retaliation for similar restrictions imposed on American citizens in Romania.

Since 1950 Romanian diplomats have been forbidden to travel more than 35 miles from the District of Columbia without permission.

U.S. to Help Austria Rearm Under New Treaty, Dulles Says

Secretary Hopeful Soviet Accord on Pact May Open Way to Further Russian 'Co-operation.'

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the United States stands ready to help Austria reararm within the limits allowed by its new treaty.

Testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Dulles told Senator George (Dem.) Georgia, committee chairman:

"If that (military aid) is requested, and we think it probably will be, we will give some assistance to Austria in equipping the forces allowed by the treaty."

While Austria is to remain neutral under the treaty it is allowed to build as large an army as it likes. It is forbidden to possess, build or experiment with atomic or other weapons of mass destruction, limiting it to civil purpose arms.

Dulles was before the committee to urge speedy approval of the treaty. He said Russian agreement to the pact "may open the way to further co-operation to fulfill other wartime pledges" by the Soviets.

He also said the Austrian government could count on "sympathetic interest" of the United States if it wants to start rearming before full sovereignty is regained. That could come with final ratification of the treaty by the United States, the Soviet Union and France.

Senator Humphrey (Dem.) Minnesota, said he understands that Austria already has indicated an urge to start building military defenses at once.

In referring to Austria's neutral position, Dulles told the committee:

"It was thus important that the treaty should neither provide special opportunities for other nations to interfere in Austrian affairs nor render Austria incapable of defending and maintaining its independence and neutrality."

In discussing the possibility of further action by Russia to carry out pledges, Dulles said:

"President Eisenhower stated in his speech of April 16, 1953, and the United States has repeated on numerous occasions since that Soviet agreement to the Austrian treaty fulfilling the Moscow agreement of 1943 would be considered a significant deed as distinct from words."

"It may open the way to further co-operation to fulfill other wartime pledges."

The new treaty with Austria he said, is "more just and satisfactory" than the original draft treaty as it stood from 1949 until the negotiations last month in Vienna. The Secretary said the treaty was changed in several "important ways" during the two weeks of "intensive negotiation" prior to its May 15 signing.

He noted that the 1949 draft treaty provided that the Soviet Government would retain for up to 30 years "most of the valuable Austrian oil properties" and would own "in perpetuity" Austrian Danube shipping and docks.

He paid tribute to his "predecessors in office," former Secretaries of State George C. Marshall and Dean Acheson, for

MENON LEAVING CANADA, MAY TELL OF TALKS THERE

OTTAWA, June 10 (UP)—V. K. Krishna Menon, India's roving ambassador, was expected to reveal the subject of his talks with Canadian officials today before taking off for New York.

The exponent of Asian neutralism arrived here yesterday on an informal diplomatic call on way to the United States.

He conferred twice with External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson yesterday and dined with him last night. He also met briefly with Welfare Minister Paul Martin, head of the Canadian delegation at the last United Nations General Assembly.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent spent considerable time with Menon yesterday.

2 SEIZED IN GAMING RAID IN EAST ST. LOUIS ARE FREED

Two men arrested May 4 in a gambling raid in quarters over the Terrace Lounge, 127 Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, were freed today after Police Magistrate Harry Cassin dismissed charges of possession of gambling equipment which had been filed against them.

They were William Brown, living in the 900 block of Audubon avenue, and Joe Lynch, 4900 block of McPherson avenue. Seven telephones and a quantity of betting paraphernalia were seized in the raid, which was led by Police Commissioner Russell T. Beebe. Beebe said he thought the place was a clearing house of racing information for St. Louis area handicappers.

Cassin upheld the contention of defense attorney Raymond B. Hendricks that the search warrant was illegal because it was not supported by an affidavit telling what the police expected to find.

EAST GERMAN REVEAL PLAN FOR NATIONAL ARMY

Red Boss Indicates Description Will Take Place of Lagging Enlistment.

BERLIN, June 10 (UP)—The East German Communists announced today that they intend to create a national army, and indicated they will introduce conscription for thousands of East Zone youths.

The two moves were disclosed in a speech made by Walter Ulbricht, East Zone deputy premier and Communist party boss, and printed in the official Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland.

Speaking to the Communist party central committee, Ulbricht made no mention of voluntary enlistment and for the first time used the expression "militarization" in military service time the old Nazi term for compulsory service.

He said western imperialists were planning to "plunder the national wealth of the German Democratic Republic, the People's Republic of Poland, the Czechoslovakian Republic and the Soviet Union."

"The protection of peace demands, as laid down in the Warsaw agreements, the creation of armed forces in the German Democratic Republic in order to remove all hope of military success from the aggressive powers of the western monopoly capitalists," he said.

"Whoever opposes the creation of armed forces in the German Democratic Republic is against the protection of peace."

"Peace can only be maintained when the aggressive imperialist powers in the west know that the German Democratic Republic has taken the necessary military security measures, and that strong friends stand by her side in case of aggression."

Ulbricht noted the reluctance of East German youth to enter the military service. Thousands of them have fled to the West to escape service in the Communist force despite a three-month campaign to "persuade" them to enlist in the present so-called police, an armed force of about 100,000.

Parts Shortage Forces Closing Of 20 General Motors Plants

Earlier Wildcat Strikes Blamed for Idling of 60,000—Negotiators Resume Sessions.

DETROIT, June 10 (AP)—General Motors Corp. today closed 20 car assembly and body plants making idle 60,000 workers because of strike-caused parts shortages.

National contract bargaining between G.M. and the CIO United Auto Workers continued, meanwhile, with every indication that the largest auto maker in the nation intended to make its bid during the day to stave off a threatened strike at midnight Sunday.

It was learned that G.M. had made no offer to the union as yet on whether it will go along with the same contract deal that the U.A.W. negotiated last Monday with the Ford Motor Co.

This called for a modified form of the guaranteed wage, plus pay, vacation, holiday and other concessions estimated by the U.A.W. to be worth more than 20 cents an hour per worker. U.A.W. President Walter Reuther said G.M.'s 325,000 U.A.W. workers were ready to strike Sunday night unless G.M. matched these demands.

The G.M. shutdowns were caused by earlier wildcat strikes, in apparent protest against slowness of the national bargaining negotiations, with the walkouts shutting off parts pouring into various G.M. plants across the country.

John W. Livingston, UAW vice president and director of the union's G.M. department, said the union did not consider the shutdowns a retaliatory action on the part of the company. He said, "we realize the parts shortage gave them (G.M.) no other choice."

This lack of parts, G.M. said, compelled the company to close down G.M. Chevrolet assembly and body plants in Detroit, Flint, Bay City and Saginaw, Mich., and in Saginaw, Mich., and in Buffalo and Tonawanda, N.Y., Indianapolis and Muncie, Ind., Toledo and Baltimore.

G.M. said all the walkouts violated its expiring contract with the UAW and added, with apparent hope of a contract settlement being achieved before the Sunday night strike deadline, that all workers would be recalled Monday.

Livingston appeared annoyed at the wildcat strikers and was trying to get them back to work. The number of strikers reached a peak of 42,000 Wednesday but this dropped yesterday to about 24,000 in 15 plants.

The contract negotiations were recessed last night just before midnight until this afternoon. It was believed that G.M. then would make its contract offer.

DONNELLY HINTS SPECIAL SESSION WILL BE CALLED ON PRISON NEEDS

Governor Cites Legislature's Failure to Provide for Expenditures for Penitentiary Reform Program.

By BOYD F. CARROLL
Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 10.—Failure of the 1955 Legislature to pass legislation to put in motion an emergency program for rehabilitation of the riot-torn state penitentiary here apparently will force Gov. Phil M. Donnelly to call a special legislative session before any start can be made.

Donnelly conceded today a recall of the legislature in special session, to do what was not done in the first five months of this year, will be necessary. But he said he had not yet determined when it should be done.

"The Legislature will have to be called back to make the necessary appropriations before any of the proposed funds could be expended or any definite planning done," Donnelly said. "Even if the proposed $75,000,000 bond issue proposal for the prison, educational and equestrian institutions is approved by the voters, there is authority yet to spend the money."

"Bills providing such authority, designed to 1956, are an early start, were not passed."

This situation, he said, "will materially delay" a start on the rebuilding of the industrial shops and other prison buildings destroyed or damaged by fire last September, in a disastrous riot. Damage to the prison was estimated at $3,000,000.

The $75,000,000 bond issue proposal, in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment, must be approved by the voters, either in the general election or an earlier special election to be held by the Governor.

Two referendum acts passed by the Legislature will be submitted to the voters of the state for approval or rejection in a special election on Oct. 4. One is a public school bill which would add about $22,000,000 a year in state aid for public schools, and the other proposed cigarette tax bill to provide part of the financing for the school program.

Submission of the bond issue measure before the referendum elections, or concurrently with the two referendum proposals, would endanger the bond proposal because of the aggregate of public expenditures involved in the bond issue and the number of proposals. Legislation introduced in the 1955 session, but not passed, would have created a five-member state commission to plan and supervise the building program for the prison and other institutions and would have provided that the funds stand appropriated for use as needed. This bill died at the close of the session.

Also discarded by the Legislature was a time-saving proposal by Donnelly last February that the Legislature set aside $10,000,000 of the then surplus in the state general revenue fund, to be made available at once for a start on planning and emergency construction at the penitentiary.

Another Proposal Dropped. Also dropped by the Legislature was a proposal in a House-passed appropriation bill for immediate provision of $750,000 of state funds for immediate construction of a maximum security cell building in the penitentiary, to house unruly or dangerous-type convicts away from other convicts.

This bill was changed in a joint House-Senate conference committee to increase the amount from $750,000 to $1,500,000, but eliminated authority to use any of the amount for a maximum security cell building or any other kind of cell building for the prison.

Hat Maker Denies $2000 Check Was Bribe to Get U.S. Contract

Cap manufacturer, HARRY LEV, wearing one of his products in appearance before Senate investigations subcommittee yesterday. He is wearing a Marine Corps cap, has an Army cap on his knee and is reaching into box for another of his products.

Senators Question Lev on Sum He Gave to Husband of Government Girl

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Hat maker Harry Lev swore today a $2000 check he handed a government girl's husband was not a bribe to get her help in landing a $2,000,000 contract.

"No, sir," he told the Senate Investigations subcommittee, and denied also that he was trying to portray the woman, Mrs. Mella Hort, as just a bad woman who had tried to blackmail him.

The subcommittee, seeking evidence of possible graft in buying uniform equipment for the armed forces, is exploring in general the "advantage" Lev says he enjoys over business rivals in dealing with the Government.

Lev landed the contract in question, for the manufacture of about 7,000,000 white sailor caps, the award was on May 5, 1953, to Lev's Chicago firm.

Robert F. Kennedy, subcommittee counsel, told Lev that the versions given by both Lev and Mrs. Hort of the story behind the $2000 check just can't be so. The check is dated April 9, 1953.

Woman's Contention. Mrs. Hort has testified it was a sort of "binder" on a deal in which her husband, Eugene Hort, and Lev would go in the plastics manufacturing business. Lev says it was payment to Hort for a survey to determine whether the venture could pay.

Both say it had nothing to do with the cap contract, in the negotiation of which Mrs. Hort had a part as a contract officer for the armed forces procurement headquarters in New York City.

Before questioning Lev publicly today, the subcommittee talked behind closed doors with his supervising accountant, Theodore Weinberg of Chicago. What Weinberg said was not made public.

In a sometimes stormy and sometimes hilarious hearing yesterday, Lev conceded that patents he owns on essential parts of caps for the Army and Marine Corps give him "an advantage" over business rivals.

But he swore the patents cover inventions of his own and disputed suggestions that the ideas for them were fed to him by military procurement and research officials on whom he is alleged to have lavished favors.

Lev says he became a millionaire, mostly on military cap profits, since he fled in 1921 from Pinsk, in Poland, with about $5 and a sewing machine.

Senator McClellan (Dem.), Arkansas, the subcommittee chairman, said he wants to know why the Army, Air Force and Marine Corps required that all their men's visored caps be equipped with grommets on which Lev holds patents. The grommets are rubber rings that fit into the crown of the caps to hold them in shape.

McClellan said it is usual in writing specifications for Government contracts which could require use of a patented part, to allow a substitute of equal worth. He said the three forces' specifications on caps allow no substitutes.

McClellan said it seemed to him that the committee was finding either "gross inefficiency" by people in the procurement services, "or finagling against the Government." Lev assured the Senator he would never "finagle."

Lev insisted that McClellan read aloud from the file of a Yiddish love note Lev said had passed between him and Mrs. Hort in May 1953. That would be about the time another witness, Leon M. Levy, has charged Mrs. Hort was trying to "blackmail" Lev for $15,000 to keep concealed some goods for

SAYS DOWNTOWN BUILDINGS MUST PROVIDE PARKING

Realty Man Asserts Time Is Coming for Off-Street Facilities as Part of Service.

Inadequate parking is the greatest single factor in driving business and industry from the downtown district, Clarence M. Turley, St. Louis real estate man, told a group of business men and planning experts who met here for two days to discuss all aspects of the subject, "How to Rebuild Cities Downtown."

A report on the meeting, which was held without publicity last April at Hotel Statler, appears in the June issue of Architectural Forum.

"We are coming to the time when office building owners, and to a large extent department store owners, must provide off-street parking as a part of the building service in the same manner as they provide air-conditioning, janitor services and elevator facilities," Turley declared.

The parking facilities need not necessarily be in the same building with the store or office space, he said, adding:

"However, I wish that at least 30 years ago somebody had enacted the ordinance that now exists which would have required me and every other building owner to provide a minimum number of car spaces for every 500 or 600 square feet of office space. We would have had a very different downtown than we have today."

"Sooner or later we will have to come to it, and the owners are going to have to pay the bill."

Property Consolidation. Oskar Stonorov, Philadelphia architect, proposed that downtown properties be consolidated in a single corporation which would have great borrowing power and could finance improvements of benefit to all the participating interests. He suggested that $80,000,000 might be raised through loans.

Sidney R. Baer, vice chairman and treasurer of the R. & Fuller, viewed this proposal as unrealistic.

Turley expressed the belief that there are too many "rugged individualists" among his clients to turn their property over for administration to such a corporation.

"Our experience in the last 25 years has been that we have no difficulty whatsoever in obtaining major financing," he reported. "For a sound business proposition, whether it's a new building or a remodeling job, the major financing is available in large amounts and at good interest rates and for long periods of time. Where we find ourselves short is in the risk capital."

Suggests Modification. Turley suggested that a modification of Stonorov's plan create a much smaller fund of risk capital might work. "Ten million dollars would go a long way in an area as limited as the core of St. Louis," he said. "It would pay for development in specific locations according to a master plan which would be for the benefit of the entire district, and at the same time it would permit someone to make some money."

Douglas Haskell, editor of Architectural Forum, who presided at the round table discussion, suggested that small stores near the big downtown department stores might profit if side streets were closed to automobiles and developed into pedestrian streets by widening sidewalks, planting trees and providing park seats as some outlying shopping centers do.

The conference was sponsored jointly by the magazine and the National Retail Dry Goods Association, the downtown committee of which is headed by Baer.

POWER SHORTAGES RELIEVED IN MEXICAN FARMING AREAS

MEXICO CITY, June 10 (AP)—The National Electricity Commission said today electrical power shortages in one of Mexico's richest farming areas have been ended.

A commission spokesman said rain, which has increased the flow of water for hydroelectric plants, have helped remedy the situation. About one-fifth of Mexico suffered power cuts earlier this year.

WORK STOPPAGE ENDS AT FISHER AND CHEVROLET

Dissenters Unable to Halt Return Here—Official Strike May Start Monday.

Normal production was resumed at the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants today as workers ended their three-day unauthorized work stoppage and returned to their jobs.

More than 80 per cent of the men, members of Local 25, CIO United Automobile Workers, went back to work last night despite efforts of a small group of dissenters to stop them. The day shift reported this morning without hesitation.

The 4700 production workers were told by their leaders that they would be expected to go on an official strike at 12:01 a.m. Monday unless a new wage contract is signed in negotiations now being carried on between the union and the General Motors Corp. at Detroit.

Night shift workers gathered at the intersection of Arlington and Natural Bridge avenues last night, near the entrance to the Fisher Body plant, but were slow in reporting on the job. Then Frank L. Wallemann, president of Local 25; Edward Lavine, vice president, and other union officers and committeemen began talking to small groups and urging them to return.

The back-to-work movement started slowly at first, and then at a brisk pace. A small group of younger men, who appeared to form the nucleus of those not wanting to work, shouted derisively as the movement toward the plants began, but later they dispersed.

Picket lines were formed in front of the two plants during the first two days of the strike, but were finally removed yesterday morning, following urging by local officers.

Several membership meetings were held yesterday in a meeting last night at 6141 Ezel avenue, Ted Hawks, assistant director of Region 5, United Auto Workers, told the men they had no right to establish a wildcat picket line and advised them to return to their jobs.

Wallemann told the Post-Dispatch he thought the local strike had some connection with nomination of officers for an impending union election. He said someone outside the present leadership was advising the men to stay away from the plants.

Some of the men also were concerned about reports that 30 men were being fired. The reports were unfounded, it was learned.

Two Contract Bills Introduced For Mark Twain Expressway

They Would Authorize City to Make Pact With State for Cost of Building Spurs in St. Louis.

Two bills which would authorize the city to enter into a contract with the Missouri Highway Department to construct two sections of the Mark Twain Expressway were introduced in the Board of Aldermen today.

Alderman John Curry (Dem.), Third ward, introduced one bill for building an expressway spur between Eighth and Mullany streets and Eleventh and Branch streets. The state would advance the funds under the proposed agreement. The city would agree to pay one-half the cost of obtaining the right-of-way and would bear the expense of relocating public utilities.

The other bill, sponsored by Alderman Raymond Leisner (Dem.), Seventh ward, would provide for construction of a 12-block stretch of the Mark Twain Expressway from Woodland and Saloma avenues, at the western city limits, to a point east of Davison avenue.

The same conditions prevail in this bill as in the other. The city would pay one-half the cost of obtaining the right-of-way and would be responsible for moving utilities.

Route of Expressway. The expressway at this point will cross Goodfellow boulevard from Woodland and Saloma, then will swing southeast. It will cross Riverview boulevard between the Small Arms plant and Woodland avenue, and will follow the north edge of Riverview and Birch boulevards to the point east of Davison.

Donald Gunn, president of the board, also introduced a bill declaring the results of the May 26 bond issue election to be official. This will legally empower the city to borrow on the $10,639,000 bond issues voted in the election.

A bill to repeal the 2-cent city cigarette tax was introduced by Alderman Edgar J. Feely (Dem.), Twentieth ward, who said he was sponsoring the measure at the request of the Business Men's Council of Missouri. Feely showed reporters a letter from Gene Globig, president of the council, which said 4800 city business enterprises were making the appeal to negate the tax. Globig wrote that the tax was responsible for driving more than $50,000,000 a year in business away from St. Louis retail merchants.

Fire Station Bill Passed. A bill appropriating $125,000 from 1944 bond issue funds for the construction of Fire Station No. 31 at Morganford road and Haven avenue was passed.

Another bill passed will give $35-a-month salary increases to 11 employees of the Coroner.

The aldermen also amended an ordinance which requires the advertising of bids on all lettings by the President of the Board of Public Safety of $1500 or more. The amendment raises the figure to $2500. The board president must still obtain sealed bids from three or more firms on lettings up to $2500 but the amendment eliminates the need for advertising and the resulting month's delay.

TAXICAB DRIVER FINED $150, BEAT PHOTOGRAPHER

Joseph Capraro, a taxicab driver, was fined $150 today by Police Judge Robert G. Dowd after he was found guilty of peace disturbance in the beating of William Dvyniak, a Post-Dispatch photographer, at Twelfth boulevard and Olive street.

Dvyniak testified that he was taking a picture May 1 of the scene of an accident between two Black & White taxicabs when Capraro ran over, grabbed his camera and smashed it to the street, kicked him in the groin and beat him with his fists. The photographer was treated at City Hospital.

Capraro, who has been arrested 12 times on various charges, including resisting arrest and carrying a concealed weapon, denied this. He testified that he asked Dvyniak not to take the picture, but after the photographer did he said to him: "Please give me the picture back."

Judge Dowd dismissed a counter charge of peace disturbance against Dvyniak. Capraro's attorney said he would appeal the fine and urged the City Council to appeal the judge's dismissal of charges against Dvyniak. Capraro lives in the 300 block of North Whittier street.

PRESIDENT FLIES TO SPEAK AT PENNSYLVANIA STATE U.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (UP)—President Eisenhower took off today aboard his new two-engine plane for Pennsylvania State University, where he will make a commencement address and receive an honorary degree.

The President flew to Phillipsburg, Pa., and arranged to go from there to state college by automobile. Mr. Eisenhower will address Penn State graduates tomorrow morning and receive an honorary doctorate of laws from the university headed by his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower. Another brother, Earl, also will be present.

TELEGRAPH CENTER TO GO UNDER GROUND

Revised Plan for Police-Fire Wire Headquarters Approved by Bond Committee.

The new building to house the fire and police telegraph system center, to be erected in Forest Park with 1944 bond issue funds, would be an underground structure, under a change of plans approved by the Citizens Bond Issue Supervisory Committee, it was announced today.

In announcing the change, Mayor Raymond R. Tucker said the location would remain the same—between the Express Highway and Oakland avenue about 550 feet west of Kingshighway. New specifications will have to be drawn but putting the building underground is not expected to add to the original cost estimate of about $700,000 because the additional cost is expected to be offset by the elimination of exterior ornamental trim, Mayor Tucker said.

Under the new plans, the building will be set into the side of a hill and will have an entrance on Oakland avenue. One story in depth, it will be surrounded on three sides by earth and will have about six to eight feet of earth above it.

The building will house the equipment by which fire alarm signals are received and relayed and the police telegraph system. Decision to place it underground was based upon safety as well as esthetic considerations, Mayor Tucker said.

A bill appropriating $700,000 for construction of the center was introduced in the Board of Aldermen today by Alderman William Brady.

9 FIRMS RESUME BOTTLING UNDER TEMPORARY TERMS

Production was resumed yesterday at the Charles E. Hires Bottling Co., the Dr. Pepper Bottling Co., and seven smaller firms after temporary agreements were reached with Local 303, CIO Soft Drink Workers Union, which ordered a strike against 20 firms here June 1.

The temporary agreements provided for a 45-cent hourly wage increase for union employees until a general settlement with other bottlers is reached. Maurice Schechter, union counsel, said. The increase brings the pay rate to $2.50 an hour.

Major companies with which no agreement has been reached include both bottles of Coca-Cola, Pepsi-Cola, Seven-Up, Vess, Royal Crown and The American Soda Water Co. Federal Mediator Arthur R. Hale said separate individual conferences were held Wednesday to explore possibilities of ending the strike.

4A Fri., June 10, 1955 DEAL FOR RUSSIAN BASE AT SHANGHAI REPORTED SIGNED

TAIPEI, Formosa, June 10 (AP)—Nationalist China's Tatro news agency today said Red China has signed an agreement in Moscow for establishment of an advance Soviet air base at Shanghai.

Tatro, which specializes in underground reports, said the agreement was asked for by Red China and signed by Gen. Peng Teh-huai, Peiping defense minister who attended the recent Communist military conference at Warsaw. Tatro also said a special office would be established for liaison between the Red Chinese and Soviet air forces.

air power at least 1100 miles southward from Siberia. Shanghai is 400 miles north of Formosa and a little closer to the Nationalist-held Matsus. The Chinese Reds have a new base, the biggest in all China, at Lukiao, 175 miles north of the Matsus.

Nationalist Foreign Minister George Yeh told Thai newsmen his government would consider an attack on the offshore islands of Formosa and the Pescadores. He said Nationalist China would defend the off-shores, with or without American support.

reset the date for sentencing to May 20.

On May 17, an application for probation or parole was filed on behalf of Schwartz. When the case came again before Judge Nangle, he again continued it, until today, to permit Parole Officer James Lawson to make an investigation.

Continued Until July 15. When the case was called today, William O'Toole, a defense attorney, said Schwartz was still under medical care and called attention to the fact that the parole office had not completed its investigation of the defendant's application. Judge Nangle then granted another continuance—until July 15.

Circuit Attorney Dowd said Schwartz would not be eligible for parole under any circumstances since he has a prior conviction of a felony.

"If a parole is entered, our office will take the matter to the Missouri Supreme Court," Dowd said. "A parole is prohibited by law for those who have a prior conviction of a felony. Defendant Schwartz has two such convictions."

Lawson, the parole officer, told the Post-Dispatch he has not ordered Schwartz in for an interview or taken any other action in connection with the application. He said the delay was not intentional.

Schwartz has been arrested at least 60 times by St. Louis police in the last 20 years. He was sentenced to five years in prison for Oklahoma in 1935 for violating the federal Mann Act and was released from Leavenworth (Kan.) penitentiary after serving two and one-half years.

Arrested in Holdup. In 1934, he was arrested in St. Louis for a $540 payroll robbery and was positively identified by the victim. However, the charge was reduced to assault with intent to rob and he was given only a six-month sentence in the workhouse, from which he was paroled in less than four months. Police records show he was sentenced by Circuit Judge Eugene J. Sartorius.

Schwartz has been arrested on other occasions on complaints of young women, but has received no other jail or prison sentences. The latest complaint was made last month by two girls, one 16 and the other 18 years old, from Blytheville, Ark.

Until about a year ago, police had maintained for almost two years a round-the-clock detail at the Grant Hotel in an attempt to stop illicit activities.

Maj. James F. Thompson, who has been placed in charge of a special police squad to look into reports of pay-offs, said today he personally will question each policeman alleged to have been a recipient.

Thompson today questioned a police captain whose name has figured in the investigation.

Miss Cloin has named 10 to 12 policemen as having taken payments from Mrs. Lytz. Dowd said record books in his possession also contain names of police officers, some with sums of money after the names.

Maj. Thompson is expected to have from five to eight sergeants and an equivalent number of patrolmen or corporals to assist him in the investigation.

The head of the special squad set up by the Police Board this week to inquire into the pay-off allegations has been a member of the department for almost 30 years.

Thompson was 25 years old when he became a policeman. The young officer from Dunklin county, Missouri, was first assigned to the old Souldard district—an area south of Chouteau avenue and west of Broadway where homebrew joints and illicit stills were then flourishing.

The temptation to take "a few bucks" to look the other way when passing these places was too much for many policemen, but young Thompson soon became known as the "cop who couldn't be bought."

Operating like a one-man liquor squad in his district, he made many arrests of prohibition violators. At times when chided by fellow officers for his approach to his police job, he would reply: "Well, I took an oath to enforce the law and that's what I intend to do."

Subsequently, Thompson was assigned to Central district and then to the old Wyoming street district in South St. Louis. When Bernard F. Dickmann became Mayor, Thompson, then a sergeant, was detailed to the Mayor's outer office. There, he became acquainted with many civic leaders and prominent St. Louisans.

He was promoted to lieutenant in 1945 and to captain in 1947. His appointment as assistant to the Police Chief at headquarters in 1953 brought with it a promotion to the rank of major.

He was head of the gambling squad, an assignment he had since Jan. 1, 1954, when the Police Board summoned him to take charge of the department's inquiry into alleged pay-offs.

"Jim Thompson was once a country boy," his friends recall. "He goes after things slow and carefully, but if it's there he'll get it."

HOUSE GROUP GIVES PRESIDENT REBUFF ON DIXON-YATES and five "super" co-operatives in Missouri, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

The committee approved a $6,000,000 "continuing fund" for financing the contracts. The fund had been eliminated by the 1953 Republican Congress.

In another blow at private power companies, the committee directed the Interior Department to take steps to "recapture" public power now being sold to non-preference (privately-owned) customers and sell it to preference customers—co-operatives.

House leaders conceded that the Dixon-Yates and SPA actions would stir up a hot floor fight that would have repercussions in the 1956 political campaign. Democrats predicted the committee recommendations would be upheld.

The committee's action on the Dixon-Yates project overshadowed the fact that it imposed a 28 per cent cut—a record for this year—on the over-all money requests of President Eisenhower for agencies dealing with high power projects.

The President requested a total of $1,789,165,000 for the TVA, the AEC, the Southeastern Power Administration, the Southwest Power Administration, the Bonneville Power Administration, the Reclamation Bureau, and the civil functions of the Army Engineers.

A large part of the cut, however, was of the over-all money variety, involving the transfer of unobligated balances from previous funds instead of putting up new cash.

The bill included $82,500,000 for operation and maintenance work and $46,675,000 for work on the Mississippi river and its tributaries.

Missouri projects approved included: Cape Girardeau, $750,000; Carthage, $367,000; East Poplar Bluff and Poplar Bluff, $314,000; Missouri River, Kansas City, to mount $2,000,000; Perry County drainage district 1, 2 and 3, $500,000; Table Rock reservoir, Missouri and Arkansas, $11,000,000; Louisiana, $83,000.

Illinois: Beardstown $800,000; Clear Creek drainage and levee district $800,000; Degonia and Fountain Bluff levee district $420,000; East St. Louis and vicinity $1,000,000; Grand Tower drainage district $250,000; Calumet-Sag channel $4,000,000; Mississippi river between Missouri river and Minneapolis, rectification of damages, $70,000; Preston drainage district $260,000; Wilson, Wenkel and Prairie Du Pont levee district $485,000; Wood River drainage district $700,000.

The largest single appropriation recommended by the committee was $58,000,000 for the Dallas dam in Oregon.

The committee allotted nothing for the controversial Tuttle Creek dam in Kansas, stalled after $5,000,000 had been spent.

SPA Contracts.

By the United Press.

The committee's action in restoring the Southwest Power Administration's "continuing fund" ran squarely against the recommendation of the Eisenhower Administration.

Private power companies contend that the SPA contracts with the "super" co-operatives accomplished indirectly what SPA was barred from doing directly—that is, operate steam plants in competition with private companies.

The long-term contracts provided for SPA to buy power produced from steam plants built by generating and transmission co-operatives and to lease the co-ops' transmission lines. On the strength of the contracts the co-operatives had borrowed $70,000,000 from the Rural Electrification Administration to finance construction of their facilities.

Since the continuing fund was abolished two years ago, "interim contracts" have been used to give the co-ops time to integrate their facilities with systems of private power companies.

"These negotiations have not as yet resulted in contracts which would provide the G and Ts (generating and transmission co-operatives) with income from their several power plants and facilities in order to retire the REA loans," the committee said.

Contracts Termined Valid. The committee termed the contracts "valid and legal." It noted that a suit by private power companies, challenging their legality was dismissed last April 28 by the United States Court of Appeals here.

However, the committee directed the Interior Department in "reactivating" the contracts to delete provisions which originally provided for eventual purchase of the co-ops' transmission lines and facilities by SPA.

2 SCHOOLS PLAN CITY-COUNTY MERGER STUDY to filing an application for a grant will be made by the Very Rev. Paul C. Reimer, S.J., president of St. Louis University, and Chancellor Ethan A. H. Shepley of Washington University.

In a joint statement, Father Reimer and Shepley said they have asked their departments of government and political science to prepare plans for a comprehensive survey.

"Further developments will depend upon the acquisition of adequate financing for such a project," they declared.

Citizens' Group Formed. Meanwhile, a Citizens' Committee for City-County Co-operation was organized last night to circulate petitions for appointment of a board of freeholders.

Meeting at Medart's Restaurant on Clayton road, the group decided to seek several times the number of petition signatures needed to obtain an election on the freeholders proposal.

The minimum requirement is equivalent to 3 per cent of the vote in the last general election, which means 11,300 signatures of city residents and more than 6000 from the county.

The board of freeholders would consist of 19 members—nine city residents appointed by the Mayor and St. Louis circuit judges, nine county residents named by the county supervisor and county circuit judges, and one from outside appointed by the Governor.

A. J. Cervantes, St. Louis alderman, and H. Jackson Daniel, an attorney living in Webster Groves, are co-chairmen of the citizens' committee. They emphasized that the group was not advocating merger or any other particular plan, but wanted the freeholders to study mutual problems and work out the best way of solving them.

Daniel's Contention. Daniel said he favors a plan that would enable city and county residents to save taxes and aid health and welfare.

"In my opinion, it would not be a plan to obliterate small communities," he said. "A chaotic situation exists in the county, with 158 existing tax authorities compared to six in the city."

The freeholders could consider four alternatives: Establishment of metropolitan districts to merge common services; enlargement of city boundaries to include certain county areas; a merger of the city and county, with the city assuming over-all administration, and a merger with the county assuming administration.

Any proposal submitted by the freeholders would require approval by a simple majority vote in both the city and county.

The citizens' group appointed the following committees and co-chairmen: Petitions, Rabbi Ferdinand M. Iserman and the Rev. Dr. O. Walter Wagner; research and study, Mrs. Peter Wulff and Mrs. Donald Shaw; publicity, Chadeayne and William Hatchett; finance, John Meletio and James Schmidt; speakers, Roy W. Bergmann, Burnett Schwartz, William J. Costello and Charles M. Warner.

$700 FINE, 90-DAY TERM FOR DRIVER SEIZED IN CHASE

Fred Thomas Jr., taxicab driver, today was sentenced to 90 days in the Workhouse and fined $700 for careless driving, resisting arrest and driving without a license in the court of Police Judge Morris Rosenthal. He pleaded not guilty.

Thomas, 5058 Kensington avenue, was booked on 14 traffic violation charges early Thursday after he was pursued by police about 25 blocks at speeds up to 70 miles an hour. The circuitous route started at Page boulevard and Walton avenue and ended in the 1400 block of Marcus avenue, where Thomas's machine struck a parked automobile.

When apprehended, Thomas struck Patrolman Charles Porter in the chest and ran. He was later subdued by Patrolman Thomas Bowe. The policemen, assigned to the traffic division, said they first pulled alongside Thomas, who was traveling about 25 miles an hour, because he was weaving from one lane to another on Page.

Thomas, a Negro, told the Judge he was afraid of being arrested for driving without a license and fled. During the chase he passed four stop signs and drove in the wrong direction on a one-way street. He was fined $200 for not having a license and $500 for resisting arrest.

MILITARY SURPLUS SALES CRITICIZED

Government Study Shows 42
Per Cent Were Badly Handled.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—A government study of $125-000,000 worth of military surplus property sales has indicated that 42 per cent of the sales were badly handled.

This was acknowledged today by the General Services Administration spokesmen. They said that if the GSA had been running the sales, the Government would have got "appreciably more" for the surplus goods.

House Majority Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts brought out the sampling of surplus sales at the opening of a House Government Operations subcommittee investigation of the armed services' disposal methods.

GSA officials John Thomas and L. C. Tuttle agreed that a GSA survey in late 1954 of $28 military sales showed 29 per cent of them were "good," 29 per cent "fair" and 42 per cent "poor."

By services, the Air Force made the worst showing with only 4.4 per cent "good" and 75.6 per cent "poor." The Navy did best with 39.4 per cent "good" and only 18.3 per cent "poor."

The survey covered $125-000,000 out of the $1,797,000,000 worth of military property declared excess in 1954.

Thomas and Tuttle, who are the director and deputy director respectively of GSA's personal property utilization division, said their check on military sales dealt with how the sales were run. They said they are now making a followup survey which will indicate how much less money the Government got as a result.

Thomas said the armed services have been getting a gross return of about 7 per cent on the acquisition value of their surplus property, while GSA has been getting around 12 per cent and "most of that property has been in very bad condition."

However, Representative Riehlman of New York, the subcommittee's ranking Republican member, questioned whether the military services weren't getting a lower return because of the type of goods they have to sell. "I don't think it's fair to come to that assumption" that GSA could do better than the armed services, Riehlman told Thomas, "because I don't think you've had that experience."

McCormack estimated the armed services would save $100-000,000 a year if they could sell their surplus materials at the same ratio of cost as that reported by civilian agencies.

HOOVER UNIT OK'S REPORT HITTING AT PUBLIC POWER

Only 2½ Hours of Discussion of Task
Force's Proposals for Dismemberment.

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 10 — Under the guidance of Herbert Hoover, the Commission on Government Reorganization Tuesday night rammed through for final approval recommendations calling for dismemberment of the Government's low-cost public power systems after only two and one-half hours of discussion, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

The final report, expected to be made public June 26, clings to the basic philosophy expressed in a preliminary report submitted to the commission several weeks ago by a 26-member task force. The task force, described as "stacked" with enemies of Government-sponsored low-cost public power projects, recommended sale or lease to private interests of existing federal low-cost power systems.

Less Bluntly Stated.
The final recommendations adopted by the commission Tuesday night, which will be issued as its pro-forma report, do not state the commission's objectives as bluntly as did the task force report, the Post-Dispatch was told.

The commission was described as "not having the guts" to adopt the strong language of the task force report but, instead, couched its most important recommendations in "weasly words" and "cheesy verbiage."

"The whole effort is to get the Government out of public power," the Post-Dispatch was told. "All the Government will have left if the commission recommendations are adopted by Congress is the concrete in the dams. Production and distribution equipment will go to the private interests. The Government will own the cow, but the private utilities will get the milk."

Under the agenda set up by Hoover for the commission sessions this week, the commission was to have considered in sessions Tuesday, Wednesday and yesterday not only the task force report on power and water resources but other reports which have been assembled on these subjects by other government agencies.

Discussion Cut Short.
Instead of a three-day discussion of the subject, however, the former President decided to cut the session off with discussion of the final report, of which he is reportedly the author.

The only dissenting vote against this procedure was cast by Representative Chet Hoffield (Dem., California), who has been openly critical of Hoover's refusal to permit the public to know the task force recommendations which were under consideration.

In accounting for the abbreviated agenda, Hoover is reported to have said that most of the commission members were too busy to spend three days on the discussions.

TRIAL OVER KILLING OF $5 GOAT COSTS $226; STILL GOING

WEST PLAINS, Mo., June 10 (AP)—After two trials in which court costs have climbed to $226.40 there still is no decision in the "murder" of a $5 nanny goat.

The case, set for a third trial June 16, had its beginning last February when Mrs. Myrtle Deatherage of Caulfield accused Orsdel Langston of shooting the goat owned by her son.

Langston's first trial on a charge of shooting a domestic animal ended in a hung jury. So did the second one held here last week.

Witness fees alone now amount to $137.20. In the event of conviction, the defendant would be liable for all the costs. Should he be acquitted, the county would pay the costs.

The average price of goats in these parts ranges from $2.50 to $5.

BODY OF ST. LOUIS MAN IS RECOVERED FROM RIVER

The body of a man identified as Robert W. Thornton, 2906A Chouteau avenue, has been recovered from the Mississippi river near Kellogg, Ill., about 50 miles south of St. Louis, it was reported today.

Randolph County Coroner Lester C. Walker said identification was made through fingerprints and that Thornton's widow had identified a ring he was wearing.

Thornton, 58 years old, disappeared May 21 while fishing on the East St. Louis side of the river.

He was met by the Lord Mayor of Dublin, Alderman A. A. Byrne, who promised cooperation in tracing Wagner's Irish ancestors on his mother's side.

Mayor Wagner startled the folks here by saying there are more persons of Irish origin in New York than there are Irishmen in Dublin.

Warden Says.

Quiet prevailed at City Workhouse today following restoration of normal visiting, work and recreation privileges to about 65 per cent of the institution's 450 inmates by Warden Harold E. Baynes.

Still confined to their cells were the 154 men who were in the north cell house Tuesday night when brief but violent rioting broke out. Baynes said was making an effort to single out the ringleaders.

quoting Warden Baynes as saying the inmates wanted to see how far they could go with the "new warden."

The account also told of Baynes' determination not to let the inmates run the institution.

Yesterday was the first visiting day since the Tuesday riot, as visiting is permitted only on Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday. Those not involved in the riot were able to have visitors. The commissary also was opened for this group.

Under new visiting rules put into effect by Baynes, inmates may receive visits from two relatives in one visiting period. In special cases an inmate may be visited by as many as two friends, but not if he has close relatives.

Baynes said he had clamped down on visiting privileges because some favored inmates in the past have been permitted to have as many visitors as they desired. Other less favored inmates were not receiving visitors, he said. He expressed a desire to treat all prisoners equally.

Isaac Gurman, director of the St. Louis Bureau for Men, was at the Workhouse yesterday making an independent inquiry into the riot for Mrs. Edward G. Brungard, director of public welfare.

Mrs. Brungard and Mayor Raymond R. Tucker have praised Baynes highly for his handling of the situation. Baynes, former superintendent of the House of Corrections at Philadelphia, became warden of the Workhouse last May 2.

FORMER CUBAN OFFICIAL KILLED BY HAVANA POLICE

HAVANA, June 10 (UP)—Jorge Agostini, chief of the secret service in the Presidential palace during the administration of former President Carlos Prío Socarras, was shot and killed last night while resisting arrest, police reported today.

The communique said Agostini had been sought for some time in connection with "subversive activities." It said police surrounded a house in the Havana suburb of Vedado following a tip that Agostini was hiding there. According to the communique, Agostini slipped through the police cordon but was spotted as he fled. After a two-block chase, Agostini turned and opened fire on his pursuers. Police fired back and Agostini was felled by nine bullets, the report said. Police also reported that two small bombs were exploded in the men's rooms of two theaters in Havana last night. The blasts caused little damage and no casualties.

DE LAPP FOUND GUILTY IN STATE PRISON KILLING

Jury Recommends Life Term for Convict Charged After Riot Last Sept. 22.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, June 10—Donald W. DeLapp, one of seven Missouri state penitentiary convicts charged with murder after a prison riot last Sept. 22, was convicted last night by a circuit court jury. The jury recommended life imprisonment.

The case was brought here from Jefferson City on a change of venue.

The jury deliberated nearly four hours. DeLapp's attorney, Godfrey P. Padberg of St. Louis, said he would ask for a new trial.

DeLapp testified for three hours yesterday. He denied that he had anything to do with the stabbing of Walter Lee Donnell of St. Louis, a fellow prisoner, who had been placed in death row for his own safety because other inmates had said he "squealed."

DeLapp said state highway patrolmen slapped him and beat him with a night stick, and that St. Louis policemen manhandled him to force him to make a statement that he saw two convicts kill Donnell.

Four prisoners were killed in the rioting and 20 were injured.

DeLapp admitted that he threatened to help throw a guard down from a high catwalk, but said it was "only a bluff."

Rollie Laster, first of the seven to be tried, was sentenced to death at Jefferson City in January. Jackie Lee Noble was given a life term there in March. In the case of James W. Stidham, a mistrial was declared at Poplar Bluff in April.

Others to be tried are William H. Hoover, Paul E. Kenton and Joseph M. Vidauri.

WOMAN WHO GOT HIGH SCHOOL DEGREE THIS YEAR DIES AT 94

PROVIDENCE, R.I., June 10 (AP)—Mrs. Mabel Bemis Ranger, 94 years old, who was graduated from St. Johnsbury (Vt.) academy last January, died yesterday.

As a teen-age girl, Mrs. Ranger had nearly completed her four-year course at the academy when her family took her to Boston to study music. Remembering that she had not received her diploma, academy officials decided her musical career more than made up for lack of an out-moded conception of high school studies and she got her diploma. The private commencement exercises were held at the nursing home where Mrs. Ranger lived. She was the widow of Walter E. Ranger, former Rhode Island commissioner of education.

Killed in Fall from Auto.
MADISON, Nebr., June 10 (AP)—Frank Thomas Geary, 2½ years old, exclaimed, "Look Mommy, I can lock the door," as his mother, Mrs. John Geary backed the family automobile out of the home driveway. Frank twisted the latch. The door flew open and he fell to his death. His skull was fractured.

ROBBER RUNS WHEN VICTIM GRABS PISTOL FROM HIM

Glenn Burkart, owner of a drug store at 2633 Franklin avenue, foiled a robbery last night when he grabbed a revolver from a holdup man in the 2600 block of Cole street.

After closing his store, Burkart walked to his automobile which was parked on Cole. He carried a briefcase which contained papers of no monetary value.

As Burkart placed the briefcase on the back seat, the robber, a Negro, stepped to the side of the automobile and said, "Give me that bag." Burkart whirled and snatched the revolver from the man, who fled. The revolver was not loaded, police reported. Burkart lives at 9839 Lenor drive, Affton.

DOCTOR TELLS OF TESTS FOR COLD VACCINE

Washington U. Professor Describes Work Before A.M.A. — Spray Type Is Goal.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 10 (AP)—A vaccine sprayed into the nose might prevent many miseries of the common cold, sinus trouble and other nose and throat infections, a physician said yesterday.

Dr. Theodore E. Walsh of Washington University, St. Louis, told the American Medical Association of tests and experiments aimed at such a vaccine. It would contain dead germs of the kinds causing most of the infections in the nose and throat.

Dr. Walsh, professor of otolaryngology at Washington University School of Medicine, lives at 9 Twin Springs lane, Ladue. He said experimental evidence "points to this local vaccine as a rational approach."

Part of the evidence includes use of such a vaccine by 627 patients, susceptible to respiratory infections, for eight years, with 84 per cent getting some protection, he said.

Viruses are believed to be the cause of the common cold and numerous nose-throat infections. The virus infections usually last only two days to a week, unless complicated by secondary bacterial infection, the physician said.

He declared the bacterial infections coming along at the same time cause more sickness and woe than the viruses do.

Finds Evidence in Studies.

Dr. Walsh said he found evidence in rabbit studies that the spraying of dead germs on membranes of the nose produced antibodies against that type of germ. He added he did not know how the antibodies were produced.

A practical vaccine should contain as many as possible of the kinds of germs causing respiratory infections, and should probably be used daily during the height of the season when respiratory infections are common, he said.

Local use of special vaccines in sinuses might offer a method of treating chronic sinus trouble, he added. The sinuses would be drained, and vaccine placed there in hopes it would produce antibodies to ward off renewed infection.

The A.M.A. went on record yesterday against federal purchase and distribution of the Salk polio vaccine "except for those unable to procure it for themselves."

A resolution approved by the A.M.A. house of delegates urged Congress "to allow the Salk vaccine to be produced, distributed and administered in accordance with past procedures on any new drug or vaccine."

The resolution was a substitute for one on the same subject introduced by Dr. John K. Glen of Houston, Tex., at a meeting of the policy-making house last Monday.

Praise for Dr. Salk.

Another resolution passed yesterday expressed the delegates' "profound gratitude" to Dr. Jonas Salk and "admiration for this monumental contribution to medical science."

The measure said "the physicians of this country recognize" Salk's "great scientific achievement in isolating and perfecting a vaccine for the prevention of poliomyelitis."

Dr. Dwight Harrison Murray, 67-year-old general practitioner from Napa, Calif., was chosen president-elect and will automatically assume the presidency one year from now at the A.M.A.'s 1956 convention in Chicago.

The A.M.A. closed the door yesterday on a proposal to permit doctors of medicine to instruct in schools of osteopathy. Minority Statement Adopted.

The house of delegates approved a minority statement on osteopathy by Dr. Milford O. Rouse of Dallas, Tex., a member of the reference committee on medical education in hospitals. This report called for dismissal with thanks of the entire eight-man committee who reported on Monday its approval of co-operation with the osteopathic profession if the various state medical associations approved.

In accepting the minority report, the A.M.A. decreed that "if and when the House of delegates of the American Osteopathic Association may voluntarily abandon the commonly so-called 'osteopathic concept' with proper deletion of said 'osteopathic concept' from catalogs of their colleges; and may approach the trustees of the A.M.A. with a request for further discussion of the resolutions of osteopathy and medicine, then the trustees shall appoint another special committee for such discussions."

DISGRUNTLED PENGUINS BITE HANDS TO PROTEST DELAY

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 10 (AP)—Six disgruntled penguins, shipped from Lima, Peru, arrived yesterday for the local zoo and promptly started biting hands.

Apparently miffed at a delay that kept them in Mexico City three weeks while Congressional interveners persuaded an airline to bring them to Fort Worth without escort, the birds were in a surly mood.

Among those pecked were a zoo curator, park board official, airline hostess, and Ed Willems, Chicago, representative of Kaiser Aluminum, the firm which donated the birds to the zoo.

U.S. CUTS TARIFF RATES ON SOME SWISS PRODUCTS

Acts to Offset Higher
Watch Duties—Makes Deals With Japan,
Canada, Belgium.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The United States has granted new tariff concessions to Switzerland to compensate for American action in increasing duty rates on foreign watches and watch movements.

At the same time it has agreed to lower some tariffs on exports important to Canada and Belgium to offset congressional moves in boosting duties on fish sticks and rubber-soled shoes.

The announcement followed by a day that of mutual trade concessions between this country and Japan in the first such pact since the Reciprocal Trade Act was passed in 1934.

Swiss Shipments.
The new agreement with Switzerland, negotiated in conferences which ended Wednesday, will affect some $3,100,000 worth of annual Swiss shipments to the United States. Lower rates were agreed on for Swiss hatbands, some handkerchiefs, motion picture cameras and parts, embroidery, measuring and timing devices, surveying instruments, some knit underwear and specified coal-derivative.

Reductions in American duties ranged from 12 1/2 to 50 per cent on most of the items involved, with the average reduction amounting to 44 per cent of present rates.

Switzerland had demanded the new cuts to compensate for the Eisenhower Administration's move in doubling the duty on watch and watch movement imports. This increase was decided on on the ground that it was necessary to bring serious injury to the American watch industry.

Switzerland shipped an average of $37,000,000 of watches and movements into the United States annually until the new rates went into effect. It protested against the United States tariff increase as contrary to the spirit of the trade agreement between the two countries.

To meet Canada's objections, the United States reduced rates on some pickled and salted herring and fresh and frozen crab meat.

Belgium received lower duties on eggs, except chicken eggs, and cotton goods not specifically covered in other agreements.

As for Japan, Senator Sparkman (Dem., Alabama, said today the time may have come for the United States to consider easing restrictions on Japanese exports to Communist China.

Red China Dependence.
The State Department, in announcing the new trade agreement with Tokyo, said a principal purpose is to keep the Japanese from becoming dependent on Red China.

The Administration reduced or froze present rates on some $131,000,000 worth of imports from Japan yearly, as well as on $48,000,000 worth of imports from 16 other countries. The idea of the latter move is to induce these countries to lower their duties on Japanese goods.

In return, Japan cut or froze present tariffs on nearly 50 per cent of its imports from the United States—nearly $400,000,000 worth of raw material, machinery and goods annually.

Department spokesmen gave assurances the United States tariff cuts would not imperil vital American industries by exposing them to competition from cheap Japanese goods. They noted that either minor or no tariff cuts were granted on such things as textiles, coal tar products, cotton garments, optical goods, scientific instruments and chemicals.

Japan's main concession was an agreement not to boost present duties on American cotton, some kinds of coal, soybeans, airplanes and antibiotics.

Admits Misleading Advertising.
CHIPPENHAM, England, June 10 (UP)—C. J. Lytle, L.L., pleaded guilty yesterday of misleading advertising. Prosecuting Attorney C. J. Sears testified that research showed a person would have to eat 170 grapefruit a day to justify a Lytle ad claiming the fruit would "ward off colds, flu and other winter ills."

Flashes of Life

No Co-operation.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Garbage Collector Clarence Eckelmann's plan to inaugurate curb service for the fire department backfired. When Eckelmann's truck caught fire, he stepped on the gas and drove to the nearest fire house, confident that the boys from Engine 68 would dash out with hoses. When he got there, he found the firehouse closed for repairs.

Engine 68, in another station, had to dash more than a mile to put out the portable blaze.

PHONES IN DENVER FEDERAL BUILDING REPORTED TAPPED

DENVER, June 10 (AP)—A telephone cable serving federal courts, law enforcement and other agencies in the Denver Post Office building has been tapped, the Denver Post said yesterday in a copyrighted article.

The newspaper said a recording machine and head phones were found attached to a master cable in the attic of the four-story building.

Telephones served by the tapped wires include the United States circuit court of appeals, United States district court for Colorado, United States attorney, postal inspectors, postmaster, United States marshal and the State Department's investigation office.

Disclosure that the cable had been tapped came when weather bureau employees found the door leading to the attic and roof padlocked. The padlocked door leads from a corridor on the

SYRIA REJECTS U.S. PLEA TO JOIN DEFENSE PACT

DAMASCUS, June 10 (AP)—Syria has in effect rejected a United States request that it join the recently ratified Turkish-Iraqi mutual defense pact. The government says it is determined to continue efforts to organize an Arab defense alliance proposed by Syria, Egypt and Saudi Arabia.

Foreign Minister Khaled el Azam told parliament yesterday that a United States note asking Syria to join the agreement said improvement of Arab-Israeli relations and strengthened regional defense preparations were a prerequisite for American aid in defending the Middle East. He said Syria opposes the Turkish-Iraqi pact because it divides the Arab states.

Nixon Assailed in Condon Case By Critic of U.S. Security Setup

Ex-Solicitor General Charges Program Has Been Perverted 'for Satisfaction of Political Ends.'

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Former Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman charged yesterday that under the Eisenhower Administration the Government's employee security program has been perverted "into instruments for the satisfaction of indefensible political ends and private spleen."

Perlman singled out Vice President Richard Nixon for criticism in the case of Dr. Edward U. Condon, former head of the Bureau of Standards. He said Condon was cleared four times but then had his clearance revoked "at the instance of ruthless politicians to make a sensation during a political campaign."

Moreover, he said there is substantial ground for belief that President Eisenhower's security program, set up in May 1953, is illegal.

Perlman headed the Government's legal staff before the Supreme Court in the Truman Administration. He testified before a Senate Civil Service subcommittee investigating the current program for weeding out Government employees on security charges.

Perlman said many persons believe Mr. Eisenhower's executive order creating the program was "one of the most potent and ruthless weapons against the freedoms and liberties and rights of the people ever promulgated."

Cites Lack of Indictments.
Of the 8008 persons now listed as separated from the Government in security cases, he said, not one has been indicted under a law which prohibits obtaining Government jobs while holding membership in a subversive organization. There is only one who is an alleged Communist, Perlman added, and he was "an obscure person in an unimportant position."

At this point, Senator Frank Carlson of Kansas, only Republican on the subcommittee, interjected with a smile: "Before we get too much politics into this, I think we all can agree that there were individuals in Government who should not have been there and we're glad they're out."

Perlman retorted: "Well, Senator, I belong to a party that was accused of coddling Communists and fostering spies, and I don't think the record justifies that."

Perlman said he is "reluctant to believe that President Eisenhower knows or understands the extent of the evils inherent in the security program. I prefer to believe that the truth has somehow escaped him."

Questions Validity.
As for validity of the program, Perlman said Mr. Eisenhower's order creating it was based on a 1950 law intended to broaden the President's powers only in departments concerned with national security. He declared Congress never intended to cover every department and agency of the Government, but the President's executive order took in all of them.

The Condon case, Perlman said, appeared to him to involve a "renowned scientist, apparently entitled to the lasting gratitude of the nation, persecuted while in public office and hounded while in private employment, his clearance approved by the tribunal charged with responsibility and revoked at the instance of ruthless politicians to make a sensation during a political campaign."

"After being cleared at least three times under loyalty programs previously in force, Dr. Condon became director of research for the Corning Glass Works, New York, and he was again investigated and given a hearing under the industrial security program."

Two days after Dr. Condon's fourth clearance was published, Perlman said, "the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Charles S. Thomas, was announcing on the radio and television that he had revoked Dr. Condon's clearance."

Reference to Nixon.
"The Vice President of the United States, from Butte, Mont., and from other western points, where he was engaged in making speeches in the political campaign when approaching a climax, was quoted as saying that he had intervened in the matter."

"Vice President Nixon had no official duties with respect to the employee security program or the industrial security program. His intervention in the Condon case, assuming he was correctly quoted in the New York Times, is inexplicable except, perhaps, on grounds of political expediency."

Perlman suggested that the main objection to the current security program is an alleged absence of any check on the truth of accusers. He said an employee fired under the program may never know how much of the data in his files was "un-evaluated, unproved and unprovable label, the fruit of the activities of the demagogue, the crackpot, the malicious slanderer, the reckless and irresponsible purveyor of the entirely false and the half-truth, the evil generator of fear and prejudice."

PILOT PULLS OUT OF DIVE SAFELY BUT NICKS HOUSE

RAMSGATE, England, June 10 (UP)—The pilot of a United States Air Force F-85F Jet averted tragedy today when he pulled out of a dive toward a group of houses at the last second.

His supersonic craft nicked the corner of one house and skidded through the back yards of six others. The Air Force identified the pilot as First Lt. John L. Casswell Jr., of Bethesda, Md. He suffered minor injuries.

ADENAUER SAID TO BE OPTIMISTIC ON LESS TENSION

He Believes Big 4 Talks
Have Good Chance of Being Fruitful, Press
Bulletin Says.

BONN, June 10 (AP)—Chancellor Adenauer was quoted today as saying that "the signs of relaxation in world tensions justify a certain optimism."

That view was attributed to him by the bulletin of the government press office in a preview of his visit to the United States and Britain next week.

It added that Adenauer "believes the forthcoming four-power conference has a good chance of bringing results."

No Longer Hopeless.
"The Chancellor no longer considers it as hopeless to bridge the gap between East and West as it used to seem," the bulletin said.

This followed yesterday's declaration from a government spokesman that Adenauer is willing to meet with top Russian leaders after preliminary exchanges to determine the "appropriate circumstances."

The bulletin said Adenauer will present these "fundamentals" to the Western statesmen next week.

1. West Germany "is equally opposed to neutralizing Germany and to the idea of a reunified Germany without any alliances."

2. "The West must be strong and united if further success is to follow on the good results already achieved."

The bulletin added: "Meanwhile, perhaps, the desire for genuine disarmament has become stronger in the East, too."

Chances of negotiating an end to the atomic arms race "are better than they have been for many a decade," the review continued, adding:

Disarmament Bid.
"The realist Adenauer makes a strong bid for disarmament and collective security."

The 79-year-old Chancellor flies in a special Lufthansa airliner from Bonn Sunday night, arriving in Washington Monday morning. He will meet President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Minister Harold Macmillan and possibly French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay while in the United States.

The following Sunday he stops off in Britain on his way back, and is to lunch with Prime Minister Eden.

In Washington, the State Department said the Western Big Three foreign ministers will meet with Adenauer in New York next Friday, to discuss East-West problems.

The American-British-French foreign policy chiefs will begin their talks Thursday, seeking to chart joint positions before meeting with Russia's V. M. Molotov in San Francisco the week of June 20.

Adenauer Would Talk With Bulganin If He Came to Moscow.

MOSCOW, June 10 (AP)—If West German Chancellor Adenauer accepts Moscow's invitation to come here for talks with Soviet leaders he will confer with Premier Bulganin as head of the government and not with Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Khrushchev himself gave that reply last night to a question from Associated Press correspondent Richard Kasichke.

Khrushchev, who took the leading role in the recent Belgrade conferences with President Josip (Tito) Broz of Yugoslavia, was asked:

"After the Belgrade negotiations, will you say whether you personally will negotiate with Adenauer if and when he comes?"

"The negotiations will be with the head of the government," Khrushchev replied.

MOTORIST'S BANK, A GASOLINE TANK,
GIVES UP $25.95

KINGS MOUNTAIN, N.C., June 10 (AP)—A motorist drove into a service station here and asked that his gasoline tank be taken off.

He said that every time he got gasoline, he had been putting the change in the tank. Lately his car had been sputtering and he said he thought it was time to empty the "bank."

Inside the tank was $25.95 in half dollars, quarters, dimes, nickels and pennies. He saved only $21.45, however, because it cost him $4.50 to have the tank emptied and put back on.

BOY SUFFERS LEG FRACTURE WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Herman Haegle Jr., 12 years old, was in City Hospital today with a fracture of the left leg suffered last night when he was struck at Eleventh and Ferry streets by an automobile driven by a youth who said he was David Bishop, 4317 North Eleventh. The Haegle child lives with his parents at 4332 North Eleventh.

Bishop told police the boy darted into the path of his machine, making the accident unavoidable. Police booked Bishop, an 18-year-old construction worker, on a charge of felonious wounding.

Miss Vida Bennett, 1936 Stedman court, Overland, was knocked down, bruised and cut last night as she was crossing Kingshighway at Ridge avenue. Witnesses reported the automobile that struck her hesitated and the driver looked out, laughed and then drove on. Miss Bennett was treated at DePaul Hospital.

Mrs. Stella Pigago, 76 years old, 5819 Woodland avenue, was in DePaul Hospital today with a fractured hip suffered yesterday when he was struck by an automobile at Union boulevard and Natural Bridge avenue. Driver of the machine was Miss Margaret Kenefick, Union, Mo.

JACKSON CALLS FOR STEP-UP IN ATOMIC OUTPUT

Senator Says Weapons Increase Must Be in Addition to Plane Production Rise.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Senator Jackson (Dem., Wash.), said today "it is now apparent there will have to be a step-up of the United States atomic weapons production schedule."

The Senator emphasized he was talking about the whole family of atomic weapons and said "we may have to provide for additional new production facilities."

He said this step-up must be in addition to the increased production of jet military aircraft just announced.

Jackson talked to reporters after a secret session of the Senate House Atomic Energy subcommittee that he heads. The subcommittee deals with military applications of atomic energy.

The Senator previously had urged that this country start building jet aircraft at a much faster rate. He did this shortly after reports of the greatly advanced Russian jet planes were made public.

Today, Jackson repeated his belief that the only way America can keep ahead of Russia in the air is "to step up vastly our production of modern jet aircraft—both fighters and inter-continental bombers."

As for atomic weapons, the Senator said this country cannot hope to match the Russians in manpower and that it must concentrate on maintaining a heavy edge in fire power.

"The only way to maintain our military posture is through air-atomic superiority," he asserted. "Now we face the threat of losing that."

Jackson said atomic weapons and the means of delivering them are equally important. It is in the field of delivery that Russia has made the most menacing advances recently, he added.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme commander for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris, was the witness at the hearing.

However, Jackson said his views on the necessity for boosting production of atomic weapons were his own and not those of Gruenther.

The Senator did say he had reached his conclusions on the basis of "professional military testimony" and not on that of civilians.

Jackson declared that the federal budget "is the Number 1 enemy in trying to maintain our atomic superiority."

Gen. Taylor in New Delhi, NEW DELHI, June 10 (UP)—Gen. Maxwell Taylor, new United States Army Chief of Staff, arrived from Tokyo last night for a two-day visit. He said his visit was purely social. He is on his way to the United States.

TOP DEFENSE OFFICIALS URGE DRAFT EXTENSION

Wilson, Radford, Hershey, Others Plead Also for Passage of Stalled Reserve Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (UP)—Top military and civilian officials today urged extension of the draft and added a new plea for approval of President Eisenhower's stalled reserve bill.

Their requests were made to the Senate Armed Services Committee which is considering a four-year extension of the regular draft and a two-year extension of so-called doctor draft.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, Assistant Secretaries Carter L. Burgess and Dr. Frank L. Berry, and Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, urged approval of the draft measures.

Radford commented, however, that even if the draft measure is approved, "there will still remain an important deficiency in our defense program which must be remedied, namely the serious shortcomings in our reserve program."

Congressional leaders believe they have hit on strategy for rescuing the President's military reserve bill. It now is bottled up in the House. The strategy now envisions Senate passage first without an anti-segregation provision which caused the House roadblock.

Radford on Red Air Strength. Radford warned of increases in Soviet air strength and anticipated improvements in the Red guided missile program. It did not appear, he said, that the Russians "relinquish pursuit of world domination will abate in any measurable degree within the foreseeable future."

Wilson commented that the draft itself is "an essential element" in the President's reserve plan. He said the draft and the reserve plan "taken together" are the best solution to defense problems.

Berry said that without a two-year extension of the doctor draft the services could get neither the number of physicians they need nor the necessary degree of experience.

Hershey Sees No Alternative. Hershey said he believed some months ago that the medical draft might not have to be extended. But he said a study has convinced him that there is "no other alternative."

Hopes for salvaging Mr. Eisenhower's military reserve program now appears to rest entirely in the House.

Southern Democrats, who have been the main supporters of the bill, will not vote for it unless the House abandons an amendment sponsored by Representative Adam Clayton Powell (Dem., N. Y.), a Negro, forbidding assignment of reservists to segregated units of the National Guard. Powell, who got the amendment written into the bill with the help of opponents of the reserve program, served notice yesterday that he would not "retreat one inch."

School Bill. He announced also he would offer a similar amendment to a school construction bill if it comes before the House.

Strategy Described. As described by one congressional leader, here is the strategy being developed to bypass the segregation issue and push the reserve plan through Congress:

1. The Senate would pass a bill along the lines originally requested by President Eisenhower, without an anti-segregation amendment.

'Pickets' for KETC Fund Drive

2. When the Senate bill reached the House, it would go to the House Armed Services Committee. The House committee would once again report out substantially the Administration bill, minus the anti-segregation provision.

3. When the bill reached the House floor, it is assumed that the anti-segregation amendment would again be offered by Powell. But House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Republican leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., were said to be confident that the amendment would be defeated in a new test. Their confidence stems largely from the urgent plea Mr. Eisenhower made for passage of the reserve plan without injection of the segregation issue.

4. Even if the segregation amendment should be approved by the House again, the bill would go to a Senate-House conference committee. The committee could strike out the segregation amendment. When the bill returned to the House floor, the House would have to vote the entire bill up or down, with no opportunity for an anti-segregation amendment to be offered.

One important condition in this strategy would be assurance that the segregation issue would not be raised in the Senate. That would be the task of Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, who has taken over the job of steering the reserve bill through the Senate.

St. Louisans Urge Draft Deferrals for Technologists. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 10—Dr. Philip Powers of St. Louis, representing the United States Chamber of Commerce, yesterday advocated repeated student and occupational deferrals from military service to enable this country to meet scientific competition from potential enemies.

Dr. Powers, director of the atomic project of the Monsanto Chemical Co., who lives at 1002 West Big Bend road, Kirkwood, testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee on legislation to extend selective service for four years after June 30, when the present law expires.

Dr. Powers argued that the present law sets mental and physical standards so high that between one-fourth and one-third of men eligible for draft are exempt. He said one result is that incompetents are excused from service while men with special scientific skills are called up.

The number of scientists and engineers now deferred is almost 50 per cent below the figure of two years ago, Dr. Powers said, despite the fact that "much of the technological edge that the United States once enjoyed over Soviet Russia already has been lost."

WESTERN TRUCKERS AND AFL SET TO END 3-WEEK TIEUP

LOS ANGELES, June 10 (AP)—Federal Conciliator John L. Fenton announced early today that western truckers and AFL teamster representatives have reached an agreement to end the three-week long haul trucking tieup in 11 western states.

The agreement, terms of which were not immediately disclosed, is subject to approval by various teamster union locals.

Fenton said details will not be released until after locals have voted. He directed that the trucking association's proposals be submitted to the locals by secret ballot.

Originally the teamsters sought 10 cents more this year and 8 cents more each of the next two years. In many sections of the West, pay under the expired contract was $2.14 hourly or 7 1/4 cents a mile. The strike began May 19.

KETC FUND CAMPAIGN EXTENDED TO JUNE 24

Less Than 5 Pct. of $150,000 Goal Obtained in First Day of Drive.

The $150,000 door-to-door drive for funds to operate KETC (Channel 9), the St. Louis area's educational television station, has been extended through June 24, Shelby Storck, KETC's general manager, announced today. Less than 5 per cent of the goal was reported obtained yesterday after the first day of solicitation Wednesday.

A group of 54 students from University City schools "picketed" the station at Millbrook and Big Bend boulevards yesterday in an effort to dramatize to passers-by the plight of the station.

Organization of workers is under way in St. Louis county, where 84 of the 160 school districts list their canvassing teams as now operating, Storck said. In the city, 76 of the 107 districts now have workers taking part in the campaign.

Storck paid special tribute to work being done by members of parent-teacher associations, mothers' clubs and other school-affiliated groups.

"Failure in the campaign will mean sharp curtailment in educational services to the community," Storck said. "This will result in fewer locally produced programs such as those which have brought national recognition to St. Louis."

Five of the programs produced by KETC have been chosen for national distribution by the Educational Television and Radio Center, Ann Arbor, Mich. Included are "The Religions of Man," "Before There Was a U.S.A.," "The Finder," "Festival of Music" and "Science in Sight."

KETC, a non-commercial station, is operated by the St. Louis Educational Commission, with its studio in the Julius and Freda Baer Memorial on the Washington University campus and transmitter on St. Louis Berthold avenue.

MARRIED MONKS RAID UNMARRIED IN SEOUL, 2 HURT

SEOUL, June 10 (AP)—The war between South Korea's married and unmarried Buddhist monks broke out again today. Police said a 37-year-old monk, slashed in the abdomen, and a 64-year-old nun, beaten and mauled, were in grave condition after 300 married monks invaded a downtown Seoul temple where 200 unmarried monks and nuns were fasting.

More than 20 others, apparently on both sides, were injured, and 30 others were taken to police stations for investigation.

Police said the married monks made a surprise raid on the temple, from which they were forcibly ejected some months ago. The unmarried monks and nuns want the South Korean Government to enforce its ban on married monks, who still occupy some 1000 temples. The Government has given them until the end of this month to get out.

The unmarried monks say they want to rid the priesthood of worldly elements, such as wives. The married monks say they are upholding separation of church and state.

Civil War Veteran 'Fine as Ever.' DULUTH, Minn., June 10 (AP)—Albert Woolson, last Union Army veteran of the Civil War, returned home yesterday after being in a hospital 10 days with a lung congestion. The 108-year-old veteran, apparently recovered after the third such attack this year, reported he felt "just as fine as ever."

U.S. Fingerprinting Repugnant
To Britons Who Apply for Visa;
Reds Exploit This ResentmentAmerican Entry Restrictions in Striking Contrast to Rules of Other NATO Nations — British Find Fear of Communism Laughable.By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1955, The Pulitzer Publishing Co.)

LONDON, June 10.

IF THERE is one thing that almost every Britisher brings up sooner or later in talking with an American visitor, it is the necessity to be fingerprinted in order to obtain a visa to go to America. Not only in Britain but throughout Europe, this requirement of the McCarran-Walter act has done America great harm, and Communist propaganda has continuously and cleverly exploited it.

In this country, and the same is true throughout most of Western Europe, a citizen is fingerprinted only after he has been arrested on certain fairly serious charges. The entire connotation is one of criminality and police surveillance. Europeans find it difficult to relate this to America, the land of the free and the home of the brave, the traditional refuge of the oppressed and the persecuted.

Only visitors on an official mission are exempt from the fingerprinting requirement. So when the Archbishop of Canterbury went to America last year to take part in the meeting of the World Council of Churches his fingerprints were taken before he was granted a visa. This produced an angry outburst, the columnist who signs himself Cassandra in the mass circulation daily, the Mirror, denouncing America for imposing such a "police state practice" on all visitors.

Striking Contrast. Particularly striking is the contrast with other countries in the North Atlantic treaty alliance. With the exception of Turkey, the American visitor needs no visa to enter any of the NATO countries. His American passport is sufficient.

The question has been raised several times in the House of Commons, most recently by V. F. Yates, a Labor member, who called on Sir Anthony Eden, then Foreign Secretary, to say what other countries required fingerprinting. This was an obvious move by the anti-American wing of the Labor party to show up the fact that the United States is the only country with such a requirement. While the Iron Curtain countries grant very few visas to visitors, when the decision is taken with respect to a particular individual, there is little or no red tape.

Selwyn Lloyd Replies. Replying to Yates, who had himself been fingerprinted before a visit to America, Selwyn Lloyd, then Minister of State in the Foreign Office, said that representations had been made to the American embassy here to try to insure that a visa would be good for more than one journey. According to Lloyd, the reply from Washington was that fingerprinting would not be necessary for each separate journey. Pointing out that the McCarran-Walter act carefully defines the classes of aliens eligible for diplomatic and official visas, Lloyd said:

"These classes alone are exempted from the fingerprinting requirements. The important point, however, is that the exemption applies only in the case of official journeys. . . . We have frequently discussed the matter with the United States authorities and hope that . . . further modifications may eventually be introduced."

Some Philistine. Some Britons are philistine about the business of being fingerprinted. You have a big country, they say with a certain irony, and by recording our fingerprints you insure that we will never be lost. But there is no doubt that it is alien to something deep in the British temperament.

Even during World War II when the danger of invasion and infiltration was so great, the identity card, carried by all persons under wartime regulations did not have the picture of the individual affixed to it. It merely gave the name, sex, "over 21" and place of residence. A photograph was considered an invasion of the individual's privacy.

As a consequence, there was a wide abuse of the identity cards. American officials have long considered British security practices too lax. That has been a source of contention in relation to the exchange of atomic information so often discussed in both Washington and London. Major breaches of security have occurred here such as the flight behind the Iron Curtain of the physicist, Bruno Pontecorvo, who had been carrying on important work in Britain's hush-hush atomic laboratories. Pontecorvo, who was only recently deprived officially of his British citizenship, has been reported to have been lent by the Russians to aid in developing China's atomic reactor.

Security Breaches in U.S. Too. But we in America, as Britons sometimes point out, have also suffered serious breaches of security despite our stringent regulations. Consider, the American visitor is told, the harm that you may be doing to the right of free inquiry.

You can hear Communists on any fair day at the soap box corner in Hyde Park with the crowd that pauses momentarily heeding or kidding the speaker. In the recent election the small Communist fraction of the vote dropped slightly and in almost every district in which they were entered the Communist candidate failed to receive the minimum percentage of the vote required if he was not to lose the deposit which all candidates must put up as a pledge of good faith.

Communist influence is still important in some unions. This influence is said to have had a great deal to do with calling off 700 workers who succeeded in shutting down the entire press of London for three weeks. This same influence has had nothing to do with the current rail and dock strikes.

Communism is not a "scare word" here if only because the average Briton seems so sure of his national identity and of his close relationship with his fellow citizens. What he stands for is rooted in the past of a people who have fought stubbornly through the centuries with kings and despots for their freedom. The idea that any substantial number of Britons could be converted, short of a complete breakdown of society, to the alien doctrine of Communism seems simply laughable.

PROPOSES VISIT TO YUGOSLAVIA
SHOWED UP RUSSIAN LEADERS
CINCINNATI, June 10 (AP)—Thurston B. Morton, assistant secretary of state, said yesterday Russian leaders showed "weakness and political immaturity" in their Yugoslav visit which could wreck Communist control of the satellite countries.

"Nikita S. Khrushchev showed his political immaturity and weaknesses of the Russian government to the entire world," Morton told a meeting of bar members. "There is no one strong man in Russia."

Soviet Transforming War-Leveled Stalingrad
Into Impressive and Important Industrial CityDivided Into Three Modern Communities It Covers 40
Miles of Riverfront.By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1955, The Pulitzer Publishing Co.)

STALINGRAD, June 10.

THIS industrial city of 500,000 on the banks of the lower Volga which repulsed the Germans in 1943 is getting the heroic and monumental treatment in city planning.

I was skeptical of the extensive building in Moscow because as a national capital it is a show-place as well as the central guiding point of the government and the economy. On the other hand, Leningrad had been unimpressive because, superficially at least, only the war damage appeared to have been changed.

Stalingrad may be unique because of its courageous stand during the war and the fact that its factories and homes were almost completely leveled by air bombing and artillery fire for six months. It offered an unparalleled opportunity for complete city planning and the government appears to be making the most of it, not only in the location of factories on the old sites but with the apartment and single unit home buildings.

Extending 40 miles on the riverfront, this city, comparable in length to Los Angeles, is divided into three communities: The center with its government and commercial buildings, the north with the large tractor and metallurgical plants, and the south, where a new community is being built at the eastern end of the Stalingrad-Rostov canal, finished in 1952, which diverts part of the Volga waters from the Caspian to the Black sea and is making Stalingrad an important shipping as well as industrial center.

Recalls Visit in 1931. I visited here in 1931, and my memories are of intense heat, old buildings of red brick in the center, and new apartment houses being built for the workers in the new tractor plant. At that time the new apartments were the showpiece. They were on broad streets and had extensive gardens. Only a few of the workmen's houses were being built near the tractor plant are standing, and some show the marks of German shells. Most have been razed, and larger and better-built apartments have taken their place.

The workmanship on the apartments leaves much to be desired from American standards, but for the Russians they are a great improvement. More impressive building is going on in the center of the city, with a large open space called "The Square of the Fallen Warriors" from which radiate a park and broad boulevards. Every building on the square is new, including a theater seating 1500 persons. One of the principal avenues is the Street of Peace. The explanation is that no one appreciates peace as much as the Stalingraders. On other streets there are banners reading "Peace for the Whole World."

The most dramatic improvement is on the river embankment, with its wide view of the Volga factories, shipbuilding plants and river steamers. A wide boulevard already partly built will extend the length of the city, north and south.

My greatest surprise was the thousands of single and double unit dwellings, mostly prefabricated, being built. In the south, on the road to the canal, nearly all the new housing I had seen was apartment houses of two to five rooms for which rent is low compared with the United States.

Good apartments in good locations are one of the greatest incentives under the Soviet system, more than equivalent to pay increases.

Loans for New Homes. I was told many Stalingraders preferred to live in their own homes, and eroded ravines leading to the river are filled with makeshift shacks of the most primitive type. New homes with small gardens are being built 10 to 15 miles from the center on good level ground, for which the municipality advances 10,000 roubles, which at the official exchange rate is $2500. The loan must be repaid in 10 years. I was told these homes could be sold or left to heirs.

Massive stairway, built in war-devastated area of Stalingrad, rises from the Volga river to a boulevard and then leads to another height overlooking the waterway and the city which was rebuilt by the Russians after being ravaged by German forces in World War II. At right is a musical comedy theater. Picture was taken last year by a correspondent of the New York Times and was copyrighted by the New York Times Co.

They have electricity, but no running water. Apartments have both, plus bathrooms. Between the first and second canal locks are one- and two-unit dwellings of workers on the canal, which was conceived by Peter the Great but not begun until 1949, by the Communists. Large apartments are being built in this area, which is known as the Red Army section of Stalingrad.

Wide streets and parks are planned, but not yet in being. This could be a parklike living area with close access to a placid stretch of the Volga where the entrance to the canal is dominated by a 90-foot copper statue of Stalin on a 125-foot granite base. At the canal's western end, a comparable statue to Lenin is under construction.

Plastic Model of Project. When the city plan is completed, Stalingrad will have a 1,600,000 kilowatt hydro-electric dam at the north and the canal at the south. The plan was explained to me at the Institute of Architects by architect Ephim J. Levitan, 39 years old, who has been working on the project since 1943. He said the plan for the center of the city was more than half completed. With a large plastic model, covering a table more than 25 feet long, he pointed out what had been built, is being built, and is planned.

Because of the city's intense heat, one major feature of the plan is to quadruple the park space and the number of trees. The general style of office buildings and apartments is European, with courts in the square of eight and ten-story structures. The axis of the plan on the end, a comparable statue to Lenin is under construction.

Model is a skyscraper for the Stalingrad Soviet similar to the Moscow skyscrapers which Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev has branded as inefficient. The architect thought the height of this proposed building would be changed, but its oversize would be retained.

WEST GERMANY TAKES FIRST STEP IN JOINING U.N. AGENCY
MONTREAL, June 10 (AP)—West Germany has cleared the first hurdle toward joining a United Nations agency.

The International Civil Aviation Organization, which regulates world air traffic, voted 51 to 0 yesterday to admit the Bonn republic. Israel abstained. Before becoming a member of the U.N. agency, West Germany must get approval of two thirds of the 60-nation General Assembly and assent of all states the Nazis attacked in World War II.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong; whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Fresh Thinking

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Most editorials on foreign policy in American newspapers rest on these assumptions:

That totalitarian Communism as embodied in the Soviet Union is the greatest evil that now threatens men; that this evil can be met effectively only by violence or at least by the threat of violence; that it will be possible behind a wall of military strength to undertake the long-range programs of a positive and constructive character which are the real foundations of peace and justice among men.

The American Friends Service Committee, in a carefully reasoned 70-page study of United States foreign policy, titled "Speak Truth to Power," has challenged each of these assumptions. This study warrants serious consideration across the country, and I fear it is not likely to get it.

For most of us have accepted the assumption of war, and believe that the threat of pain we can cause to other men is all that protects the future of freedom and free men. The Friends do not so believe.

But belief is not the issue here. The weapons we now command to "protect the free world" are capable, if used by us on a large scale, of wiping out mankind. We have no alternative but a fresh approach, based on the conviction that peace is as important to every other nation as to our own.

Because I believe this is a time when fresh thinking is desperately needed, I have joined Robert M. Hutchins, Hans Morgenthau, Norbert Wiener, Erich Fromm and Gordon Allport in writing to certain thoughtful men across the country about this publication. This study deserves the attention of anyone who is thinking seriously about the problem of war and American foreign policy.

All Washed Up

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
When I read your May 24 editorial, "Full Value for Every Dollar," I felt that I should report that I, too, am for seeing that every dollar should have an aquarium as covered in Proposition No. 10 of the $87,372,500 bond issue approved in 1923.

The contest on Proposition 10 was proposed by "A. Booster" and was conducted by the old St. Louis Star. A member of our household won the first prize and naturally we all watched for the aquarium to shape up in Forest Park.

You may imagine our disappointment when on Dec. 9, 1945, some 22 years later, we read in the Post-Dispatch that the head of the aquarium was headed: "Aquarium Washed Up, Sponsors Find City Canceled the Bonds." The article went on to explain that this spelled "finis" to Proposition 10 of the 1923 Bond issue.

And Also for More Doctors

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I read with interest a reprint in the Atlanta Journal of a recent editorial from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, entitled, "The Shortage of Engineers."

I am very much in favor of your plan and believe the same action should be taken regarding the medical profession. To relieve the shortage of doctors I certainly believe a good number should be admitted over and above the immigration quota every year.

Perhaps a plan could be worked out to subsidize them for a period after they enter the country and get them started in business.

Searching for Peace

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I wish to thank you and to commend you most highly for the excellent series of articles you have been publishing on "The Struggle for Peace." Have you considered putting out reprints of these?

It is heartening to sense the high moral leadership which the editorial policy of your newspaper has been maintaining. I trust it will continue increasingly in this fine leadership for years to come.

Tall Shrubs at St. Albans

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
With respect to the controversy in this column over whether the dogwood is a tree or a shrub, perhaps you can find space for this so as to set the record straight. Numerous Franklin county farmers will back me up.

As late as last weekend I sat on a fallen dogwood in a deep wooded valley at St. Albans. It was a dogwood at least 14 inches in diameter and more than 25 feet tall. Its brothers and sisters in the area match its size.

Now, tree or not? I'll look around for the mothers and fathers in a few weeks to know they are there and some are even larger than the ones mentioned.

I suggest that Reader L. L. Richardson try chopping up a mature dogwood—then try to reduce it to a shrub in his missives to you.

We Must Keep in Front

Secretary of Defense Wilson evidently has lost a good deal of the complacency that he has displayed in regard to national defense. A year ago he was talking of Soviet Russia building a "defensive" air force. Three weeks ago he was quite unperturbed when the controversy broke about the Moscow air parade and whether or not the Russians had taken a lead over us in some important phases of air power.

But last week Secretary of the Air Force Talbott ordered production of the giant B-52 jet intercontinental bomber speeded up by 35 per cent and this week Mr. Wilson appeared before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee to make some very significant requests.

Just a week before his appearance, the Hoover Commission report on research and development in the Government had been released. Some of what it had to say was strikingly appropriate to the current defense situation:

The armed services are not sufficiently daring and imaginative in their approach to radically new weapons, and weapons systems; they do not do enough basic research; their organization and procedures are inadequate.

This evidence may well have played a part in the requests that Secretary Wilson made. He sought an increase of $356,000,000 over the $5,590,000,000 approved by the House of Representatives for plane production. Even more noteworthy was his request for $10,000,000 in extra funds for emergency research and development and for authority to transfer an additional $50,000,000 from other military funds for the same purpose. The original appropriation for this purpose was only $25,000,000. Mr. Wilson seemingly has moved to make up a serious deficiency.

The seriousness of this deficiency was emphasized Wednesday in Washington by one of Secretary Wilson's right hand men, Trevor Gardner, Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Research and Development. Addressing the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, he said that the possibilities of devastating surprise attack on the United States "are very real."

The advice that he gave for meeting this alarming situation was calm, concise and reasoned. It would, as he said, be folly to attempt to outbuild the Russians plane for plane. Instead, the United States should spend larger sums than ever before on research and development.

If Secretary Gardner's suggestion were followed, it seems certain that we could "build weapons of such superior ingenuity, performance and effect as to override the enemy's ability to attack us or to defend himself." However, our scientists and engineers must have the "go" signal from the Department of Defense.

For several years there have been choruses of warnings and criticisms from members of Congress, scientists and military leaders to the effect that Russia has been crowding us in the development of new weapons and outproducing us in the graduating of scientists and engineers.

Appropos of this, Sir Francis Simon, professor of thermodynamics at Oxford, writes in the London Financial Times that Russia was making an effort in the field of science while there was little organized direction in the United States.

He also charged that an over-emphasis on prevention of espionage in the United States "has given the public the impression that the Russians can proceed only by stealing secrets." The truth, he said, is that they are progressing so rapidly because they are intent on producing scientists and making full use of them.

In this age of hydrogen bombs, jet planes and atomic submarines, with intercontinental ballistic missiles looming on the horizon, any failure in maintaining an adequate defense could have fatal results. Mr. Wilson evidently is trying to make up for lost time. There is no reason why this nation cannot do so. But the time should not have been lost in the first place and there should be no more stumbling and no more smugness. Let's get on!

When Imitation Is No Flattery

If the people of Thailand are seriously considering westernizing their greeting habits, they are making a mistake, and somebody should tell them so.

Traditionally, the Thais, like other Oriental peoples, perform the "wai" instead of shaking hands. They bow the head slightly while holding the hands together at forehead or chest.

When Thailand's Premier Pibul Songgram called on President Eisenhower, the latter quite properly stuck out his hand instead of performing the "wai." Now the Bangkok press is said to be campaigning for substitution of the handshake for the "wai," as evidence that Thailand is on the Western side in the cold war.

We hope the Thais will take second thought. Nobody needs to give up national customs or habits in order to prove friendship for the West. Indeed more diversity, instead of less, should be the objective. President Eisenhower, greeting Pibul Songgram on his own ground, was simply being himself. We advise the Thais to do the same.

The Public Housing Game

This year's version of the public housing game has begun in Congress with Senate passage of a bill authorizing construction of 135,000 units a year for four years. If such a bill were to be finally enacted into law, the effect would be to restore the public housing program to the stature which Congress authorized when it passed the Housing Act of 1949.

But everybody takes for granted that nothing like a 540,000-unit program will be finally enacted. By the rules of the game, the Senate adopts a big program, the House adopts a little one or none at all, and then they compromise somewhere in between, with a few crippling technical limitations thrown in for makeweight.

This year, at least, the bargaining begins from the highest point yet reached on the Senate side. Unfortunately the Senate bargainers are not getting much support from the White House, which has asked for only 35,000 units a year for two years. After attending the legislative conference with President Eisenhower, Senate Minority Leader Knowland announced that the Administration still stands on its own smaller program.

House Republican Leader Martin "remarked with a smile," according to the press dispatches, that on the basis of past performance he would be surprised if the House approved even as many units as the President requested.

We are not surprised that Mr. Martin said it with a smile. For by backing a token program instead of the one Congress originally adopted under leadership of the late Senator Robert A. Taft, the Administration is playing on the House rather than the Senate side of the game.

Thus the Republicans manage to be both for public housing, through their Administration, and against it, through their House membership—which a year ago voted 3-to-1 against the program.

The forgotten people in this intricate political game are the low-income families now living in urban slums, who depend upon public housing if they are to get into a decent home environment. Their needs—as well as the urban renewal needs of the cities in which they live—cannot be measured in the political equations of the public housing game.

Good Moves on Two Fronts

On two fronts good wage moves have been made in Congress. Each is to be applauded.

In what must be close to record time following a veto, both branches have passed the revised postal pay bill, introduced by the Democratic leadership. The bill, which includes the reclassification authority asked for by the Postmaster General, has now been signed by President Eisenhower. We are glad to see the President approve the third of the three postal pay increase bills presented to him by Congress. Approval was made easier this time by the decision of the White House not to insist on compensating increases in postal rates to make up the pay increase.

Congressional sentiment was made crystal clear when the House passed the 8 per cent increase version 407 to 1. Republican Sterling Cole of New York being the only dissenter. The Senate approved without recorded opposition.

How fast a chamber can act when it wants to was demonstrated in the handling of the minimum-wage bill. One day the Senate Labor Committee approved the motion of Senator Douglas of Illinois to increase the minimum rate from 75 cents an hour to $1. The next day the bill is called up on the Senate floor and passed with a whoop.

The $1 minimum ought to pass the House almost as quickly. If anything is demonstrated it is that a worker ought to have at least that much an hour. Indeed Republican Senator Ives of New York proposed that the bottom be set at $1.25 an hour, as recommended by the CIO and AFL.

This lost in the committee, 5 votes to 8, but sentiment was far stronger for $1.25 than the 90-cent minimum called for by President Eisenhower. For when Republican Senator Allott of Colorado put the Eisenhower figure before the committee, only two of the 15 committee members voted for it—Republicans Allott and Smith of New Jersey. All other Republicans voted with the Democrats in snowing the 90-cent figure rate under.

To a degree even the $1 rate is academic. Of the 23,000,000 workers to whom minimum wages in interstate industries now apply, 21,000,000 already receive $1 an hour or more. Since no new workers are covered it is hard to see why the White House would insist on 90 cents. Surely the President will not make the mistake of vetoing the $1 rate.

Add to 48

House Democrats face a possible bolt away from support of the Gore road program, the Republican New York Herald Tribune reports. The reason for this was expressed by Senator Kennedy, lone Democrat to vote against the Gore plan when the Senate passed it. He concluded that his state of Massachusetts would gain more in direct federal aid from the rival Administration road plan than from the Gore plan.

There are at least 92 Democratic Congressmen from states which also would get larger highway benefits from the Eisenhower Administration bill, the Herald Tribune finds.

In "practical" politics a Representative often acts purely in the interest of his one state, but this attitude toward federal road building will not add up as practical for 48 states. The Administration road program would cost considerably more than the Gore plan, and not only because it would build more roads. It would require the Federal Government to assume an even larger share in road building, and on top of the increased state aid the plan would add costly interest charges for special bonds to finance the aid.

The nation's taxpayers would in the end pay more for the Administration highway program than for the Gore plan—and that includes taxpayers in Massachusetts and every other state in the Union.

In Case You Missed It

St. Louisans owe the Illinois Bankers Association a vote of thanks. The Illinois bankers held their convention here this week, and that is why there was parked in front of Hotel Jefferson Thursday the "Mobile Office, Warren Wright, Illinois State Treasurer." And that was something to see.

We heard it first. Our ears picked up pretty music floating along Twelfth boulevard, obviously from an amplifier. Following the tuneless route, we found ourselves at a vast flag-bedecked trailer (we stepped it off and found it to be nearly 50 feet long), hooked to a dashing Super-Buick convertible, cream yellow and pearl gray, with deep red covers battenning down the lowered top. A quick check showed no license plates on the convertible or the trailer, front or back.

The latch string was out so we entered at the forward door. Inside we found a three-room suite, with natural birch, pegged paneling and desk furniture to match. In the fore and aft rooms were commodious green leather chairs. Tasteful, figured drapes decorated the windows and rich gray carpeting covered the floor, wall to wall. There was a simulated cashier's cage without a cashier or other indication of treasury operations. In the middle room played the tape-recorded music machine that had led us inside.

On one desk stood a pile of the March, 1955, monthly reports of Mr. Wright. At the aft end was an enlarged picture showing Mr. Wright receiving a silver or gold plate (hard to tell which) from friends on being inducted into office at Springfield. Near the aft door was a plaque which read: "Amvets Americanism Citation, Warren Wright, 1954." But nowhere, at the moment at least, was Treasurer Wright.

We were about to step out aft, when a knowledgeable looking gentleman entered. We put our questions to him. He said taxpayers of Illinois were not out a cent, that the "Mobile Office" was paid for by "1,000,000 friends of Warren Wright." He said it had only recently been put on the road and that it probably would "make every county fair in Illinois this year."

We suggested that it appeared to have everything but a banner announcing exactly what office Mr. Wright intends to seek in 1956. The knowledgeable gentleman's eyes danced. "On that," he said, "Warren's got 'em all guessed."

President Eisenhower says that a sick world cannot be "miraculously cured" at the proposed Big Four conference. If someone does show up with a good vaccine let's hope it won't be bungled.

ANGUS: WANTA PLAY ME 56 HOLES?

The Democrats Like Ike

The Mirror
Public Opinion

Despite campaign promises to fight Eisenhower Administration on many policies, Democrats in Congress have often proved willing allies; have given President better support than G.O.P. on foreign policy but record on domestic issues is also revealing.

Robert L. Riggs, Washington Correspondent of The Louisville Courier-Journal, in the New Republic

In 1955 Republicans, on the average, displayed less enthusiasm in upholding the President on his major proposals to Congress than they did in 1954. Democratic support of Mr. Eisenhower, on the other hand, increased greatly between 1954 and 1955.

	Republican		Democrat
Support:
Both Chambers	74%	64%	39%	57%
Senate	68	74	40	60
House	77	61	39	56
Opposition:
Both Chambers	18	24	46	34
Senate	24	11	47	27
House	15	27	45	36

Who remembers that when the Democrats assumed control of Congress last January, they were going to create there the issues which would make it impossible for a Republican presidential nominee, even one so popular as Dwight D. Eisenhower, to win in 1956?

Of that dream about all the Democrats have left is the fervent hope they can get House and Senate out of town before their members go farther in revealing the outstanding political fact of our times. That fact is that the Democrats like what Ike likes better than do most members of his own party.

Face to Face With Facts

The ludicrous aspect to this revelation is that it came at the moment when the Democrats' national spokesmen finally screwed their courage to the point of making direct attacks upon the hitherto untouchable Eisenhower.

They have accepted the obvious truth that they can't win a presidential election next year by arguing, as they did in the congressional contests last year, that they would support Eisenhower better than the Republicans would.

But whether they meant it or not in their campaign speeches, the Democrats have demonstrated that their hearts still belong to Eisenhower.

This is most easily demonstrated, of course, in the realm of foreign affairs. What is not so clear is that, for all their talk, most congressional Democrats feel cozy comfortable in the dynamic, conservative-progressive middle-of-the-roadism to which Dwight Eisenhower rather vaguely and fuzzily is dedicated in domestic affairs.

The statistics compiled by Congressional Quarterly tell the story pretty clearly. On 40 significant rollcalls since January, the Democrats supported the President 57 per cent of the time. To be sure, their record wasn't as good as that achieved by the Republicans. Under the whip and lash of party discipline, and always aware that they have to have Eisenhower in 1956 if they hope to win, the Republicans gave him their support 64 per cent of the time.

The difference, you might say, is that most Democratic support was a free-ill offering to the Republican President.

Statistics Tell Part of Story

On 18 tests involving the nation's relations with other countries, the Democrats liked Ike a lot better than did his Republicans. They were with him 69 per cent of the time, while the Republicans stood with him only 52 per cent of the time on foreign policy.

But the rollcalls don't tell the whole story on domestic issues. It's what happened, or failed to happen, in the quiet of committees which reflects how completely the Democrats have failed to develop the issues over which they burned with flaming zeal in January.

There was, you may have forgotten, the matter of public power versus private power. The Democratic victory in the congressional elections, narrow though it was, was to be the signal for driving the private power lobbyists out of their seats of power. It was going to be the end of Dixon-Yates, the end of Interior Secretary McKay's deals to keep the hydroelectric sites of the Far West out of the hands of private power advocates. But Dixon-Yates goes on unabated, and McKay still follows the "partnership" policy so dear to this Administration.

Next to the power issue, the Democrats were emotionally devoted to setting right some of the affairs over which Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby had clinched a restraining fist. There was going to be action in the field of federal assistance to the public schools of the country.

If the Secretary of HEW leaves us soon, her departure will be the result of her department's bungling with the Salk vaccine, rather than because of any issue stirred up by the Democrats.

Symington Hammers Away

If there was one thing that took a beating during the campaign, it was the Republican "new look" in national defense. It was belabored as "more bang for a buck."

It is true that Senator Symington, a former Secretary of the Air Force, continues to hammer away in his effort to increase that branch of the military establishment. But when the Defense Department appropriation was before the House on May 11, only a corporal's guard of Democrats rallied around when the attempt was made to compel the Administration to maintain larger ground forces.

One of the favorite whipping boys for Democratic campaigners was Secretary Ezra T. Benson, defender of flexible farm-price supports. But for all the beating he took, and in spite of the apparent victory which rigid 90 per cent support of the House, no one has any illusions that the Eisenhower-Benson program will be tossed out.

In the one area where the historic position of their party required them to stand firmly with Eisenhower, the Democrats acted more like Republicans than did the President. It was only the vicariousness of the old-fashioned Democrat, Harry Byrd, that his colleagues were kept from deserting the trail blazed by Cordell Hull in establishing the reciprocal trade program. What came out of the Senate Finance Committee under the guise of a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act is a lot closer to high-tariff protection than it is to free trade.

Rayburn's Tax Reduction

Let us draw the kindly veil of forgetfulness over Sam Rayburn's abortive effort to enact a flat 20 tax reduction. It wasn't anything the Democrats had promised to do. It was he who led the party into a trap which enabled the Republicans to give Eisenhower a most impressive victory over an issue on which editorial writers could praise him and his party for standing firm for fiscal responsibility.

But on matters of principle, it is difficult to imagine any great divergence between the views of the President and the Speaker of the House.

There is no evidence that the Democratic congressional leadership will be directed against the President's proposals. Oh, Eisenhower will encounter some defiance on such matters as how much to increase the salaries of postal workers. Such odd allies as Harry Byrd and Albert Gore will help upset the President's ideas on how to finance the construction of highways. But on a majority of issues, the Democrats are going to continue to like what Ike likes.

Between Book Ends

The Way of the Orchid

SEEDS OF LIFE: THE STORY OF SEX IN NATURE—FROM THE AMOEBA TO MAN, by John Langdon-Davies. (Doubleday, 172 pp., $3.)

In Africa there's an orchid with a bloom that's a dead ringer for the female of a local variety of bee. Every spring the male bees, who emerge two weeks earlier than the females, dash eagerly from orchid to orchid in a latter of frustration. The orchid, of course, though it offers no reward of nectar, gets itself cross-pollinated in the process.

All the time the blooms have been executing this merry deception, the bulb from which the orchid grows has also been at work, busily developing bulblets. And it is not the blooms or their resultant seeds that produce new orchids, but these bulblets. All the bees' dither turns out to be, as the Bard puts it, an "expense of spirit in a waste of shame."

Mr. Langdon-Davies' "Seeds of Life" is full of such droll stories, though rather amazingly there's no mention of Ogden Nash's turtle. Out of these stories emerges a picture not only of variety and ingenuity, but also of the part sex as distinguished from mere vegetative dividing has played in evolution, producing a large part of the variety that permits natural selection.

When he gets to man, however, though biologically as thorough and as accurate (so far as a mere student of literature can tell), he is less satisfactory, because with man there enters the problem of morality, whether morality be considered a religious, an aesthetic, a social, or a political affair.

Also, with the development of birth control, man has gone the way of the African orchid. Without even the help of a busy bee, sex has become a game quite unrelated to the perpetuation of the species, though still intricately bound up with man's personal and public health, sanity and prosperity. With the recent advent of artificial insemination (test-tube babies seem to be the accepted human term for it), he even has a device that corresponds to the orchid's bulblets.

As far back as history goes, sex in man has been a moral and social—and frequently personal—nuisance. By limiting himself to physiology, Mr. Langdon-Davies has managed to produce an excellent, entertaining and illuminating primer.

But at the moment man faces the prospect, far more awesome than the mere destruction of a New York and a Moscow, that a nuclear war could alter genetically the entire race—not now, of course, but forever after. It would be nice, before we become something else, if someone could achieve a good second reader.

'She Wasn't a Funny Guy'

THE FUNNY GUY, by Grace Allan Hogarth. Illustrated by Fritz Wagner. (Harcourt, Brace, $2.95.)

Incidents in this story are woven around the experiences of Helen Hamilton, the funny guy. Loneliness, disappointments, grief over a critically ill mother, neglect by a busy, distracted father, severe treatment by the woman who took care of her—all were factors which influenced Helen's behavior. The harder she tried to prove she wasn't a funny guy, the closer the nickname stuck.

Such girlish pranks as writing stories and poems for the St. Nicholas Magazine, selling Christmas cards, swimming in the mill pond and running away to escape punishment will fascinate the reader. Humor, pathos and happiness are necessary ingredients in the life of a girl who lived in 1912.

Black-and-white illustrations blend perfectly with the story text. For girls nine to 12, and beyond.

WALTER LIPPMANN

Below the Summit, the Real Business

THE SOVIET invitation has supposedly come sooner than Dr. Adenauer expected or would have wished. Presumably he would have preferred it if Moscow had waited until after the first cadres of the German army are in being this autumn.

Nevertheless, the Bonn Government has been counting upon diplomatic recognition and an exchange of ambassadors. There is some reason to think that there have already been unofficial soundings taken both ways about the acceptability of certain persons to head the missions. There is little doubt, therefore, that Dr. Adenauer will accept in principle the Soviet proposal to "normalize" diplomatic relations, even though he may not wish to go himself to Moscow.

Adenauer.

They Mean Business.

The Soviet note is an invitation to establish relations, and to expand trade, leaving the hard questions of a settlement to be dealt with later on when the relations between Bonn and Moscow have become better.

The authors of this note quite plainly mean business. For Dr. Adenauer too believes in the gradualist approach to a German settlement, being convinced that when Germany is rearmament and has achieved a leading place within the NATO alliance he will be talking with the Soviets from a position of great strength.

There is nothing in the Soviet note which raises obstacles or objections to the general policy of the Adenauer Government.

Ease for Mr. Dulles.

Mr. Dulles can now put aside for awhile the wet blankets he always keeps available.

One of his fears has been that the people of the United States will expect too much of the meeting at the summit. Another of his worries has been that the President will be asked to make too many big decisions at the summit.

The Soviet Government is now transacting its real business below and apart from the top-level conferences. We may soon be worrying about something else. We may soon be asking ourselves whether we know all that we need to know about what is going on down there below the summit.

The tone and substance of the Soviet note seems to look to a long courtship of the Germans.

NEIGHBORHOOD ASSOCIATION TURNS BRANCH OVER TO CITY

Cole Street branch of the Neighborhood Association was officially turned over to the city today in a ceremony at the Neighborhood House, 1000 North Nineteenth street.

Mrs. Edward G. Brungard, director of public welfare, John A. Turner, supervisor of recreation, and Palmer Baumes, park commissioner, accepted keys to the building from James H. Groves, president of Neighborhood Association; J. August Wolf, executive director, and Edward A. Haverstick Jr., a director of the association.

Mrs. Brungard said the city plans to spend $25,000 to improve the Cole Street branch and $150,000 for an outdoor recreation center adjacent to the building, as provided for under the May 26 bond issue. She said the building probably will be closed for two months until renovations are completed.

LITTLE SYMPHONY CONCERT TONIGHT AT WASHINGTON U.

The St. Louis Little Symphony Orchestra will open its twenty-first season at 8:45 o'clock this evening in the Washington University quadrangle. Max Stein, who has closed the season in previous years, will conduct the first concert. Edward Murphy will be the soloist.

The program will include Grosse Concerto by Marcello, Mozart's Concerto for French Horn, Divertissement by Ibert and the London Suite by Coates. Conductor Jascha Horenstein will conduct the remaining five concerts in the series.

COPIES OF WALT WHITMAN LETTERS BEING DISPLAYED

A display of Walt Whitman material in the form of letters, manuscripts and literary comments is now on exhibition in the entrance lobby of the Central Public Library to mark the 100th anniversary of publication of his famous "Leaves of Grass."

Photostatic copies of the letters and manuscripts were made from originals in the collection of Charles E. Feinberg of Detroit. The display is mounted on 36 laminated plastic panels with dates and descriptive comment.

Among the items is a copy of the only known manuscript page of the first edition of "Leaves of Grass" and an original version in the poet's handwriting of the poem "O Captain, My Captain," published in 1865. The display will remain at the library until June 30.

YALE SCHOLARSHIPS WON BY TWO IN ST. LOUIS AREA

Frederick E. Simms, 4959 Moffitt place, and George E. Moorman, Edwardsville, have received scholarships to Yale University, it was announced yesterday.

Simms, 16 years old, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Simms and a graduate of Sumner High School. He is a member of the Inter-Group Youth steering committee for the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

A graduate of Edwardsville High School, Moorman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Moorman. He was in the upper 10 per cent of his graduating class, was president of the school's Hi-Y and vice president of a youth fellowship group.

URGES HIGH ECONOMY AS WAR PREVENTIVE

Former Hungarian Official Says Russia Can't Match U.S. Output.

Maintenance of a high American economy will serve as a safeguard against the possibility of the Kremlin starting an all-out war, Nicholas Nyaradi, former Minister of Finance of Hungary, said here yesterday.

Nyaradi, chairman of the department of economics at Bradley University in Peoria, addressed about 1000 delegates to the sixty-fourth annual convention of the Illinois Bankers Association at Hotel Jefferson.

"The only reason for our relatively favorable political and diplomatic situation today is that Soviet leaders know that in case of a shooting war, the Russian economy will never be able to match the unparalleled efficiency of American industry and the incomparable superiority of American agriculture," he declared.

"The continued healthy operation and expansion of the American free enterprise system is the basic cornerstone and the best guarantee of 165,000,000 Americans against the horrors of an atomic war."

American economy, which has become the target of "political skirmishes," should not be dragged into politics, Nyaradi stated. He said Americans should not lull themselves into the "complacent belief" that the Kremlin has given up the goal of Communism—world domination. The only change, he said, is in strategy and tactics.

"To keep the nation strong," Nyaradi asserted, "American people should know better and appreciate more the workings and blessings of the unparalleled American system of free enterprise."

Raymond Moley, Assistant Secretary of State under President Roosevelt, said at the annual banquet last night that business men should be more politically conscious and get out of the conservative vote. He ridiculed the "sanctification of the independent voter," saying this type of person is a floater and too much time is wasted "wooing" him.

Moley said Walter Reuther, president of the CIO, has emerged as a new political figure, who has been "sitting in the limbo" of a modified guaranteed wage for auto workers. "Make no mistake," he told his audience, "a great victory has been won by the left wing union movement."

Homer J. Livingston, president of the American Bankers Association, said Americans have made a significant contribution to the nation's growth and they have acquired a large stake in the economic future of the country "by their savings."

"In an address delivered yesterday at the morning session of the convention, George Champion, executive vice president of Chase Manhattan Bank in New York, said the biggest job facing the banking industry in the years ahead will continue to be supplying credit for commerce and industry."

Champion said bankers need "all the imagination and ingenuity" they can muster in designing lending policies to meet changing demands of the future. They also must be expected, he said, to be confronted with dips in the business curve which are certain to occur.

TO GET UNIVERSITY AWARD

John N. Marshall, 4967 Pershing avenue, will receive an annual service award from Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa., tonight. He is president of Granite City Steel Co.

The citation accompanying the award praises Marshall for his reorganization of the Granite City Steel Co. and the integration and expansion of its production.

Guests at Goya Show Opening

MRS. JOHN A. POPE of Washington, D.C., discussing "Goya: Drawings and Prints" at City Art Museum with HENRY B. PFLAGER (left), vice president of the museum board, and JUAN RAMON PARELLADA, first secretary of Spanish embassy, Washington. They were guests at a Friends of the Museum reception that opened the show last night. Mrs. Pope is chief of Smithsonian Institution's traveling exhibition service, which is circulating the Spanish loan collection to six leading American museums. Parellada, addressing 450 guests at preview, called Francisco Goya "an American artist in spirit." Behind the group is "Flaming Banderillas," an etching and aquatint lent for the show's American tour by the National Gallery, Washington. The collection will leave here July 4.

THE PRINCIPAL AWARDS DIPLOMAS TO 81 STUDENTS

Eighty-one students today received diplomas from The Principia Upper School at commencement exercises in Howard Gymnasium on the high school campus, 5529 Page boulevard.

The graduates represent 21 states and Canada. Twenty-three are from the St. Louis area. Nubuo Abiko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emi Abiko, 5414 Bartmer avenue, was one of three student speakers at the ceremony.

ACTOR WALTER HAMPDEN SUFFERS STROKE IN TAXICAB

HOLLYWOOD, June 10 (AP)—Veteran Actor Walter Hampden is in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital following a stroke suffered yesterday in a taxicab en route to work. He is 75 years old.

The famed Shakespearian actor was to have started work on a new picture yesterday. A studio spokesman said that Hampden's speech was impaired by the attack but that he was "much improved" later in the day. His condition was reported unchanged late last night.

MRS. BLAINE LEFT $41,000,000 ESTATE TAXES $16,000,000

CHICAGO, June 10 (AP)—Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine left an estate of $41,000,000 on which more than $16,000,000 in inheritance taxes are being levied, a return in the county clerk's office shows.

Mrs. Blaine, last of the children of Cyrus H. McCormick, inventor of the reaper, died Feb. 12, 1954 at 87. Her husband, Emmons Blaine, died in 1892.

A rising stock market added more than $3,000,000 to the value of the estate since her death. An inventory filed in probate court last November placed the estate's total value at $38,000,000 and indicated that a rising market had added another $3,000,000.

The inventory listed $1,315,000 cash and the rest in holdings of the International Harvester Co. Her will specified that $20,000,000 be used to establish a foundation to work for "the betterment of life."

Of the inheritance taxes, the Federal Government will get $13,000,000 and the state of Illinois $3,246,000.

THIRD IN FAMILY TO WIN TOP CUP AT COUNTRY DAY

Nicholas P. Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Barker, Glencoe, was awarded the Headmaster's Cup yesterday at St. Louis Country Day School's thirty-eighth annual commencement exercises. He was the Barker's third son to win the honor, highest given at the exercises. The recipient, a senior, is determined by vote of the faculty.

Other Barker sons who won the honor were Edward Theodore, in 1949, and William S., in 1952.

John B. Prentiss III, senior class president, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Prentiss Jr., 449 Edgewood drive, Clayton, received the Society of Yale Aurelian award, which goes to a member of the graduating class chosen by his fellows for qualities of scholarship, leadership and character. Thirty-seven seniors were graduated at the exercises.

BEN P. GOODWIN, EX-OFFICER OF PRINTING COMPANY, DIES

Ben P. Goodwin, former St. Louis printing firm executive, died of infirmities last night at the home of his son, Ben B. Goodwin, Chesterfield. He was 89 years old.

Mr. Goodwin was born in Sedalia, Mo., the son of J. West Goodwin, publisher of a newspaper there. He was co-founder and secretary-treasurer of the old Goodwin-Prentiss Printing Co., which was at 17 North Third street for more than 40 years. He retired in 1942.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Albert H. Hoppe undertaking establishment, 4911 Washington boulevard. Burial will be in Bellefontaine Cemetery. He is survived by his son.

H. ELMER LE GEAR FUNERAL TO BE AT BLOOMINGTON, ILL.

Funeral services for H. Elmer LeGear, former president of the Dr. L. D. LeGear Medicine Co. here, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the George R. Flynn undertaking establishment, Bloomington, Ill. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Normal, Ill.

Mr. LeGear, 72 years old, died unexpectedly Wednesday at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Iron Mountain, Mich. He worked for the Dr. L. D. LeGear Medicine Co. for 35 years, serving as president from 1949 until he retired in 1951. The company manufactures pharmaceutical products for livestock, poultry, and dogs.

Surviving are his wife, Emily, and a brother.

U Nu Welcomed in Macedonia. BELGRADE, June 10 (AP)—Burmese Premier U Nu, on a state visit to Yugoslavia, got a big welcome in the southern republic of Macedonia yesterday. Official reports said 100,000 persons cheered and applauded him in Skopje, the capital.

BISHOP HOLT MAKES TRANS-ATLANTIC TALK

325 Ministers at Fayette Hear Impromptu Speech by Phone From England.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

FAYETTE, Mo., June 10—Bishop Ivan Lee Holt yesterday made an impromptu address to 325 Methodist ministers gathered in the chapel of Central College here, by trans-Atlantic telephone from Birmingham, England.

The Bell Telephone Co. amplified the Bishop's voice for the chapel, and the Fayette exchange had London on the wire for 50 minutes to set up and monitor the call from Birmingham.

Bell international office located Bishop Holt after cablegrams failed to reach him. The Summer School for Missouri Methodist pastors understood that Bishop Holt was in Norway, and the first telephone calls were placed there. Bishop Holt was not expecting the call from Fayette.

The Bishop had just gone to Birmingham from Ireland where he addressed the Irish Methodist Conference. It was the Irish group that sent the first Methodist preacher to America, Philip Embury, in 1760.

Today Bishop Holt gave an address in Horsefair Methodist Church, Bristol, England, the first church founded by John Wesley. The original Eighteenth century church still stands.

As resident bishop of the St. Louis area, Bishop Holt presides over all Methodist churches in Missouri.

FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW FOR MRS. LEE HUNTER SR.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lee Hunter Sr., widow of one of the organizers of the old Shaw State Bank of St. Louis and operator of a short-line railway in Shelby county, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Hermann, Mo. Burial will be in a cemetery there.

Mrs. Hunter, 74 years old, died of infirmities yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital. Her husband, who died in August 1950, was president of the Hunter-Alten Co. of Sikeston, an agricultural service firm, and had other interests in New Madrid county. She lived at 7343 Westmoreland drive, University City.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Fred Kramer, Mrs. J. J. Powers, Miss Virginia Hunter and Mrs. Evelyn Leroy, and two sons, Lee Jr. and Joseph Hunter.

Another bonus player has been signed by the Detroit Tigers. He is JAMES BRADY, 19-year-old Jersey City (N.J.), lefthander, who received an estimated $35,000... Tulane University has signed JOHN MAZUR, starting quarterback for Notre Dame in 1951, as backfield coach... OTIS DOUGLAS, former Philadelphia Eagles lineman, was named as line coach of the Chicago Cardinals.

A righthanded pitcher from the University of Delaware, DALLAS GREEN, has been signed by the Philadelphia Phillies at a "moderate bonus price." He will be assigned to Syracuse in the International League...

Second Baseman GEORGE SMITH and First Baseman CHUCK MATHEWS of Michigan State College were signed to non-bonus contracts by the Baltimore Orioles. Smith is a brother of HAL SMITH, Orioles' catcher.

AL SILVERA, former U.S.C. outfielder who received a bonus to sign with Cincinnati, was to join the Redlegs in Philadelphia.

FREDDIE BIANCHI, trainer of middleweight King BOBO OLSON, said Olson is getting a "bit cranky" which is considered a good sign in his training for the bout with Moore June 22.

BOB HOUBREGS is the first veteran to be signed by the Fort Wayne Pistons, playoff finalists in the National Basketball Association... He was obtained on waivers last December and used as a replacement for Center LARRY FOSTER.

The Chicago White Sox and Cubs have arranged a meeting with Mayor RICHARD DALEY and Police Commissioner TIMOTHY O'CONNOR to request more police protection at the ball parks... Vice President CHARLES COMiskey of the White Sox said police will be asked to jail disorderly fans rather than eject them from the parks.

Cameron New Grid Coach at East St. Louis

Fred Cameron, a member of the East St. Louis High School football coaching staff since 1945, was appointed head coach by the school board last night. Cameron succeeds Wirt Downing, who was named principal recently after being head coach the past 16 years.

Cameron, 50, attended Warrensburg, Mo., and Warrensburg State College, and began coaching immediately after graduation. His posts included several cities in Iowa, as well as Hannibal, Mo.

The position which Cameron moves into is regarded as a hot spot, for East St. Louis has a 32-game victory streak in football.

The oldest of Cameron's three sons, Bruce, will be a senior lineman on next season's team.

It is expected that a new assistant coach will be named in the near future to fill the vacancy created by Cameron's new assignment. Other members of the staff are Levi Craig and Tom Sheehy.

Mike Ryba, 52, Placed on Houston Club's Active List

HOUSTON, Tex., June 10 (AP)—Mike Ryba, 52, manager of the Houston Buffs, was placed on the Texas League active player list today.

Art Rountzong, general manager, said a shortage of catchers made the action necessary even though Ryba played his last active season in 1947.

Emergencies involving two players have left the Buffs with only their regular catcher, Hal Smith.

KANSAS CITY, June 10—Finishing just ahead of heavy showers, Clarence Norsworthy Jr. and Ben Schulein carried St. Louis hopes in the Missouri Amateur golf championship today with quarterfinal round victories.

Norsworthy, 27-year-old son of a former St. Louis professional, turned aside the 1954 runner-up, E. D. (Brick) Imboden of St. Louis Indian Meadows, 4 and 2, and Schulein walloped Former Champion Bill Stewart of Springfield, 3 and 2.

These victories advanced Norsworthy into one semi-final match against Ed Loeffler, 37-year-old Jefferson City player, and Schulein faced the surging tournament favorite, Jim Tom Blair III of Jefferson City.

Blair, returning to the form that has made him one of the country's top young amateurs, eliminated veteran Bob Cochran in a quarterfinal match, 4 and 3, while Loeffler defeated St. Joseph's Don Sechrest, 2 and 1.

Blair, a 215-pound husky who won the title here in 1952, but missed the tournament last year because he was in service, gave Cochran little chance as he shot the match in two under par.

It was the best scoring performance among the quarterfinal winners and it made Blair the standout he had been figured to be before the tournament began. Cochran played well but not well enough.

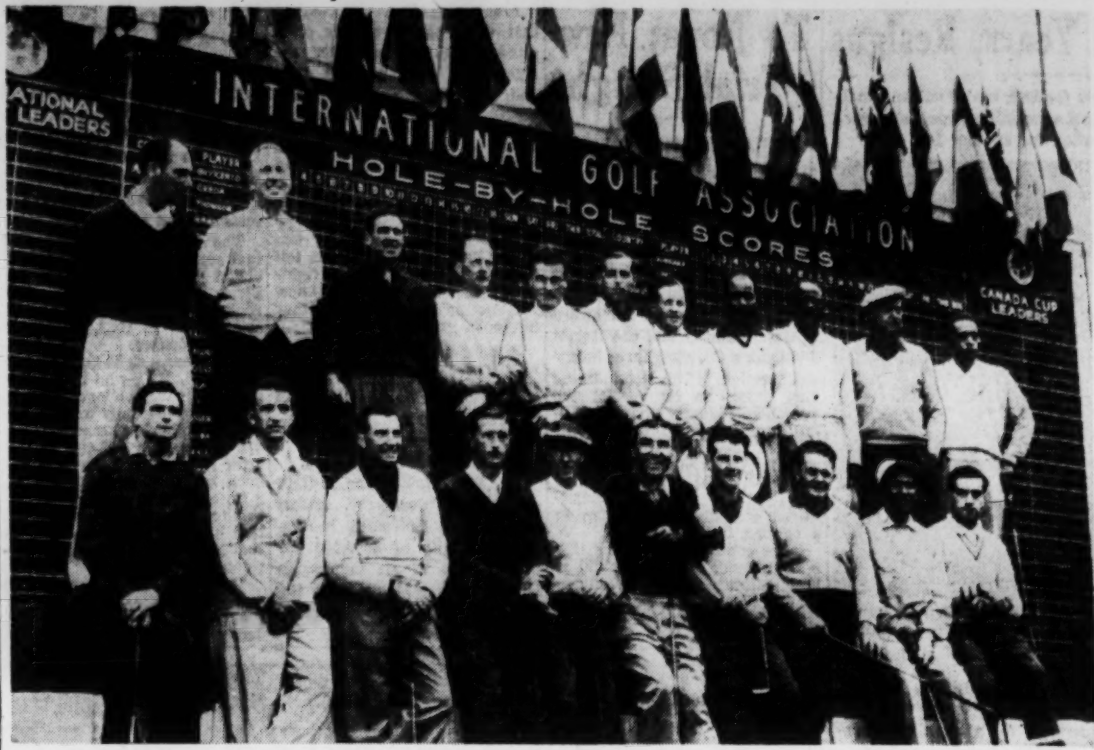

In the other matches Schulein needed to be only about four over par, not counting a hole on which he picked up, to defeat Stewart. Norsworthy was even with par and Loeffler said he scored close to par.

Blair never let out of the fairways with his drives, which previously had been erratic, starting with qualifying day, when he barely managed to qualify. Thus straightened out, he was expected to reach tomorrow's 36-hole final.

67 by Thomson, Aussies Lead In Golf Play

WASHINGTON, June 10 (UP)—Australia's Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle today set their sights on widening an impressive early lead over golfers from 25 other nations competing in the third International golf tournament.

The defending champions hope to take home both the $2500 team prize and the $2500 top individual award.

Thomson scored a 67 in a cold drizzle yesterday to pace the powerful entry from Down Under at the four-day tournament held underway at the Columbia Country Club course. The nearest competitors were P.G.A. Champion Chick Harbert; Celestine Tugot, Philippines; Roberto De Vincenzo, Argentina; and Florio Van Donck, Belgium, all lined up three strokes behind at par 70.

Thomson's 67 coupled with Nagle's 72 gave walloped Australia a four-stroke margin in team play over the second-place United States, with 143.

Harbert recovered from a shaky front nine, including a triple bogie seventh, and shaved three under par on the back nine. Ed Furgol, United States Open winner, also had trouble going out, shouldered last night from his training camp at Monticello, N. Y., "and I expect to win."

But the odds favoring rangy, brown-haired Basilio of nearby Canastota, N. Y., shortened today to 1 to 2 over the 23-year-old title-holder from Boston.

Whether DeMarco wins or loses in their nationally-televvised and broadcast 15-rounder, the son of a Boston shoemaker will earn about $62,000. Basilio, 28-year-old son of a nearby onion farmer, should get about $31,000.

This "dream fight" between two able and very aggressive hookers was sold out completely in less than 24 hours after the tickets were offered. The 9100 seats in the Auditorium bring a gross gate of $177,000.

DeMarco and Basilio, both converted southpaws and both "quick bleeders" early in their careers, will square off at 9 p.m. St. Louis time, and their battle will be televised and broadcast

Basilio Favored to Take Welter Title From DeMarco Tonight

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 10 (UP)—Confident, superbly-conditioned Tony DeMarco will make his first defense of the welterweight crown tonight against favored, grimly-determined Carmen Basilio in their sold-out fight at War Memorial Auditorium.

"I'm sharper and faster for this fight than for any other," said the sturdy, black-haired champion, who arrived last night from his training camp at Monticello, N. Y., "and I expect to win."

PARIS, June 10 (UP)—Don Bisplinghoff of Orlando, Fla., and defending champion Henri De Lamaze of France gained the final of the French Amateur golf championship today as Lt. Joe Conrad, the tournament favorite from San Antonio, Tex., was upset in the semifinals.

De Lamaze, a five-time winner of the event, ousted Conrad, 4 and 3. Bisplinghoff upset Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., 3 and 1 in the other semifinal.

Bisplinghoff, a husky 20-year-old, will meet De Lamaze tomorrow in a 36-hole final.

The three Americans gained the semifinals in competition this morning on the 6608-yard Chantilly course.

Conrad, the newly-crowned British amateur champion, defeated Bruce Cudd, a member of the United States Walker Cup

Winners Score 10 In First

By John J. Archibald

Walnut Park, an old-fashioned American mixture of boys from many origins, looked every bit a solid unit yesterday as it shocked Stockham Post right from under its new red hats in an American Legion junior baseball game at Fairground Park. In scoring its second victory in as many starts in the Leo Browne League, Coach Hank Olininger's team poured 10 runs across before Stockham even got to bat, and went on to win, 14 to 1.

The Walnut Park players come from an odd combination of schools: Central of the Public High League, McBride of the Catholic Athletic Conference, and independent Lutheran. Their names indicate such origins as Italian, German, Irish and what-have-you, and about the most effective hitter the team has had in its first two games is a Negro transfer from Sumner, Left Fielder Simon Tobias.

That 10-run first was a weird thing to watch. Nobody was able to score that many runs in an entire game against Beaumont. High this season, yet almost the same lineup appeared bewildered and outclassed by Walnut Park. Olininger's club got only five hits, but was quick to make use of four walks, three official errors, plus a variety of mental misplays.

Schaeffer Is Routed.
Don Schaeffer was Stockham's starter, and Coach Al Grosch left him in for nine batters, but when he forced in the sixth run of the inning by walking opposing pitcher Rich Beumer, Bob Miller relieved. Walnut Park really got going against Miller.

Whitey Schubert, Coach at Principia Nine Years, Resigns

Earl P. (Whitey) Schubert, head football, basketball and baseball coach at Principia Academy for the past nine years, announced his intention of leaving the institution for another job today.

Schubert, a graduate of Western Maryland College and of Washington University, where he obtained a master's degree in Education Administration, said he had not decided on any of several offers he has received, either to continue as a coach or to go into private business.

His football teams, which won 17 of their last 24 games, compiled a record of 38 victories, 26 defeats and five ties. The total number of victories is greater than in the first 18 years of Principia football history.

The 1946 team defeated Country Day, the first triumph over Principia's ABC rival in 18 years and the 1949 team won, 40-6, from Western Military Academy, the first win over W.M.A. in 17 years.

In a prepared statement, Schubert said prospects for next season were unusually bright, starting with football, where only three additions were lost through graduation.

Schubert, 35, who boxed in college, has served as judge of amateur bouts. He is married and the father of three children.

Busch, 9 to 5, in the Scully-Menzie-Dorrill loop.

Highly regarded Pine Lawn, stumbling because Pitcher Al Sona has a sore arm, had to score three runs in the last two innings to tie the Thomann-Boothe, 5-5. The game was called because of darkness after nine innings.

Gene Kammer had three-for-four for Pine Lawn, including a triple. He had three-for-three in the team's opener. John Jones pitched the ninth frame for Pine Lawn and struck out all three batters.

Two unearned runs in the first of the ninth gave Creve Coeur a 6-5 victory over Oliver Guy Vassar in a Zera-Smith contest. With two out Vassar Pitcher John Beckmann walked two batters, then two successive errors permitted the runs.

In a South County League game, Kirkwood made its record 2 and 0 with a 12-6 triumph over Donald Monroe Post.

Pitcher Evan Paoletti whacked three doubles and a single, driving in four runs, as the young 138th Infantry team defeated Jerome Goldman, 5 to 3, in the Scully-Menzie-Dorrill League.

Captain-Elect of the Drake Football Team Dismissed by School

DES MOINES, June 10 (AP)—Gene Hendrix, Kansas City, Mo., captain-elect of the football team and campus leader at Drake University, has been dismissed from school, it was learned yesterday.

Dean of students Robert B. Kamm, confirming the dismissal, said the action was taken for reasons of conduct.

Kamm said Hendrix had been allowed to finish his junior year, gaining full credits for his courses.

Hendrix, a 200-pound fullback, had been Drake's leading ground-gainer during the last two football seasons.

He had served as president of the interfraternity council, the first Negro ever to hold that post at Drake, and was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity.

Drake officials indicated an application for readmission would be given consideration if one is made.

$35,000 Award To Nova; New Trial Sought

LOS ANGELES, June 10 (AP)—A motion for a new trial has been filed by attorneys for Los Angeles Examiner sports columnist Vincent X. Flaherty, against whom a $35,000 libel award was returned in favor of former Boxer Lou Nova June 1.

The jury assessed the award against Flaherty and the Hearst Publishing Co. after three hours' deliberation. The trial lasted five days.

In its verdict the jury held Flaherty erred in calling Nova a coward for his actions in a fight with then Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, Sept. 29, 1951. Flaherty had reviewed the fight and subsequent dressing room action in a column two years ago.

"The cowardly Nova was like a frightened, screaming child at vaccination time," Flaherty wrote. Nova, suing for $200,000, claimed his reputation was damaged, and said: "Since the ar-tle, doors have been closed in my face."

Flaherty's lawyers contend that other sports writers criticized Nova the day after the fight, and at one point trial Judge Newcomb Condee remarked: "If Mr. Flaherty had written this column the day after the fight, Mr. Nova would have had to sue a thousand writers."

Louis was quoted in the trial, via a deposition, in which he said: "It seemed Nova was scared." He said he could tell because "you look another fighter in the face and you know whether he's afraid by whether he looks you in the eye."

A date on the motion for a new trial is to be set after attorneys for Flaherty and Hearst submit legal documents for their arguments.

$500,000 for Ice Rink.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 10 (UP)—President Deane W. Malott said Cornell University has received a gift of $500,000 for construction of an indoor ice skating rink. Malott said the donor is a foundation that asked not to be identified.

Joe Black Goes To Cincinnati

BROOKLYN, June 10 (UP)—Joe Black, who for one brief season was a Brooklyn Dodger hero, was traded to the Cincinnati Redlegs yesterday for a player to be named later and an undesignated sum of cash.

The cash involved was a nominal sum (reported by the Associated Press as $20,000) because Black, the National League's rookie of the year as a great relief pitcher in 1952, had shown little thereafter.

The Negro right-hander from Plainfield, N.J., who majored in psychology at college, won 15 games and lost only four in 1952 but the following season his record dropped to 6-3 and in 1954 after a brief trial, he was sent back to the minors. Black, for a time, tried to use applied psychology on himself, convinced that his trouble was mental and that he simply had lost his confidence.

"I never had any arm trouble and I had just as much speed as I did in 1952," he said in self-analysis. "I just couldn't get anybody out. That was all." After a term at Montreal in 1954 when he won 12 and lost 10, Black felt he was ready for a comeback. This season, though, he was seldom in action after an 21 game, which he won in relief for his only decision of the campaign. He worked in five games after that, all in brief relief chores.

Dave Erb to Ride Swaps in 'Californian'

Shoemaker Suspended For 5 Days

INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 10 (UP)—Swaps, the 1955 Kentucky Derby winner, and Determine, last year's Derby victor, today headed a small but select six-horse field entered in tomorrow's $100,000-added Californian at Hollywood Park.

It will mark Swap's first appearance against older handicappers. Swaps gets a good break in the weights against Determine. He will pack 115 pounds against Determine's 126.

Others entered in the race were Rejected, Novarullah, Mister Gus and Travertine. Erb, owner, when the cowboy turfman took his stable to Chicago two years ago.

Shoemaker was aboard Swaps in his last three triumphs, including his big day over Nashua and the other three-year-olds in the Kentucky Derby.

The Californian, a weight for age race, appears to have lured a select field of six and Swaps is set to take aim for the first time at older horses.

Eligible are last year's Kentucky Derby king, Determine, which posed an intriguing duel between successive winners of the Kentucky race; the King Ranch's powerful Rejected, and Novarullah, Mister Gus and Giganite.

Shoemaker was set down for causing interference aboard Silverado. The horse was disqualified and placed third.

The owner-trainer team of Ellsworth and Mish Tenney debated for hours whether to risk another rider on Swaps. They were reluctant at the outset to run him against older horses.

While the Swaps-Determine angle was interesting, many observers were convinced that neither would win, and instead, the five-year-old Rejected would be the strong horse in the mile and one-sixteenth feature.

Rejected looked impressive despite his third to Alidon and Mister Gus in the Argonaut Handicap May 28, and his impost of 120 pounds, as compared to Determine's 126, is not to be ignored. Swaps gets in with 115.

Rejected has been on a losing streak but too often he has tripped the experts in a blue chip race such as the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap and the $100,000 Westerner at Hollywood.

In the recent Argonaut, Determine lacked spark and trailed fifth, behind the Irish five-year-old, Novarullah.

Nashua Draws 10 Rivals in Belmont Race

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Nashua, the Preakness champion, headed an unexpectedly large field of 11 three-year-olds named today for Saturday's running of the Belmont Stakes, third jewel in racing's triple crown.

With this field going in the mile and half test, the value of the race is $122,800 with $86,700 going to the winner.

Dark horse in the race is Jabneh, a mystery colt who changed owners overnight. Jabneh was purchased from Laudy Lawrence, an American living in Paris, by Mrs. Eugenia Bankhead, who will race the colt in partnership with Mrs. Luisa D'A. Carpenter.

Others nominated for the Belmont were: Barclay stable's Blazing Count, Clearwater stable's Portersville, J. M. Seider's Uncle Gus, C. V. Whitney's Little Dell, King Ranch's Retamero, Howard Weinstein's Mr. Al L. A. B. Gay's Courtship and the two-horse entry of the Cain Hoy stable, Flying Fury and Rajput.

Havana Gains Seventh Consecutive Victory, Defeating Rochester

HAVANA, June 10 (UP)—The Havana Sugar Kings, playing the best ball in the last two weeks, extended their winning streak to seven in the International League and moved to within four games of the pace-setting Toronto Maple Leafs.

Emilio Cueche limited the Rochester Red Wings to four scattered hits while his teammates battered a trio of Rochester hurlers for 15 hits and an 8-1 triumph.

The Leafs extended their lead over second-place Montreal to one and one-half games by splitting a pair with the Richmond Virginians, winning the opener, 4-3, and dropping the nightcap, 7-6, while the Royals were losing to the Columbus Jets, 5-4.

St. Paul Fighter In Hospital After Kayo

BIRMINGHAM, England, June 10 (AP)—Mel Brown, St. Paul light-heavyweight, was taken to the hospital with a possible concussion and eye injury last night after being stopped in a scheduled 10-round fight by Ron Barton of London.

Barton, undefeated in 17 pro fights, battered Brown to the canvas for a nine count in the second and had him bloody and groggy when the bout was stopped after 2 minutes of the sixth round.

Barton weighed 170 pounds, Brown 166½.

Balanced

Everything it takes

STANDARD GASOLINES

...balanced for top power, economy, and all 'round performance ... and raised to the Highest Octane levels in our history

STANDARD WHITE CROWN and RED CROWN Gasolines have been stepped up to the highest octane ratings in our sixty-six year history...designed to give smooth, knock-free performance in the most modern of high compression engines—and older cars too. But important as octane is, good gasolines need something more. They must be balanced to give you top performance with controlled volatility—the right gasoline for the right season; no vapor lock even in the hottest summer weather, and clean-burning for efficient, economical performance.

pretty much the same?

NO, THEY'RE NOT. Standard Gasolines are distinctly different. Our chemists and engineers conduct a continuing program of research and development to bring you the best in gasolines. In addition, Standard guards the quality of the gasoline all the way from the refinery to your car through private and exclusive terminal facilities, lake tankers, river barges, pipelines, tank cars and trucks. And a good thing to remember is this...no gasolines arrive at or go out of our terminals but Standard Gasolines.

Try a tankful today, and drive away convinced that these gasolines have

GOVERNOR VETOES LOUISIANA BILL ON SCHOOL FUNDS

Measure Pushed by Segregationists Is Likely to Become Election Issue.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 10 (AP)—Gov. Robert Kennon today vetoed a $33,500,000 matching fund to build schools which segregation leaders insisted was necessary to preserve separation of the races.

In his veto message, Kennon said "the issue presented in this bill is the simple question of what is best for education in Louisiana."

"My sincere belief is that the signing of this bill would damage the construction efforts for education that the sponsors had in mind."

Kennon has taken this stand from the start.

Senator W. M. Rainach, chairman of the joint legislative committee on segregation which strongly pushed the equalization venture, already has threatened to shove the issue squarely into the coming Governor's race.

Basically, the program called for the state to help build public schools for the first time in its history. School construction always has been a local responsibility.

The school building venture was designed to provide—for 18 months only—$12,000,000 in state aid on a dollar-for-dollar matching basis, and the remaining $21,500,000 if offshore revenues continued at a healthy pace next year.

The $12,000,000 would have been provided at the rate of $8,500,000 immediately, the other $3,500,000 out of next year's budget.

Legislative critics, few in number, had assailed the program as "premature" and "panic legislation."

Rainach and his segregation leaders had labeled the program a "must" to help equalize schools and bypass the Supreme Court order on integration.

Louisiana already has a set of laws including a constitutional amendment designed to help the state dodge the Supreme Court decision. The amendment places segregated schools under the state's "inherent police power" to preserve order and "not because of race." The amendment was passed by the 1954 Legislature and approved by the voters last fall.

Another law passed by the 1954 Legislature directs parish (county) school superintendents to assign students to schools in advance of a term.

5 in Mississippi Governor Race Oppose Integration.

CANTON, Miss., June 10 (AP)—Mississippi's five candidates for Governor stood on the same platform last night for the first time and promised to keep Negroes out of white public schools if elected.

The joint speaking engagement was sponsored by the Citizens Councils, a white organization designed to keep segregation despite the United States Supreme Court decision outlawing such practice.

About 800 white persons, including candidates for state and local offices, jammed the high school auditorium to hear the candidates tell of their plans for keeping the races separate.

Cheers and applause punctuated each of the 15-minute talks.

The speakers were former Gov. Fielding Wright, Mrs. Mary

Cain, Summit newspaper woman, Attorney General J. P. Coleman of Ackerman, Attorney Ross Barnett of Carthage, and Attorney Paul Johnson of Hattiesburg.

Each criticized the United States Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation as "illegal and morally wrong."

All except Coleman praised the citizens councils as organizations designed to help keep the races separate. The organization claims 253 chapters and about 55,000 members in many Mississippi counties.

The five candidates will meet in the state's Democratic primary Aug. 2. Nomination in the primary is tantamount to election in traditionally Democratic Mississippi.

Pope Receives 3000 in Day.

VATICAN CITY, June 10 (AP)—Pope Pius XII received in special audience today more than 1000 delegates who have been attending the fourth World Petroleum Congress in Rome.

In addition, he received about 2000 other tourists and pilgrims from many parts of the world.

33 WOMEN PILOTS TAKE OFF FOR CUBA

St. Louis Team Among 61 Entrants in Air Competition.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Thirty-three of 61 women flyers took off today for Havana in the sixth all-woman international air race.

The scheduled take-off yesterday was cancelled because of bad weather.

The race for light planes is put on by the Ninety-Nines, Inc., an organization of women pilots which takes its name from the 99 original members—now grown to about 1200.

This year's race from Washington to Havana is the first over-water event for women and it is the longest—1195 miles—attempted by the organization.

Selected Birthday.

BELLEVUE, Nebr. (UP)—The parents of a baby girl here had the privilege of selecting her birthday. The infant was born at the stroke of midnight and the doctor told the parents they could pick either the day preceding or the day following as the child's birthday. They chose the latter.

Yesterday's delay brought a 24-hour change in the race schedule. Originally all pilots had to be in Key West by Friday night to qualify for the final jump Saturday to Havana. Now the deadline at Key West is Saturday night and that last lap will be made Sunday.

Entrants in this year's race are competing for purses amounting to $2000 and a number of trophies, including a huge cup to be given by President Batista of Cuba.

(Among the entrants are Mrs. Loretta Slavick, 44 Forest Glen lane, Kirkwood, and her copilot, Mrs. Paul Clark, 4 Champlain court, Florissant. They are taking along a passenger, Mrs. C. S. McDorman, 103 Park avenue, Oakland.)

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—A heroic Roman Catholic priest from a heroic Boston family will be honored as Army chaplain of the year in ceremonies Sunday. Chaplain (First Lt.) Cormac A. Walsh will receive the award at nearby Fort Myer, Va., from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army Chief of Staff.

The Chaplains Corps of the Army selected him for the 1955 award in recognition of his heroism in Korea, where he won three Silver Stars, two Bronze Stars and a Presidential commendation.

The award is known as the Four Chaplains Award in memory of four—two Protestants, a Catholic and a Jew—who died heroically in the sinking of the Dorchester off Iceland in 1943.

Chaplain Walsh's father, a Boston fireman, was killed while trying to rescue people from a burning building one month before the chaplain was born. The chaplain's only brother, Marine Sgt. William G. Walsh, was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor for valor at Iwo Jima in World War II.

46 DISPUTES IN FIRST YEAR OF CIO-AFL NO-RAID PACT

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The AFL and CIO today announced that 46 cases of alleged violation of their no-raiding agreement were raised in the first year of operation of the pact and 35 have been disposed of. Of the 46, the statement said, 23 were initiated by the AFL and by the CIO.

Twenty-eight of the alleged instances of membership raiding were settled across the conference table by the unions involved, the report said, and 10 additional disputes are still being discussed.

Eight cases were submitted for rulings by the umpire under the pact, David L. Cole, Paterson, N.J. He has handed down decisions in five cases. One is still pending and two have been withdrawn from his hands.

The statement said that 29 of the 33 CIO unions now are adhering to the no-raiding pact, and 78 of the 110 AFL unions.

MOSLEY IS ASKED ABOUT PRESENCE
IN RAIDED CLUB

Grand Jury Interested in Discrepancies in Sheriff's and Deputy's Statements.

Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley of St. Louis county was questioned by the county grand jury yesterday about his presence last May 9 at the Stymie Club, 7555 Olive boulevard, University City, when members of his gambling squad arrived to search the place.

The jury's interest in the matter was aroused by discrepancies in statements by Mosley, who was having lunch at the club when the raiders arrived, and by Deputy Sheriff John Mourtou. In an affidavit for a search warrant, Mourtou swore that "numerous telephone calls were received at the club" and "the person answering the calls would discuss the placing of bets on horses in certain races and write down bets on a memorandum pad."

When the raiders arrived, Mosley told them he already had made a personal investigation of gambling in the place and suggested he and the raiders "join forces." No evidence of gambling was found that day.

Gene Martin, proprietor of the club and tavern, has been arrested more than 50 times by St. Louis police, mostly in gambling investigations. He was convicted twice in St. Louis police court on gambling charges, in 1940 and 1942.

Questioning of Mosley yesterday was in connection with the grand jury's general inquiry into reports that hoodlums and gangsters plan to bring organized gambling to the county, taking advantage of the expected confusion in transfer of the sheriff's police powers to the new county police department.

The jury, under direction of Prosecuting Attorney Edward W. Garnholz, was charged by Circuit Judge Franklin Ferriss last May 26 to determine as far as possible whether the reports are true.

Garnholz said mayors and police chiefs of county municipalities would be asked to appear before the jury, probably starting next week, to give any information they had on crime in their communities and whether there had been an increase in the last year.

"We also want to discuss how the municipalities can co-operate under the new police plan for conformity of effort insofar as crime control is concerned," Garnholz said.

JUSTICE DOUGLAS AND WIFE
BEGIN THREE-MONTH TRIP

WASHINGTON, June 10 (UP)—Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. William O. Douglas took off today on the first lap of a three-month vacation that will eventually take the world-traveling Douglas behind the Iron Curtain.

Their crowded schedule—beginning with a pack trip in Oregon's Cascade mountains—will give Douglas's bride of six months her first taste of what has become a "normal" summer holiday for the itchy-footed justice.

Douglas finally got a visa from the Russians for a trip through six Soviet republics in Asia. His attractive, blond, blue-eyed wife won't accompany him on that trip, but Robert F. Kennedy, counsel of the Senate's Government Operations Committee, will.

During that part of her husband's "holiday," Mrs. Douglas plans a "leisurely" trip through the Middle East, ending up in Switzerland, with Justice Hugo L. Black's daughter, Josephine.

RED CHINA EXPELS CATHOLIC BISHOP AS A SUBVERSIVE

American Had Been Arrested in 1950—Later Was Confined to Wuchow.

HONG KONG, June 10 (UP)—The Chinese Communists today expelled Roman Catholic Bishop Frederick A. Donaghy, of Fall River, Mass., on charges of "subversive activities."

The American bishop crossed into Hong Kong territory and boarded a train for Kowloon, on the mainland opposite Hong Kong. A crowd of priests and nuns greeted him as he stepped off the train.

Bishop Donaghy looked tired, but he appeared to be in good condition generally. He asked newsmen to wait for a day or two before interviewing him.

He did say, however, that three days ago the Chinese Communists summoned him and told him he was guilty of subversive activities and was to be expelled. He was brought to the Hong Kong border under guard. The prelate, a member of the Maryknoll missionary order, had spent 26 years in China. He was named bishop of Wuchow in 1938.

Bishop Donaghy was arrested at Wuchow on Christmas Day, 1950, and was jailed for six months. When he was released from prison, he was restricted to the city limits. He had been in Wuchow ever since.

When he arrived here today he wore a white shirt, brown slacks and black shoes, and was in need of a shave.

He is a brother of President William A. Donaghy of Holy Cross College.

His return leaves only one

American bishop in Red China. He is the most Rev. James Edward Walsh, of Cumberland, Md., who is in Shanghai.

Chou Expresses Sympathy to Wife of U.S. Airman.

MISSOULA, Mont., June 10 (UP)—Red China's Premier has assured the wife of an imprisoned United States airman that he "is in deep sympathy with the difficult situation" of the airman's family.

Mrs. Marjorie Llewellyn, wife of Capt. Elmer F. Llewellyn, said she received Premier Chou En-lai's assurances in a letter from the Chinese Red Cross yesterday. She hasn't seen her husband in three years.

"If he's in such sympathy, why doesn't he turn them loose?" was her reaction.

The Chinese Red Cross letter was written in Peiping May 30, the day four American flyers were released to freedom. It also expressed regret over the United States Government's refusal to permit relatives of the imprisoned airman to visit them in Red China and said the Communists' original offer still stands.

(An Associated Press dispatch from New Delhi said India's gov-ing envoy, V. K. Krishna Menon, has suggested that the United States reverse itself and permit the families of 11 imprisoned airmen to visit them in China. It quoted "reliable sources" as saying Menon has indicated he is convinced the Chinese Reds will not free the 11 until the United States agrees that their relatives may visit China. It is understood the Chinese want these visits as a face saving measure which would allow them to say the prisoners were released as a gesture to their families.)

PUBLIC OWNS E, H BONDS
TOTALING $39,200,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 10 (UP)—Americans now own $39,200,000,000 in E and H savings bonds—an amount approximately one-seventh of the national debt.

The Treasury also reported today that in the first five months of 1955 the public bought $502,000,000 more of these bonds than they cashed in. About $2,423,000,000 of bonds were purchased in those five months, or 44 per cent of the "five-billion-five in '55" goal.

AFRICANS WILL RULE SELVES
IN TIME, SAYS SIR HENRY LOW

Most African peoples are still a long way from being able to govern themselves, but eventually, with European help, they will reach that goal, an Englishman who has lived in Southern Rhodesia for 42 years said here yesterday.

Sir Henry Low, former vice president of Rotary International, told the St. Louis Rotary Club yesterday that particularly in Southern Rhodesia the educational and health standards of the natives are being improved appreciably by schools and hospitals. These new facilities are being built from funds created by European capital development.

There, 60 per cent of the native children are now going to school. But much of the population of the rest of Africa remains illiterate, he said.

MAN FACING FORECLOSURE
SHOOTS PRESIDENT OF BANK

ATLANTA, June 10 (UP)—A man whose land was being foreclosed strode into the bank that held the mortgage yesterday and shot its president, police reported.

The president of Hapeville's Citizens Bank, Arthur P. Jackson, was shot in the chest, a .32-caliber bullet lodging in lung tissue, narrowly missing his heart. A doctor at Georgia Baptist Hospital said Jackson would recover, barring complications. Hapeville police arrested J. Preston Saylor, of nearby East Point. Bank employees said they had taken an automatic pistol from Saylor, who was described as a former prize fighter.

LEGION OPPOSES STOPPING FREE G.I. INSURANCE

But Rehabilitation Director Favors Social Security for Service Men.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The American Legion opposed today a proposal to do away with the Government's free $10,000 life insurance for G.I.s.

But T. O. Krambel, director of the Legion's national rehabilitation commission, spoke generally in favor of other key provisions of a bill before a special House committee on survivors benefits.

The measure would make sweeping changes in payment systems for widows, children and dependent parents of deceased service men.

In prepared testimony, Krambel generally went along with the proposed placing of all men in uniform under the social security system.

The planned increase in Veterans Administration compensation to survivors, including a change under which widows for the first time would be paid according to the service man's rank and length of service—rather than an equally However, he voiced concern as to whether widows of lower-grade service men with children would be paid "adequately and promptly" enough under the "hybrid" compensation from VA and social security.

As for ending the $10,000 life insurance now available for men in uniform, Krambel noted that this Korean war provision marked the third Government insurance program of some sort since World War I.

He said young men going into service in the next few years would be "shocked and disappointed" not to have an insurance benefit as their fathers did, and that the Legion doubts whether the incoming G.I.s would regard their other big benefits as "fully compensating" for the insurance loss.

Representative Harris (Dem., Ark.), sought authority yesterday for the House Commerce Committee to investigate the transportation and distribution of natural gas to consumers.

Harris, in a floor speech, said the inquiry would include "all factors entering into the price paid by the consumers for natural gas."

Sponsor of Bill. Harris is sponsor of a bill, which the Commerce Committee approved by a 16-15 vote Wednesday, to remove the Federal Power Commission's authority to fix producers' prices for gas sold to interstate pipelines.

Officials of many distributing companies, testified that the Harris measure would result in higher wholesale prices and consumer costs. Without mentioning the distributors in his speech, Harris said "let us see who is calling the kettle black."

Let us find out who is making fabulous profits before taxes. Let us find out actually where legislation may be necessary to adequately protect the consumer."

For example, Congress should find out, Harris said, why the residential consumer in Washington pays $1.39 a thousand cubic feet for gas which was bought from the producer for only 11 cents. New Yorkers, he said, pay $2.43 for gas which the producer sold for 8 cents.

The Senate Commerce Committee, meanwhile, wound up four weeks of hearings on a natural gas bill by Senator Fulbright (Dem., Ark.), it is similar to the Harris bill.

Obnoxious Peddlers. More severe penalties for peddlers of obscenity were recommended yesterday by the Senate Judiciary subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency.

William C. O'Brien, assistant solicitor of the Post Office Department, said there is a growing traffic in pornographic pictures and pamphlets.

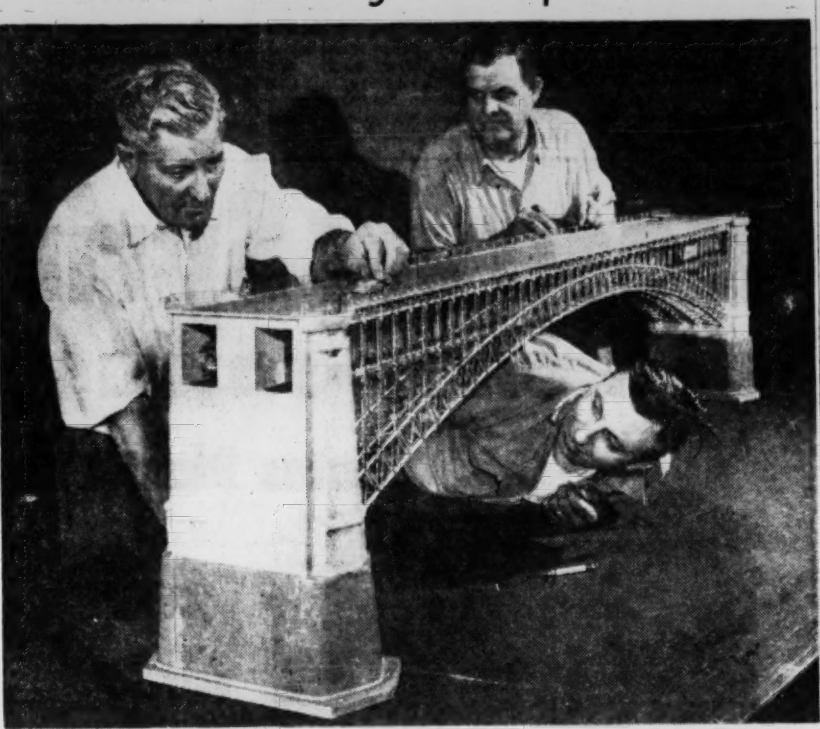

Senator James (Rep., North Dakota), acting chairman of the subcommittee, said "if we are going to stop it, we must have adequate penalties."

Leslie Burgum, North Dakota Attorney General, told of a law enacted this year by the state legislature designed to curtail the manufacture, distribution and sale of pornographic materials.

Burgum, who also advocated stronger federal laws, said the North Dakota statute permitted confiscation of equipment used in such traffic.

Inspector Roy Blick, head of the Washington vice squad, who described raids made by his office, said current laws are not adequate.

Makers Admiring Eads Span Model

Scale model of an Eads Bridge span and three Terminal Railroad employees who made it in their spare time at Terminal shops, 2022 Walnut street. At right rear is HENRY IMMER, machinist in charge of the job; looking under the span is HARRY C. BOETTCHER, cabinet-maker who made the piers, and at left, ALEX WELLS, painter. The model, 8 feet long, will be displayed over registration desk of American Society of Civil Engineers convention at Hotel Jefferson, starting tomorrow, and after that will be exhibited in the grand hall at Union Station.

FIGHTER TRAILING OFF-COURSE PLANE EXPLODES IN AIR

RAMSTEIN, Germany, June 10 (AP)—A United States Twelfth Air Force spokesman said today that an off-course "friendly" plane caused the ill-fated scramble of two Sabre jets sent up to intercept an unidentified aircraft yesterday.

One of the F-86 fighters, carrying a full load of ammunition, exploded in flight over a Rhineland village, killing its pilot. Flaming pieces of the plane set two cars afire on a highway. One motorist was burned to death and several others were injured.

The spokesman said that the "unidentified aircraft," located by radar, was a friendly military plane gone astray on a routine flight.

The date for closing the state-supported premature baby center at Christian Welfare Hospital, East St. Louis, has been extended from June 30 to July 31.

George H. Van Dusen, hospital administrator, announced today. Van Dusen said that he hopes the State Legislature, now in session, will approve a pending bill, approved by appropriation committees in both Houses, to provide $780,000 in the next two years for operation of this and two other centers in central Illinois.

The health center, in operation since 1943, has faced a financial crisis since May 5, when the United States military announced it was withdrawing its aid from the center, which provides nurses' training and ambulance service, as well as infant care.

The new contract, if accepted, would run until June 15, 1956. By its terms, operators who receive $1.87 an hour, would get a 5-cent increase retroactive to last March 1 when the old contract expired. They would receive another 3 cents Jan. 1, 1956.

Memorial day would be added to the existing five paid holidays from now on, he said. Both Memorial day and the day after Memorial day this year. The system of picking nurses would be improved and holiday schedules would be limited to the six paid holidays.

A previous offer by the company of a 3-cent increase retroactive to March 1 and an additional paid holiday, was rejected by the union membership last March 29.

W. B. McMullan, president of the Hunsman Refrigerator Co., has been named to head the large firms division of the St. Louis area, with some 185,000 employees. He was president of the Community Chest campaign in 1951 and a member of the executive committee in 1953 and 1954.

The first United Fund campaign will be held here this fall to seek 1956 operating funds for a majority of the health, welfare and service organizations which previously conducted independent campaigns for funds. It will replace the annual Community Chest campaign.

There were 340 new active cases of tuberculosis and 34 deaths from the disease in St. Louis in the first five months of this year, the City Health Division reported yesterday.

The new cases were 14 percent more than the 298 cases reported in the first five months of 1954 and the number of deaths was 21 percent below the 43 reported during the same period last year, according to Walter L. Metcalfe, president of the Tuberculosis and Health Society of St. Louis.

He added that an increase in the number of new cases found to be expected as both X-ray and tuberculin patch test programs expand. The increase in cases shows the need for continued vigilance by public and private health agencies, he said.

Pravda says U.S. is arming, training Portuguese in Goa.

MOSCOW, June 10 (AP)—Pravda said in a New Delhi dispatch today the United States is arming and training Portuguese troops in Goa, and is really to blame for Portugal's insistence on retaining that small possession in India.

Prime Minister Nehru, now in Moscow on a visit, insists that Portugal surrender the territory. He has cautioned Indians against violence in their campaign to end Portuguese rule over Goa.

"Portuguese ruling circles understand they are helpless before the intention of the powerful Indian people to liberate Goa but the Americans are aiding them," Pravda's dispatch said.

SCHOOL HEAD IN HOSPITAL GIVES DAUGHTER DIPLOMA

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., June 10 (AP)—With his daughter in the high school graduating class, Douglas Linder as president of the school board had looked forward to awarding the diplomas. Illness put him in a hospital. His daughter, Patricia, was in the same hospital recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

So Patricia put on a cap and gown and received a diploma from her father in a little ceremony at the hospital last night.

1955 May Be Turning Point For Peace, Pinay Tells Hearst

French Foreign Minister Hopes for Curb on Arms, but Says West Must Maintain Unity and Strength.

By KINGSBURY SMITH
Copyright, 1955, International News Service.

PARIS, June 10 (INS)—French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay told William Randolph Hearst Jr. yesterday that he thought this year might prove to be the turning point on the road to lasting world peace.

In an interview with the American publisher and editor shortly before Pinay lunched with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, the French statesman said the Western powers will seek to reach general agreement with Russia which would include, notably, limitation by both East and West on armaments in Europe.

The mild-mannered, gentle-speaking leader of the French Independent party, who when Premier was credited with starting France on its way to economic stabilization, will leave for the United States next week to attend the tenth anniversary meeting of the United Nations in San Francisco, June 20-26.

Hopes For Arms Curb.
He expressed to Hearst the hope that the San Francisco meeting, which will be attended by the Big Four foreign ministers, will "lead to positive results in the field of limitation and reduction of armaments."

Pinay emphasized, however, that the Western Allied world must maintain its unity and relative defensive strength if there is going to be a lasting peace.

"There can be no true peace without security and no security without concrete guarantees," he said.

Commenting on the Soviet invitation to West German Chancellor Adenauer to go to Moscow for talks, Pinay said he had full confidence in the "lucidity" of the Chancellor but doubted the trip would be opportune before the Big Four chiefs of state meeting this summer.

Pinay added that the Soviet invitation would have involved "grave dangers" if Germany had been isolated in Europe but, when addressed to a West German closely associated with the other democratic nations "it can contribute to relaxation of tensions."

Special Action by U.N.
Hearst raised with Pinay the question of the possibility of some special action being taken by the United Nations at its anniversary meeting in San Francisco which would serve to strengthen faith and world public opinion in that organization as an instrument of peace and a promoter of the welfare of mankind.

He asked Pinay what he thought, for example, of the possibility of the U.N. meeting considering adoption of a resolution along the following lines:

"In the interests of peace, disarmament and the general welfare of mankind, member governments of the United Nations agree to reduce by one per cent their respective military expenditures for the year 1955-56 and further agree to contribute at least 50 per cent of this saving to a United Nations pool for research in the cure and prevention of children's diseases, including possible new application of atomic energy for that purpose."

Pinay replied he was, in principle, in favor of any practical plan which would permit diversion of funds from military expenditures to social welfare purposes, provided it did not endanger the security of the free world.

Not Be Too Specific.
"The idea seems good, but it would have to be studied very carefully," he added. "It might be better if such a proposal was put forward at the San Francisco meeting as a general suggestion for study but without attempting to be too specific about it, especially in respect to the percentage by which military expenditures could be reduced."

"The tenth anniversary of the meeting of the U.N. would be a good occasion to launch an appeal of that nature, but such a plan would have to be fitted in with the general scheme for realization of a lasting peace. Consolidation of peace is the first and the most important thing to be done."

"Your idea might be presented as a possible consequence to the relaxation of tension and as part of a disarmament of minds and hearts."

"If peace could be assured we could certainly envisage use of some money now being spent on armaments for an international fund to study the cure and prevention of children's diseases."

DETAILED TALKS BEGIN ON BRITISH RAILWAY STRIKE

Union Leaders, Transport Commission Members Discuss Differential Issue.

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—Detailed bargaining talks began today in the 13-day-old rail strike as paralysis crept toward British industry. Hope grew that a formula soon would be found to end the walkout.

Members of the British Transport Commission gathered in a room at the Labor Ministry with leaders of the 67,000 striking members of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen.

The two groups had conferred for two hours yesterday to express general views. Today's meeting was designed to examine the basic issue of the strike—the enginemens' demand for increased wages to maintain their traditional pay differential over less skilled railway workers.

The commission, which operates Britain's nationalized rail system, asked today for the strikers' minimum demands. The strike leaders countered with a demand that the commission recognize the principle of their differential claim.

Britain's truck services suspended parcel collections for the weekend. The Transport Commission took the action "in order to clear traffic that has built up in the pipeline."

It hoped to resume the collections on Monday.

An association representing 650 engineering firms in the Midlands told workers they would be laid off with one week's notice if the rail strike was not settled soon.

A few factories around the country—their stock rooms crammed with unmoved goods—already have given precautionary notices to their employees but there has been no mass layoff.

The dock strike arising out of a jurisdictional dispute between two unions went into its eighteenth day with no settlement in prospect.

The unofficial seaman's strike in Liverpool and Southampton showed signs of trailing off.

4 G.I.s CHARGED WITH INSULT TO TURKISH FLAG ACQUITTED

ANKARA, June 10 (AP)—Four United States service men accused of insulting the Turkish flag and jailed last October at Izmir were acquitted yesterday.

The charge against them was that they tore down and trampled on the flag in a restaurant in Izmir, headquarters for NATO's southeast Europe land and air command.

The four men pleaded not guilty, contending the flag was pulled down accidentally in a playful scuffle. They had been free on bail.

U.S. TO SELL NUCLEAR REACTOR TO SWISS

First Deal of Kind Limits Use to Research; Uranium to Be Leased.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The United States agreed today to sell the Swiss Government the first nuclear research reactor it has ever offered for sale to a foreign government.

Key provisions of the agreement provide that the reactor will be used "solely for research purposes related to the development of the peaceful, beneficial and humanitarian uses of atomic energy."

The State Department and Atomic Energy Commission in announcing the sale said Switzerland would pay $180,000 for the reactor, associated machinery and other supplies.

The reactor will be powered by enriched uranium which will be leased by the United States for five years. The quantity of uranium involved was reported to be six kilograms of U235, plus whatever amount the Atomic Energy Commission judges necessary "to permit the efficient and continuous operation of the reactor."

The reactor will be transferred to the Swiss Government after it has been shown as a key feature of the United States exhibit at a United Nations international conference on the peaceful uses of atomic energy in Geneva Aug. 8-20.

Switzerland pledges under the arrangement not to use any material it gets from the United States for atomic weapons or "for research on or development of atomic weapons or for any other military purposes." None of the American material is to be transferred to "unauthorized persons or beyond the jurisdiction of the Government of Switzerland."

U.S. and Britain to Aid Denmark in Atomic Research.

COPENHAGEN, June 10 (AP)—Denmark today announced agreements with the United States and Britain to speed up its march into the atomic age. Premier Hansen told a press conference one agreement was with the United States Government, the other with the British Atomic Energy Authority.

The agreements should enable Denmark to have two research atomic reactors in operation in less than four years, Hansen said. He added that preparations, apart from American and British aid, will cost Denmark more than 80,000,000 kroner ($11,000,000) and the yearly costs to keep the reactors in operation would amount to some 20,000,000 kroner ($1,500,000).

The United States Government is pledging to give Denmark information and fissionable materials. The British agreement is for a mutual program of research in industrial use of atomic energy. Britain will help build a reactor and also deliver fissionable material.

They're off to a good start in their OK Used Car

The red OK Tag promises they'll get where they want to go!

JUST MARRIED? Yes, and they're going to get where they want to go in life because they're beginning right.

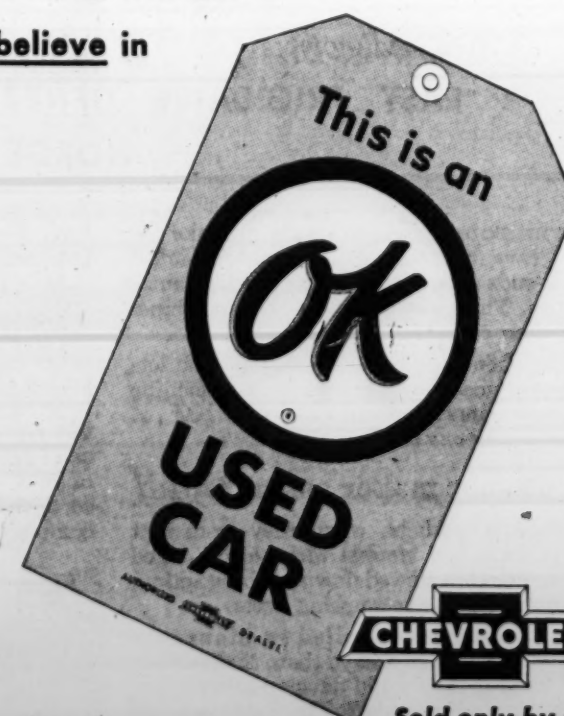

Sure, they left in a haze, but they also left in the kind of car that gets young folks off to a good start. It's an OK Used Car, warranted in writing by their Chevrolet dealer. It's the kind of used car that will satisfy their new-car taste and their "just married" budget.

Lots of people are discovering that there's a big difference between a used car bearing the red OK Tag and an ordinary used car. That's because your authorized Chevrolet dealer (only he handles OK Used Cars) sees to it that the OK Used Car you buy from him has been thoroughly inspected, and reconditioned for safety, performance and value. Then he backs it with a written warranty that spells out mileage and time, so you know where you stand.

Check the OK values at your Chevrolet dealer's lot. Note their low competitive prices and remember that OK Used Cars are chosen from the finest of many, many trade-ins—and they're honestly described. The OK Tag means you buy with savings—drive with confidence.

Look for the red OK Tag and get a used car you can believe in

EVEN TODAY some women still make the grave mistake of using old-fashioned thick-suds detergents in their precious automatics. This can be bad for their machines and their clothes.

For when choosing the detergent that lets your automatic washer (either front-loading or top-loading) perform at its very best... there's only one choice: all.

A washer maker asked for all

Automatic washers, when they were first introduced, had trouble with old-fashioned thick suds that slowed down washing action, damaged expensive working parts.

A washer maker called in Monsanto Chemical Company, gave them the problem... asked if they could develop a detergent with "controlled suds." The result was all... the original "controlled suds" detergent that does a better washing job in automatics than any soap or detergent ever known before. Today, most automatic washers leave the factory with a box of all inside!

Why all outwashes thick suds

all has no thick, sticky suds to float lazily on top of the wash water. Instead, all goes to work down in the wash water where it gets out the dirt. all with "controlled suds" can't possibly slow down the washing action of your washer. And free washing action is so necessary if clothes are to be washed completely, beautifully clean.

How all outrinses thick suds

You've noticed how difficult it is to rinse thick-suds detergents down the sink or drain. Thick suds stick just as stubbornly to your fresh-washed clothes. They cling to fabrics and often fail to rinse away.

However, all with "controlled suds" never clings to clothes. all rinses completely away. That's why all in your automatic washer leaves no suds scum, gives you the cleanest, brightest wash you've ever admired.

More clean clothes for your money!

You get more washes from one 10-lb. box of Condensed all than you do from three "giant" size boxes of thick-suds detergents. And no thick-suds detergent can wash so clean yet rinse as free as all with "controlled suds." No wonder automatic washer makers prescribe all.

DETOUR ON GRAND BOULEVARD

Work in progress yesterday on traffic detour at intersection of Grand boulevard and Market street. Detour will make it possible to use Mill Creek valley viaduct (background) while grade separation is being built at the intersection. When work on streetcar tracks is completed, the detour will be paved to carry automobile and truck traffic. During the paving period, from June 20 to July 2, the viaduct will be closed to motor vehicles. Southbound automobiles will be diverted from Grand to Spring and Vandeventer avenues, northbound traffic will be diverted to Theresa and Compton avenues.

"Town Meeting of the Air" 20 Years of Controversy In Repeat Performance

By John Crosby

NEW YORK, June 10.

IN the 20 years "America's Town Meeting of the Air" has been broadcast, the great controversies of our tumultuous times have been threshed out on this program, making it a sort of history of the ideas—

The other day ABC put together bits and pieces of some 30 of these historic hassles as a twentieth anniversary program. Some of the issues are still alive, still unsettled; others, long since dead and buried, seem curiously remote and dreamlike. But all of it, I thought, was consistently absorbing, far more so than I expected. For some reason, there's something terribly appealing about an issue that's been settled long ago; you can listen to it with historic detachment, unruffled by emotions.

HERE AGAIN, 20 years later, we hear Senator (now Supreme Court Justice) Black and Senator King argue the merits and demerits of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's court-packing plan. Shortly thereafter, Wendell Willkie—the first time his voice was ever heard on network radio—pleading with Government and business to "lay aside the bitterness that has grown up over the last few years."

Again we hear the old curmudgeon Harold L. Ickes exchanging barbed witticisms with his personal friend and ideological foe—Hugh S. Johnson. "If this affection is determined by the frequency and severity of his attacks, then I stand high in his regard." And Johnson shouting back in his boyish voice the strangely prophetic remark that if the President were granted the extraordinary powers he was asking for "We might have Roosevelt in power until death do us part."

Some of the other utterances were something less than prophetic. Jan Masaryk, for example, arguing that the Western democracies should negotiate with the Russians—a decision he was to rue later. On the question "Is a Hitler defeat essential to the United States?" the affirmative was ringingly upheld by a then obscure lawyer named Dean Acheson who said among other things: "A Hitler victory would mean that the moral and ethical basis of our life is nonsense."

ARGUING AGAINST MR. ACHESON, incidentally, was an America Firster who kept saying "I'm just a plain American" which drew from the audience loud shouts of "No!" Pre-World War II audiences were a lot more vociferous and were a lot more generous with both applause and denunciation than they are now. After the war, for some reason no one has been able to figure out, the folks quieted down.

Not all the fireworks came from the podium. Audience members are encouraged to ask questions and these sometimes caused a stir. From the floor Wendell Willkie got a tremendous ovation when he recommended that President Roosevelt, his recent opponent, be given all the war powers he asked for. Also from the floor came the now familiar voice saying: "My name is Adlai Stevenson." And the woman who asked Fiorello La Guardia, then head of United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation, to urge housewives to make one-crust pies, not two-crust pies. La Guardia, a great little comedian, forthwith solemnly urged the housewives "please, please don't make two-crust pies." And brought down the house.

AFTER 1950 the debates became more contemporary, the issues more live. We hear Thomas E. Dewey saying: "The great crisis in the free world is: can we keep strong enough so that the Soviet Union can't get a free bite per annum?" Dictators generally don't start wars they expect to lose. And Senator McCarthy debating Ellis Arnall on civil liberties and being forced into the strange confession: "I think a tremendous amount of damage has been done by calling people Communists."

Strangely, this latter-day argument seemed old hat, much older and tired than the earlier stuff. (Copyright, 1955, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

Tips for Teens

By Elinor Williams

HERE'S good news for your club, sorority, Girl Scouts or young people's church group... for any group that has meetings or programs that need perk up with fun-things to do.

It's a wonderful new book titled, "Fun with Skits, Stunts and Stories," by Helen and Larry Eisenberg, copyright by the National Board of Y.M.C.A. And it's also for your aid in planning parties.

For all ages, it tells you how to have fun in any group—how to add sparkle, laughs and interest to programs. Some are for church, Sunday school and chapel fellowships; others are for large and small parties, camp fun, Girl and Boy Scout and Campfire Girls' meetings.

THESE SKITS, stunts and stories can put new life and fun in all kinds of group doings... one person may lead and the group chime in or the entire group takes part. They're so easy that anybody can do them and enjoy them... they not only answer that desperate question, "What shall we do?", but also make you laugh "with," not "at," each other.

The book is a gay, frolicsome gag-bag for junior high boys and girls as well as their grandparents, because this fun has no age limits. There's quiet fun and active fun. One-man quickies and longer stunts.

THERE ARE feasts using a narrator, group skits (some with, some without rehearsal needed), skits with music, and plenty of funny stories ranging from three to 25 minutes' telling time. Special program ideas for various occasions, too. It's a great book to have handy for entertainment!

For this column's own tips on games for party fun, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at the Post-Dispatch.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

MAN writes me: "I have been driving a bus for many years and I have a pet peeve that I wish you would write about in your column as I believe it comes under the heading of good manners. In spite of the signs, 'Please have fare ready' a great many of the passengers start fumbling for their fares as they get to the coin box, thus holding up a long line of passengers behind them. Most of the offenders are women whom I am sure are aware of their inconsiderateness to the other passengers and I think a word from you on the subject will help a lot."

I am very willing to print your letter and hope that it will do some good. I agree with you that such behavior is not only thoughtless but very inconsiderate of the other passengers, as well as the driver.

Found: Spanky MacFarland

Grown-Up 'Boss' of 'Little Rascals' to Be on TV Show

SPANKY MAC FARLAND AS HE WAS AS A CHILD STAR AND AS HE IS TODAY.

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, June 10 (AP). FOUND: Spanky MacFarland, the "missing" member of the old "Our Gang" movies. He's back in Hollywood to resume his acting career.

Ever since the "Our Gang" comedies were revived on television as "The Little Rascals," folks have been tracking down the whereabouts of the former child performers.

All were located except Spanky. He was reported as doing everything from driving a bakery truck in Fairbanks, Alaska, to operating a gas station in Barstow, Calif.

The amateur sleuths can relax. Spanky, as chubby and jolly as when he led the mischief makers in the Hal Roach comedies, has returned here from his Dallas home. After 11 years away from it, he wants to be an actor again.

"I JUST WANT A CHANCE to show producers what I can do," he says. "I may be overconfident, but I feel I can handle anything they give me. I know that 13 years of acting in movies must mean something."

Spanky grew up in the picture business. Born in Dallas, he was modeling for department store and soft drink ads when he was 3 years old. He doesn't know exactly how he came to films, but his best guess is this:

An aunt sent his picture to Producer Roach, who said to bring the boy to Hollywood.

He was born George, but "Our Gang" writer Bob McGowan dubbed him Spanky and he's been that ever since.

"Only my Sunday school teacher and people like that have called me George," he explained. "I tried to drop the Spanky when I went into business, but after awhile I gave it up."

HE doesn't remember much of his film days—"To me, it seemed a normal way of life. I thought everybody made movies." A few stunts remain memorable. He recalls one scene in which the "Gang" camped on a geyser. The thing erupted while they slept and the kids were lifted dozens of feet into the air by wires. That was before the state kept an eagle eye on treatment of child actors.

Spanky was in the "Gang" from 1931 to 1944, when the series started to fade. One day he told his parents: "I'm tired of acting. I want to go back to Texas."

And so the MacFarland family returned to Dallas and resumed a normal life. "I know it was a mistake," said Spanky. "But you couldn't make me that then. I was a headstrong kid."

"He finished high school and went into the Air Force in 1947, serving as special service pilot for Texas bases. In 1949, he went to work for Chance-Vought Aircraft in Dallas and served in material there and at the guided missile project at Point Mugu, Calif."

He gave up the job after the marriage to his high school sweetheart broke up. They had one son, Greg, now four years old and the spittin' image of Spanky as a lad.

"I came back to Hollywood in September of 1953," Spanky said, "but I couldn't find any acting jobs. Not even a half day's work. So I went back to Texas and goofed around. I helped out a friend who had a fencing business, and I did some work in oil."

THE GREAT success of "The Little Rascals" on TV prompted Spanky to try Hollywood again. This time he had better luck. Through a mutual friend, he contacted George Gobel and was signed for the latter's show June 25. He hopes to land a job in George Stevens' "Giant." Stevens directed Spanky in the "Our Gangs" years ago.

Spanky is now a stubby five feet four and weighs 170 pounds. He's on a diet—to keep his weight the same.

"I'm stuck," he laughs. "My girl says she'll quit me if I get heavier and my agent says he can't get me work if I get lighter."

Uncertainty Over Choice Of a Career

By Frances Ilg, M.D. and Louise Ames, Ph.D.Of the Gesell Institute of Child Development

WHAT are you going to be when you get older? This is a question which, interestingly enough, boys and girls seem to find harder to answer as they grow older. Their uncertainty, which increases with age, probably reflects an increased awareness of the complexity of choosing, and then of training for and obtaining a satisfactory job or profession.

A changing appreciation of the relative roles of the individual and the outside world is suggested by the fact that, whereas earlier boys and girls stated that they were going to be "actresses," "doctors," "mathematicians," etc., they now, perhaps more modestly, say that they are "going into" medicine, or law, or journalism.

BOTH BOYS AND GIRLS express a rather touching wish for tremendous success, though many do not seem to have too clear an idea as to how this is coming about. Thus one girl says, "I want to make something of myself." Another says, "Not the faintest idea of what I'm going to be. I want to be happy, want to have position, want to travel. Want to be somebody. I'm not going to sit around and wait till somebody asks me to marry him."

Some new professions are now being mentioned, ones that were not chosen by younger boys and girls. Girls' leading choices are now: teacher, artist, actress, musician, scientist, psychologist, sociologist. Boys choose most frequently: doctor, dentist, lawyer, writer, engineer, architect.

THEIR OWN COMMENTS reflect often a fairly practical evaluation of the situation. Thus girls say, "I'd like to be on the stage, but that's not so practical; so probably I would like to be a psychologist." Or, "I'd like to be a sociologist when I get through college. Rather do research and write. Get an advanced degree. Probably take what fate brings me. Probably do something till I marry, but then not keep on working." Or, another would-be sociologist says, "At the present time I would say sociology. Only trouble is I don't know what I would do with it. Would like to do research. Would like to combine research and teaching. I don't want to teach high school kids or below that. I always hated little kids. Don't see how my mother could have stood me when I was younger."

Boys also are similarly reflective in their predictions: "My father is a dentist. I'm getting interested in that now. Never was going to have anything to do with it, but I'm changing. That, or a commercial artist. And put down forestry agent. Who knows? Dentistry might restrict me a little too much. Dad—spring fever nearly kills him. He goes nuts!"

Thus, little by little, year by year, boys and girls find their way toward their ultimate choice of a life work. But most find their way slowly and through many changes.

1. FAILURE OF WOMEN TEACHERS TO MARRY WILL LOWER OUR FUTURE INTELLIGENCE.

TRUE FALSE

Answer to Question 1.

TRUE, says sociologist, David Snedden in Eugenical News.

According to Snedden, the majority of our one million teachers never marry; yet they are among our finest women in health, intelligence, and character. Even those who do marry usually do so late. Thus a large section of our richest blood is lost forever. Dr. S. thinks we should make more provision for teachers to meet men socially and marry early.

Answer to Question 2.

Yes. That's Danish for "Junk Playground." According to "Youth Leaders," they are play grounds full of junk—no fancy swings, see-saws, slides, or "boughten" things—but piles of bricks, plenty of loose boards, large sewer pipes for rolling around, lots of wooden boxes for building mounds for digging caves, trowels, shovels, and old junked autos. These challenge and exercise children's creative energies. Effectiveness in reducing delinquency has been amazing. Cost: zero.

Answer to Question 3.

Largely. One psychiatrist says at least 25,000 "mind-peddlers" are practicing in the nation. In most states anybody can hang out a shingle "Psychoanalyst," "Vocational Counselor or Marriage Counselor."

One sign reads "Colonic Irrigations and Psychoanalysis." Another, "Basic Technician." Whether a technician in earth-quakes, flying saucers, or hair-dos is not stated.

Answer to Question 1.

TRUE, says sociologist, David Snedden in Eugenical News.

According to Snedden, the majority of our one million teachers never marry; yet they are among our finest women in health, intelligence, and character. Even those who do marry usually do so late. Thus a large section of our richest blood is lost forever. Dr. S. thinks we should make more provision for teachers to meet men socially and marry early.

Answer to Question 2.

Yes. That's Danish for "Junk Playground." According to "Youth Leaders," they are play grounds full of junk—no fancy swings, see-saws, slides, or "boughten" things—but piles of bricks, plenty of loose boards, large sewer pipes for rolling around, lots of wooden boxes for building mounds for digging caves, trowels, shovels, and old junked autos. These challenge and exercise children's creative energies. Effectiveness in reducing delinquency has been amazing. Cost: zero.

Answer to Question 3.

Largely. One psychiatrist says at least 25,000 "mind-peddlers" are practicing in the nation. In most states anybody can hang out a shingle "Psychoanalyst," "Vocational Counselor or Marriage Counselor."

One sign reads "Colonic Irrigations and Psychoanalysis." Another, "Basic Technician." Whether a technician in earth-quakes, flying saucers, or hair-dos is not stated.

Uranium Fever

By Hal Boyle

HAL BOYLE

“I DON'T KNOW OF ANYONE today who is actively prospecting for gold,” said a resident. “But there are thousands who are looking for uranium.”

City dwellers spend their weekends seeking the clicking hidden wealth. Tourists arrive with geiger counters in their suitcases, hoping to find a fortune on their vacations.

This is the favorite local gag: “The quickest way to make money is to buy a piece of uranium and go out and find all the geiger counters the prospectors have lost.”

However, you don't have to go out in the hills yourself to hope for a profit from the uranium rush. Some automobile dealers are offering 4000 free shares of uranium stock with each car sale.

ALL A LAZY MAN has to do is buy a new car—and wait for his uranium dividends to roll in. So far it has been a long wait. Uranium has turned out to be as scarce as—well, as scarce as uranium.

But even private pilots have installed special equipment in their planes so they can look for the precious metal while on routine business flights.

The Apache Indians, hitherto so jealous of any encroachment that they have forbidden overnight camping on their sprawling 460,536-acre reservation, opened it to uranium prospecting last week for the first time.

Prospectors for a fee of $200 each can search up to six months on the reservation and lease 20 acres of any area in which they discover ore.

“A survey by the Atomic Energy Commission showed two likely uranium deposit sites on the reservation,” said Wendell Chino, president of the Tribal Business Committee and distant kinsman of Geronimo, the last great Apache war chief.

THE APACHES ARE NATURALLY hopeful that uranium will make them as wealthy as oil did the Indians of Oklahoma. Their reservation borders the White Sands proving grounds.

But the Apaches, who have graduated from the stone age to the atomic era in half a century, are content to let the white man, who put them on their reservation, carry the burden of discovery.

“All we insist on are our rights,” said Chino, his eyes twinkling.

So the grave-faced Apaches patiently tend their cattle as the new impatient pale-faced Coronados toil over mesa and mountain in quest of the pale gold of a new age.

The Indians figure that, no matter how the uranium boom turns out, they can't lose. It's a comfortable feeling for them. They haven't enjoyed anything so much since the buffalo days.

The Aggressive Type

By Paul Popenoe

NO HUSBAND really wants to marry a doormat, but there is a good deal of intermediate ground between complete dependence and the bossy type of woman who is a part of the stock and trade of the cartoonists and jokesmiths. I am afraid Mrs. McK. isn't looking for this intermediate ground.

“I have a few ideas of my own but my husband seems to resent every one of them,” she informs me. “He wouldn't be satisfied unless I were a mere echo of himself. I couldn't make myself into such a mindless nonentity even if I tried. There is no hope in a marriage to him. I have made an effort for two years to please him, and now I am through.”

I have heard this story a good many times. Mrs. McK. People who have no wills of their own are a complete loss to the world as well as to themselves. It's not the possession of a certain amount of dominance or aggressiveness but the way in which those traits are handled that tells the story.

PSYCHOLOGIST Truman L. Kelley has been making a new study on this point with a very detailed and comprehensive test which we have given to some of the couples who come to the American Institute of Family Relations.

Results have not yet been published, but Dr. Kelley finds that a good marriage is most likely when husband and wife are both somewhat dominant. The important thing is that they remember to stand together as a team and turn this dominance toward the problems of the outside world instead of turning it against each other.

For that reason, also, the people who have been active in organizations, societies and clubs in which they have learned to do teamwork before marriage are the ones who succeed most easily in marriage.

Teamwork in marriage is just one such form of co-operation in general. The lone wolf, the prima donna who can't associate with others as an equal but must always be “it” or refuse to play, is the one most unpopular, both in marriage and out of it. That is one reason why I am continually emphasizing the need of teamwork in the family as a training for children. It not only makes family life smoother but is the foundation of future good citizenship and good marriage and parenthood.

IF YOU HAVEN'T learned this in the past and are now too bossy for your own good, as I suspect that Mrs. McK. is, you will have to learn how to handle your aggressiveness. Find some evil outside of your home to fight. There are plenty of them. Get into some program that represents a “cause” which you think important. Go after the enemy tooth and nail. Then sit down at home with your husband and plan calmly on the handling of details of the budget, the household management, the in-laws, and other topics on which it is easy to disagree without such planning.

If you really mean business you will find yourself living more successfully both in the home and out of it.

A Faithful Guide for Young Women

Miss Claudia Lide Is Retiring as Executive Secretary of the Y.W.C.A. Here

By Mary Kimbrough

AROUND the big brick headquarters of the Young Women's Christian Association at 1411 Locust street, folks still remember the one time Claudia Lide banged her fist on the table. Even then she wasn't mad. She just wanted to emphasize a point.

When Miss Lide banged her fist, it echoed around the building because this brown-eyed, gently-speaking woman, is about as far from the first-banging, haranguing kind of executive as you could imagine. She has never been known to raise her voice or lose her temper and she often has to ask people around her what certain slang terms mean.

With the exception of about 9 years, she has lived in St. Louis since around the turn of the century when her father brought his family here from Marion, Ala. Yet, all those years in the middle west haven't robbed her of her southern accent any more than a lifetime spent in today's frantic world has robbed her of her idealism. She doesn't expect to lose either.

She's an optimistic and idealistic at this end of the road as she was at its beginning 34 years ago when she gave up teaching school to join the staff of the Y.W.C.A. because she saw in the organization a chance to work for a better world. She served from 1921 to 1929 in New Orleans, and since then has been in St. Louis.

THIS year, her career with the association comes to a close as she retires as executive secretary of the Metropolitan St. Louis Y.W.C.A. In honor of her service, the board and staff will entertain at a reception from 4 to 6 p.m. today, at the home of Mrs. Thomas M. Sayman, 5399 Lindell boulevard, and present and former members and staff will honor her at luncheon Monday noon at the Central branch.

“Yes, I'm an idealist,” she said. “I am convinced that we have to have idealism in this world. That doesn't mean we have to be up in the clouds. Realism and idealism aren't too far apart.”

“Our world has changed a great deal, of course, but it seems to me that ever since the end of the '30s, I have noticed a trend on the part of thoughtful people toward the conviction that we must get back to the right motivation. That's why I feel there is reason for optimism and hope.”

Miss Lide's association with the Y.W.C.A. began as a student at Washington University where she prepared to teach French and history. After graduation, she taught in the Overland and Clayton schools, then spent more than a year with the Red Cross in France. As she saw more and more of the ugliness and heartbreak of war, she made up her mind to help fight for peace.

MISS CLAUDIA LIDE IS RETIRING AFTER 34 YEARS WITH THE Y.W.C.A.

When she returned to St. Louis, she taught only a short time before giving up her job to join the staff of the Y.W.C.A. in New Orleans as employment and education secretary.

NINE years later she came back home as employment secretary of the St. Louis Y.W.C.A. She was named to her present post as executive director of the Metropolitan “Y” in 1937.

“I felt that I had found in the Y.W.C.A. a channel of work for peace and a better world,” she said.

Then she smiled. “But again mixing my idealism and realism, I saw in it also my bread and butter. I was interested in both.”

In her career with the association, Miss Lide has watched women develop from shy, unsure first-voters to first-class citizens, taking an ever-increasing role in public affairs. When she went to New Orleans, women had just won the vote and her work was to encourage them as they walked into the world of business.

But she saw that parade from home to office strike a tragic snag in the depression. Accepting her new job as employment secretary of the St. Louis Y.W.C.A. in 1930, she arrived in her new office the first day to find a whole roomful of girls, all looking for jobs.

She immediately launched into a two-fold program of job-hunting and training. One story illustrates how well she got across the idea that good grooming was essential for a job applicant. She had sent a girl to a large firm but even though the girl had to wait some time for an interview, she refused to sit down.

“If I stand up, I won't wrinkle my skirt,” she explained.

She got the job, thanks to the good impression she made and today is a valued employee of the firm.

AS the years went on and the depression became less serious, Miss Lide began to emphasize vocational counseling. Then, with the beginning of the war, she worked out programs for defense workers.

“The Y.W.C.A. was meeting each new situation as it arose and tailoring our programs to meet the specific needs of women and girls. We must continue to keep step with the times.”

“The role of a woman today is no different from that of a man. Both must take active roles as citizens.”

Having watched young people in their club work at the Y.W.C.A., Miss Lide has no doubts in her mind about tomorrow's adult citizens.

“I like the forthrightness, the naturalness, of today's young people. And yet I think that for all their bravado and their poise, they suffer a great deal from timidity and from an innate loneliness and shyness.

“They are more free, of course, and that is good. But it seems to me they haven't changed much. They are as fine and as thoughtful as they were a generation ago.”

Miss Lide herself, slim and petite, couples in her own heart a nostalgia with admiration for the freedom and frankness of the mid-century.

“Sometimes,” she smiled, “I think maybe I belong back in the '90's, but I wouldn't want to have missed the progress we have made. I am not one of those who thinks the past is so perfect. Perhaps we have lost some of our social graces, but we have developed a social conscience.”

POISED and feminine, Miss Lide does indeed seem to be a little echo of the Victorian era transplanted into the 20th century. Reared by a Methodist mother and a Baptist father, she is a devoutly religious person, but without a whisper of saccharine piety. When she isn't at her desk or attending one of the many community meetings at which she must represent the association, she usually is in her apartment at 5911 McPherson avenue, reading, thoughtful and serious works. She cares nothing for modern novels, seldom sees a movie and doesn't own a television set. She does, however, enjoy a brisk game of bridge and often, with a twinkle in her eye, refers to her prowess as a croquet player.

Always neatly and modestly dressed, usually in dark colors and conservative fashions, she wears her hair in the same style she adopted more than 30 years ago and therein lies a key to her personality.

“I can't stand to be conspicuous,” she said. “Years ago, I wore my hair in a Psyche knot on top of my head and my friends kept telling me they didn't like it. So they advised me to fix it this way and since then no one has told me it doesn't look all right, so I've never changed.”

“Besides, there are things in this world far more important to worry about than how to wear my hair.”

Now sprinkled with gray, her hair is parted in the center and drawn softly into a knot. But even though she's among the few women whose hair has never been bobbed she gives no impression of being old-fashioned or out of step with the world. She's no ivory tower idealist longing for the good day of yesterday.

“She may not know the latest slang—and she certainly never makes a wisecrack—but that doesn't mean she hasn't kept up with the world,” said one of the Y.W. board members.

“I think the one thing that shocks me about Claudia Lide is that she's so unshockable.”

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

NO ONE has yet discovered a safe, logical method of reaching slams with hands that contain a very modest number of high-card points, but which fit like the proverbial glove. Of course, there have been innumerable suggestions about how this could be done via new “systems,” but the trouble is that a partnership would lose out on a hundred run-of-the-mill hands by using these methods, while cashing in on the exceptional case.

Let's look at a deal that baffled the best bridge minds of New York's most famous bridge club:

North, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

5. Pyramid lake is in which state?
6. Is Lake Eyre in Australia, Ireland or New Zealand?
7. Lake Tahoe is in which two states?
8. Lake Erie washes Ontario and four states in this country. Can you name three of them?

ANSWERS

1. New York.
2. Nicaragua.
3. Switzerland.
4. Florida.
5. Nevada.
6. Australia.
7. California and Nevada.
8. New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan.

Creamy Peach Salad

Ingredients: Four large fresh peaches, citrus juice, salad greens, eight ounces creamstyle cottage cheese, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon prepared mustard, two tablespoons red wine vinegar, six tablespoons olive oil.

Method: Peel, halve and pit peaches. Dip in citrus juice. Arrange on salad greens. Fill peach cavities with cottage cheese. Beat salt, mustard, vinegar and olive oil together. Serve with salad. Makes four servings.

Note: If sour cream is available it may be used on this salad instead of the dressing given. Mix one-half cup of the cream with one-half cup mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type salad dressing; stir in a dash of paprika.

Secrets of Charm

Finding a New World

START ON A TRIP WITH A LIGHT HEART... SHARE YOUR PLEASURE.

VACATION'S the time for reaching out beyond your everyday self, for finding a world that's wider than it ever was before.

Don't be like the old lady from Wichita who loved Paris because she saw so many people there from Wichita. New places, new faces—there's so much waiting for you if you have the eyes to see it and the interest and understanding to be enriched by new experience.

Charm is a radiance that comes from the inner self, travels in new territories and can contribute to the glow. The new territory needn't be remote. It need only be different enough from a work-a-day life to help you to see farther beyond yourself, and thus become more understanding of others.

START ON A trip with a light heart and a decision, first of all, to share your pleasure. This should include the simplest things, such as being undemanding in spite of difficulties, so you cause no one else discomfort. Accept right space and service and ask for no more.

Travel light to avoid extra trouble, and this is easier all the time to do, especially with the wonderfully light new magnesium luggage.

AND BE APPRECIATIVE of what's done for you. Much will be, and a thank you is never out of place, even when it's for less than is deserved. If it is, it inspires the giving of more than is called for. In every detail, a vacation can be a rewarding quest for charm, and a new exploration of charm's power.

You can achieve an appealing voice—a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading Your Most Attractive Voice, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome weariness and dullness. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of the Post-Dispatch, Inc., 10c in coin, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

Raw and Cooked Salad Combine cooked and raw vegetables in a salad for taste and texture contrast. Use crisp celery or cucumber, for instance, with cooked beets, peas, snap beans or asparagus cuts.

Variety of June Travel For St. Louis Families

By Margaret Allen Ruhl

MR. AND MRS. ADALBERT VON GONTARD of Huntleigh Village are in Los Angeles on the first lap of an airplane trip around the world which will keep them away from St. Louis for several months. They will fly to Hong Kong by way of Guam and Manila, and will visit in Bangkok and a point in India on their way to Cairo, Egypt.

In Germany they will visit relatives, including Mrs. von Gontard's mother, the Baroness von Schilling, in Hohenwetttersbach. In Switzerland they will be guests of Mr. von Gontard's mother, Mrs. Adrian Lengme, who spends half of her time at her attractive apartment in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Clinton Sherrill, 17 Southmoor, Clayton, will leave St. Louis June 30, Honolulu bound. They will sail from San Francisco July 1 aboard the Lurline and will spend a month at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel. The return trip will be made by plane.

Class reunions and graduations are sending numerous St. Louisans east. Mrs. Edward G. Bischoff, 23 Brentmoor, Clayton, and her son, Edward G. Jr., will depart today for Centenary College, Hackettstown, N.J., to attend the eightieth commencement Saturday morning at which her daughter, Miss Marion, will receive her degree. With 199 seniors, the 1955 class is the largest in the school's history.

Other St. Louisans to be graduated are Miss Judith Einstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Major Einstein of the Oxford Apartments, 320 Union boulevard, and Miss Elizabeth Ann Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Schneider, 19 Brookside, Ladue.

The Bischoffs' son, Edward Jr., was graduated last night from St. Louis Country Day School.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Brandon, 8 Willow Hill road, Ladue, are on their way to his class reunion at Princeton University. Mrs. Brandon will continue to Vassar College to meet her daughter, Miss Elizabeth, a debutante, who has completed her sophomore year. They will rejoin Mr. Brandon and return with him next week.

St. Louis Girls to Be Graduated From Vassar.

TWO St. Louis young women, both former debutantes, will receive degrees Monday at Vassar College commencement exercises. They are Miss Eric Talbot Lund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Y. Lund of 16 Picardy lane, Ladue, and New York, and Miss Kathryn Fehr Wedemeyer, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley W. Wedemeyer, live at 33 Clermont lane, Ladue.

Mr. and Mrs. Wedemeyer departed a week ago for the East to spend some time on Cape Cod and then to go to Boston, where he is attending his twenty-fifth reunion at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. They will be in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., tomorrow for their daughter's graduation. She will return to St. Louis with them for a short visit and will sail early in July to spend the remainder of the summer in Europe with a group of young women.

Mr. and Mrs. Lund, who have been staying in New York, also will be in Poughkeepsie. The Lunds will present their second daughter, Miss Sarah Brandon Lund, to society during the 1955-56 season.

Pre-Wedding Parties for Miss Geraghty.

MISS MARY ANNE GERAGHTY is being honored at many parties before her marriage Saturday, June 18, to First Lt. Wayne Faessler Aich. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Geraghty, 4458 Kinswood lane, St. Louis county, who will give a breakfast at Missouri Athletic Club after the 10 o'clock ceremony at St. Francis of Assisi Church, Oakville.

Lt. Aich's aunt, Mrs. Lessing Aich, 9 Ridgemoor drive, Claverack Park, will be hostess Sunday at a tea for Miss Geraghty, and next Tuesday Miss Claire Donnelly will give a spinster dinner at Busch's Grove. The rehearsal dinner Wednesday will be given by the prospective bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Aich, 8104 Stratford avenue, University City. Miss Carol Byrne gave a luncheon in the Gourmet room of the Park Plaza Hotel Wednesday, and last Sunday Harry Bussman was host at a cocktail supper at his home, 2 Terryhill lane, Ladue.

Others who have given parties for Miss Geraghty and her fiancé include the following: Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Ahner Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mulligan, her uncles and aunts, a dinner dance at Missouri Athletic Club; the parents of the bridegroom-elect, a cocktail party; Miss Janet Breece, a linen shower; Miss Margaret Dussard, a lingerie shower; Mrs. Andrew Jules Bourdet, an aunt of the bride-to-be, a tea at her home, Larimore road, St. Louis county, and Mrs. John Rabeneau and Mrs. Eugene M. Darst a luncheon at the Rabeneau home, 6324 Westminster place.

Miss Dodge Married at Church Ceremony.

MISS MARY LAVINA DODGE, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Carroll W. Dodge, 703 Harvard avenue, University City, was married yesterday afternoon to Darrell Arlen Van Citters, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Van Citters of Sault Sainte Marie, Mich. The wedding took place at 4 o'clock at First Congregational Church, Wydown boulevard and University lane, with the Rev. Dr. Paul Simpson McElroy officiating.

The bride's sister, Mrs. W. Dale Hooper of New Britain, Conn., served as matron of honor. Best man was Marvin Parker of Joplin, Mo., and ushers were James Wittmer of Houghton, Mich., and Dr. Hooper. Music was supplied by Howard Kelsey, Washington University organist, and Herbert Van den Burg, violinist of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra. The bride has studied music with Mr. Van den Burg for several years. Her father is professor of botany at Washington University.

The newly-married pair will spend the summer in Michigan. Having been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force R.O.T.C. at the time of his graduation, Mr. Van Citters expects to enter the service shortly.

Presenting Ladue Garden Club Donation

DR. EDGAR ANDERSON, DIRECTOR OF MISSOURI BOTANICAL GARDENS, RECEIVING FROM MRS. WILLIAM WARREN KIRKBRIDE, PRESIDENT OF LADUE GARDEN CLUB, A CHECK FOR $450, HALF OF THE PROCEEDS OF THE CLUB'S PLANT SALE, TO BE USED IN THE RESTORATION OF THE OLD MUSEUM BUILDING AT THE GARDEN. FROM LEFT: MRS. GORDON THOMAS, MRS. KIRKBRIDE, MRS. HARRY HOFFMAN, MRS. WILLIAM T. KIEFFER AND DR. ANDERSON. PRESENTATION OF THE MONEY (THE OTHER HALF GOES TO THE PLANTING OF DOGWOOD IN LADUE) WAS MADE AT THE CLUB'S ANNUAL MEETING WEDNESDAY AT THE HOME OF MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM B. ITTNER JR., 5 FIELDING ROAD, LADUE.

Almira Baldwin To Be Presented At Party Today

THE first of the new debutantes to be presented is Miss Almira Steedman Baldwin, whose first coming-out party is a reception from 5 until 7 o'clock today. Miss Baldwin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baldwin, 34 Westmoreland place, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Steedman and the late Mr. and Mrs. L. Warrington Baldwin. Today she will be introduced to her parents' and grandparents' friends at home and at Christmas her contemporaries will be invited to her second party, a dance.

Miss Baldwin will wear a light blue linen dress simply designed with short sleeves and a full skirt worn over petticoats. Her flowers will be white orchids. Her mother will be in white glazed chintz embroidered in pink. Tiny orchids will form her corsage.

Yellow roses will adorn the tea table in the dining room and pink linen cloths will cover the small tables which will be centered with green-wreathed hurricane lamps holding dubonnet candles.

Today's debutante, who has completed her freshman year at Briarcliff Junior College, Briarcliff Manor, N.Y., was graduated from The Masters School, Dobbs Ferry, N.Y.

She is the sister of Miss Marye Dodge Baldwin, who served as a special maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet ball in 1953, and of Richard Baldwin Jr. and Edwin S. Baldwin.

The Baldwin family will leave early in July to occupy their summer home in Wequetonsing, Mich., until September.

Miss Virginia McConnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. McConnell, 6038 Pershing avenue, and Miss Maribeth McNamara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Z. McNamara, 6138 Waterman avenue, departed by plane Monday for New York. They will sail aboard the Castel Felice for three months abroad and will tour the continent, England and Scotland before returning home.

Miss Charlotte Busse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Busse, 4905 Buckingham Court, was graduated magna cum laude last Tuesday from Bryn Mawr College with a major in English. An alumna of Roosevelt High School, Miss Busse, has been awarded a scholarship to the graduate school of Yale University where she will work toward her master's degree in teaching. Mr. and Mrs. Busse, who attended their daughter's commencement exercises at Bryn Mawr, returned to St. Louis Saturday.

Martha Carr's OPINION—

Today's column is devoted to teen-agers who are invited to submit their problems to Martha Carr.

Dear Martha:

JUST before Christmas last year I went with a boy only for about a week. Before knowing him I was very fickle and whenever I broke up with a boy I could forget him easily. After this particular boy broke with me, giving me no reason, I just couldn't get interested in anyone else. Six weeks ago I thought I liked another boy and agreed to go steady with him. Then this weekend I saw the first boy again and knew I had never stopped liking him. He is going steady now and I don't know what to do. BEWILDERED.

Just stop and think.

What can you do? You can't come between him and his girl and you can't hurt the boy you're going steady with. If you think you don't care much about him, why tie yourself to him and go steady just because it seems to be the thing to do? But play fair. If you want to date other boys, tell this one you'd rather not go steady. Don't promise to give him all your dates, then make him unhappy by brooding over others.

Dear Martha:

ALL THE BOYS in our room like me but I don't like them. I do like a boy in another room but he doesn't pay any attention to me. How can I make him like me? PUZZLED.

You really have yourself quite a problem there, haven't you? It's tough that with your pick of the boys in your own classroom you have to like someone who doesn't pay any attention. I'm sorry that I can't prescribe a formula for getting his attention but I think you'd be smart if you were friendly and pleasant to the boys in your own room.

IN ANSWER TO Eleanor: I believe you will always regret it if you don't take your parents' advice and go on to college. As your fiancé is in the service, stationed overseas, you can't plan to be married for some time, so be grateful for an opportunity to continue your education.

Send today for Martha Carr's free leaflets for teen-agers, "Popularity for Girls," "Masculine Popularity" and "E for Etiquette." Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

'Roughing It'

By Ruth Millett

WHEN the man of the family starts talking about the family's "roughing it" on their vacation this year the lady of the house usually shudders delicately. Not because she isn't as appreciative of the beauty of the great outdoors as is her man. Or because she doesn't get just as big a thrill out of landing a bass as any member of the family.

Nope, she shudders for just one reason. When the rest of the family talk blithely of "roughing it" Mom knows that she will be the one who has to rough. She'll have to put the house in order after the family has torn it apart looking for odd pieces of camping equipment and clothes stored away for years.

She'll have to listen while Dad fumes and frets because there is three times as much camping paraphernalia as will fit into the trunk of the car. And once the camping site has been reached it is Mom who will be cooking the fish—no matter who caught them. It is Mom who will be struggling to heat water in which to wash dishes. Mom who will have to improvise some way of washing the family's clothes.

It is Mom who will have to keep a supply of food on hand to meet the terrific appetites of a family happily roughing it in the woods.

It is Mom who will have to watch after the youngest child while Pop is out catching more fish for her to fry.

There is only one good thing about a vacation in the wilds for the average wife and Mother. And that is getting home to her washing machine, her beautiful kitchen range and water that comes out of a faucet, either hot or cold.

Beauty After 40

By Edyth Thornton McLeod

"I AM 45, size 16, a career woman. Would it be proper to wear a pale blue linen dress, street length, round neck, short cap sleeves, at my son's July wedding? It is taking place at 4 o'clock. I am a graying blonde. Will you be kind enough to suggest accessories?—Dora J."

The dress is both smart and suitable. I suggest white accessories but if at all possible have matching blue kid sandals.

"MY DAUGHTER is to be married in August at a large wedding. Her bridal gown is formal and magnificent. I am to be her honor attendant. What should I wear? My hair is white, I am 42, tall and thin. The wedding colors are pink and orchid.—Mrs. K. L."

I suggest that you wear an orchid lace dress with a matching lace coat or a very elegant stole of lace. Your hat should be in orchid with a touch of pink to match long pink gloves. Your sandals should be orchid kid and if you want a sophisticated touch, you should have your white hair dramatized with an orchid tint. Your bouquet could be pink roses or orchids.

"I AM 43. I plan to make a dark gray suit. I am 5 feet tall and weigh 116 pounds. There are two jacket-lengths with my pattern; hip-length and three-quarter. Which jacket length is best for me? And what color blouse should I choose? Also what other accessories? My hair is brown.—Mrs. F.G.L."

The shorter jacket should be the more flattering. In summer dark gray looks smartest with crisp white blouses, white hat and gloves and bag should be in charcoal kid or patent leather. Dark gray is a good background color for bright accessories in the fall.

"I AM 52, tall, have gray hair. My skin is a little dull. I like yellow. Would a yellow linen dress be proper to wear to my club luncheon at a country estate?—Fanny M."

A linen dress, with smart accessories, would be perfect for your luncheon. Although you like yellow, I beg of you not to choose it for a dress. It is the least flattering color that a mature woman can wear. Pink would be lovely for you with either black or white accessories.

Exit Lincoln, Enter Brutus

By Phyllis Battelle

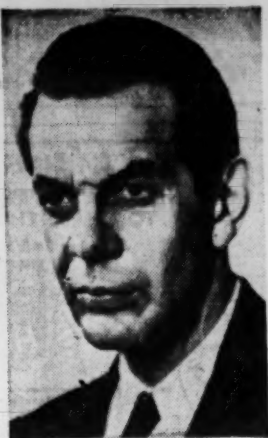

NEW YORK, June 10 (INS)—RAYMOND MASSEY of Broadway and Hollywood is eternally grateful to Abraham Lincoln of Illinois and Washington, D. C., for giving him a comfy living in the theater these last 17 years. But he can't honestly play the role of Honest Abe again.

Massey feels he has outgrown the White House and, in effect, passed Mr. Lincoln by. "What I mean is," he said, "casting about desperately for a place to deposit his legs. 'I am too old and too fat to play Lincoln any more. I am therefore switching, as any actor with a touch of brain does at some time or another, to Shakespeare.'"

SUCH AN ANNOUNCEMENT this, coming from a distinguished actor born in Canada and graduated from Oxford in the merrie olde Bard's country, does not come as a particular surprise, except to the actor himself.

"Some people have the impression," he says, "that I am an old hand at Shakespeare, but actually I've collided with the Bard only once in my life—23 years ago when I did 'Hamlet' on Broadway. Scared me to death then, scares me to death now. You don't ad lib Shakespeare, you know. You have to be good. You have to have a memory like a well—a Shakespearean actor."

When he played "Hamlet" in

RAYMOND MASSEY... "TOO OLD AND TOO FAT TO PLAY LINCOLN."

1930, Massey found it the hardest work he had done before, and possibly since, and was rewarded "by five good, two indifferent and two bad reviews from the critics. There was also an ambiguous mention," he remembers with a laugh (a Massey laugh is rather like that of a vocally-coached hyena, and is infectious within a 100-yard radius). "It was written by a man named Robert Benchley.

Massey's upcoming Shakespearean assignment will take place at the launching next month of America's first all-Shakespeare theater in Stratford, Conn., a big cultural project which the actor believes is long overdue.

AND AS FOR THE people who go to Stratford, Conn., to see the prospective annual "American Shakespeare Festival" opening July 12 and continuing for eight weeks in its first season—Massey foresees their loving the experience.

"The Bard knew a darn sight more about the theater than almost anyone alive today and for entertainment he just couldn't go wrong. If he were alive now, he'd still be the biggest money-making playwright in the business."

At the beautiful new Shakespearean theater, located less than two hours drive from New York City, Massey will alternate between two roles: Brutus in "Julius Caesar," and Prospero in "The Tempest."

"Golly, the lines are wonderful," he says, "and there is one that sums up what we talked about earlier—why I can no longer play Abraham Lincoln, much as I loved the roles. I am now 59 years old, and 190 pounds around, and Prospero sums up the whole thing for me most poetically—when he soliloquizes, 'Be not disturb'd with my infirmity.' For, with Shakespeare in my future, I am not."

The Little Woman

Morale Builders for 'Chubbies'

By Clarissa Start

FROM the cradle to the grave, what is woman's greatest problem? Not how to get a man. Not how to win fame and fortune, acquire a working philosophy, or achieve peace of mind. Woman's most nagging problem is her figure or lack thereof.

Her weight, whether too much or too little. Her diet, the one she needs. Not only woman, but man and girl, because the only person who feels more unhappy than a woman who's self-conscious about her weight is a little girl who thinks she's too fat.

The sty manufacturers who've catered to the tall and thin, the size five to nine (who gets scant sympathy from us), and the mature and hefty, have finally gotten around to the six to 15-year-old classified as a "chubby."

Lane Bryant stores throughout the country which long have had the upholstered adults in mind, have installed chubby departments and organized chubby clubs.

PRETTY Jean Robb (no chubby, she) who organizes clubs and edits a magazine for 150,000 chubby readers stopped by the other day to tell us of her readers. There are 20,000 chubbies in St. Louis, she explained, "some girls who haven't lost their baby fat and some who will always be chubby."

One thing all chubbies have in common, she says, is the feeling that they're the only ones in the world who are chubby. To build up their morale, the chubby club magazine sponsors pen pals, encourages club members to work on projects, hold dancing classes, meetings, style shows. Right now, chubby clubs are raising funds for CARE on a nationwide scale. In many cases, they do this through cake sales which serve a dual purpose in making money and removing temptation from their immediate vicinity.

One chubby club in Oregon put on a talent show and made May baskets for an orphan's home. One in Cleveland is holding a 10-week series of lectures on charm. Many of the clubs have their own chapter names, such as the Perry Como Chubby Club Chapter of Des Moines and the Sunflower Chubby Club of El Paso, Texas.

Naturally, the chubby club editor interests her readers in the right clothes, made by her firm. Chubbies, like other girls, want clothes that look like those everyone else is wearing. They're likely to run into hat trouble, especially, as they have large size heads and may have to buy a hat too mature for their years. But besides clothes, editor Robb also puts out a leaflet on good grooming which stresses cleanliness, posture (pretend you're the Duchess of Windsor) and diet.

NOT long ago she ran into a complaint that would not plague most editors. She printed a recipe for fudge as filler in her publication only to receive irate letters from readers asking, "Is it fair? Aren't we fat enough already?" Editor Robb hastily apologized to her readers but pointed out that she hadn't been completely inconsiderate. Underneath the fudge recipe she had printed a waist slimming exercise.

Comments on Nehru's Visit To Moscow

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK.

THE unusual reception accorded Indian Prime Minister Nehru in Moscow this week would indicate that the people of the Soviet Union welcome any sign of friendship. They feel that Nehru has shown in all his acts a desire for peace, and, whether their own government realizes it or not, it is a lonely situation for people to feel that they are isolated from the rest of the world. A gesture of friendliness must certainly give them great satisfaction. It is rather sad that we have had to put so much emphasis on our military strength in order to deal with the Soviet government. It was inevitable of course, and perhaps the present conciliatory attitude of the Soviet government may be largely due to this policy of building military strength.

NEVERTHELESS, among the people it must have created a feeling that we might become aggressors no matter how much we tried to reassure them by reiterating the fact that we are a peace-loving people.

Obviously, we are, and we in America know it, but when you have great power it is quite natural for people to be a little suspicious as to how you may use it. I fear that this has made it possible for the Soviet government, or at any rate, its people to picture us as wanting to bring about war in the world. This demonstration for Nehru may be their way of making us understand that as a people anyway, they do not want war no matter what their government may be scheming.

THE CRISIS with the Ford Motor Co. being over, now everybody is waiting to find out whether the General Motors Corp. and the United Automobile Workers union also will be able to come to an agreement for a strike in G.M. plants would be disastrous as a Ford strike, or perhaps more so.

Unexpected Entertainment

By Betty Beale

WASHINGTON, June 10. CAPITAL VIPS "bruise easy," but they "heal quick." They have to or they couldn't stand the gaff.

Quick on the heels of the indignities Perle Mesta endured as "fall girl" at the Saints and Sinners Club luncheon, came a party peppy enough to heal anything. It was a farewell dinner given by intimate friends in her honor with unexpected entertainment you couldn't buy.

United States Representative Katharine St. George, Tuxedo socialite, burst into "C'est Magnifique" and "I Love Paris in the Springtime," in a sultry voice nobody knew she had.

Chinese Ambassador, petite Mme. Koo, dripping in jade and sheathed in cloth of silver, did a hula with Asiatic suppleness. Quiet acting Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim floored everybody by getting up and doing a solo dance. But the piece de resistance of the entire evening was a rumba staged by Peruvian Ambassador Fernando Berckmeyer and Mme. Koo, who held her narrow Chinese dress even tighter while she copied his every Latin gesture with a half smile on her inscrutable Oriental face. Believe me, when East meets West, it's best.

EVEN the Chinese Ambassador, noted for his taciturnity, spoke up at dinner. He offered the bon voyage toast to Mrs. Mesta, who explained next day for a globe-circling trip with secretary, maid, typewriter and four cameras. Perle says she will take the $20,000 she made last year on lectures and TV appearances and set up a scholarship for a student in every country she visits. She now has her own TV agent.

ACROSS THE TOWN: Now that young Senator Jack Kennedy has recuperated from his long illness and he and his attractive wife, Jackie, have bought a beautiful new home here, localities are hoping they will be more active in the social life of the Capital.

Moderately Cool Weekend Likely

St. Louisans can expect a moderately cool weekend, with the probability of rain ending by noon tomorrow, according to Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren's prediction today. The high temperature yesterday, 77 at 3:15 p.m., was well below the 99 recorded two years ago as the record for this date.

Corn Pancakes
Mix a one-pound can of cream-style corn with a slightly beaten egg, a couple of tablespoons each of milk and melted butter or margarine. Add a dash of salt and freshly-ground pepper. Now stir in a cup of pancake mix and bake like regular pancakes on a griddle. Serve with crisp bacon and maple syrup. And don't forget the big cups of coffee!

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

IRAQ (also spelled Irak) is a kingdom in southwestern Asia. It touches Iran (or Persia) on the eastern side, and Syria on the west. Arabia lies to the south, and Turkey is on the northern border.

Q. How big is Iraq?
A. Recent, revised figures show that the area is greater than that of California. The population, according to late figures, has gone beyond 8,000,000.

Q. What is the capital city?
A. Baghdad. In past years it was the custom to spell the name without the "h," but this custom has been changed.

Baghdad was founded long ago, and was a center of population before the Arabs entered the region. The city which the Arabs founded dates back almost 12 centuries.

The fame of Baghdad has been spread by the tales of the "Arabian Nights." Many of those stories were supposed to have been based on events in and around the city.

Q. Do the people of Iraq belong to the white race?
A. Most of them are of Arab stock, and so far as they are pure-blooded Arabs, they are white. The brownish skins of many Arabs may be traced to two things: tanning caused by sunshine and (in some places) mixtures with Negroes.

Q. Is Iraq a desert country?
A. Some parts are desert wastes, but other parts have irrigation. The higher portions of Iraq have fairly good rainfall.

Q. Are dates an important crop?
A. Yes, the people of Iraq gather large amounts of dates. Chiefly in the irrigated sections, there are date palms in vast number.

A custom which we can hardly approve is treading the dates with bare feet. After placing them in a sack, a native will step inside the sack and press them down with his feet!
